BRITISH TROOPS FIND ICELAND A DESOLATE PLACE

Tribune Man Tells of Army Life.

[This is the third and last of a series of articles by Mr. Murchie on Iceland. He tells of the problems and conditions which confronted the British forces after they occupied the North Atlantic island in May, 1940. The same problems now face American forces there.]

BY GUY MURCHIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, June 12 [By Air Mail]—Here in Iceland, Britain's outpost in the battle of the Atlantic, soldiers have found life altogether different from anything they have experienced before.

Officers and men are housed in the army's easily transported Nissen huts, which are cylindrical structures made of corrugated iron and insulating material, measuring 36 feet long by 16 feet in diameter. These simple dwellings look like tin cans against a distant mountainside, but are warm and comfortable. Each has 46 square feet of floor space to a man, extra room for washing facilities, and stoves at both ends. Erection of thousands of these huts together with transporting materials, digging fortifications, and providing communications, was the British army's most important problem during the first year of occupation.

Winter Unpleasant.

The winter was very unpleasant for the troops, especially in far northern posts, because of the long dark mornings and evenings when little could be done outdoors. It was dreary shaving, washing, and cooking with melted snow and trying to read or write letters by kerosene lamp or candlelight. With the crude roads usually blocked by snow or mud, isolation was complete.

An idea of the complexity of organization required in establishing an army in a new country can be had from seeing a British mobile steam laundry such as I inspected on the outskirts of a town. This outfit consisted of nine large trailers, towed by nine three-ton trucks. When I saw it it was set up near one of the numerous Icelandic hot springs, which has a plentiful source of soft water already nearly at the boiling point. This mobile laundry was capable of handling the shirts, towels, socks, and underwear of 2,000 men a day.

Butter, Eggs Plentiful.

For an intimate view of the British forces in Iceland you need to eat and drink with the men at their messes, attend their dances and share the informality of discussing war news over a cup of tea in a hut. Officers and men have the feeling that not only the war, but life in general is forging ahead thru its most exciting chapter while they have been forgotten and left behind. They worry about their families when they hear of blitzes in England.

In the officers' mess I often shared a meal of bully beef, asparagus pills, bread, butter, cheese, and tea. The absence of fresh vegetables, except for occasional lettuce or other greenhouse produce, was more than made up for by abundant butter, cheese, and eggs.

When the officers here grow tired of their diet, which includes a high percentage of canned goods, they often send their batmen [soldiers who act as valets] out to the wharves to fish for them.

Find Little Entertainment.

The common soldiers find scant relief from their monotonous jobs of construction, office work, drilling, and keeping their equipment in order, except on dance night. But military discipline doe: not permit soldiers' parties very often, and the men seek other outlets. Some have amused themselves by hijacking Icelandic cows to get extra milk for nothing. This was outlawed as a very serious crime.

Movies are the most reliable of the soldier's few choices of entertainment here, but the theaters are always so crowded that one has to buy tickets far ahead to be sure of a seat. Football [English style] is popular in dry weather, and lectures afford an occasional distraction.

Altho the British are gradually winning the friendly respect of most Icelanders, the natives still enjoy laughing at the "invaders" for their bungling ways and such naive absurdities as choosing the polar bear as an emblem for an expedition to a volcanic land.

HOUSE REFUSES PLANT SEIZURE POWER TO F. D. R.

Votes 28 Draft Top in Hectic Session.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—After agreeing by a vote of 345 to 17 to defer from military conscription all men who had reached their 28th birthdays on July 1, the house today rejected by thumping majorities on two record roll call votes a proposal to give President Roosevelt authority to seize arms factories where strikes are hampering production.

Representative Cole.

The most turbulent session of the year preceded the balloting on the bill containing the 28 year age limit for draftees and the plant seizure proposal.

As the measure was returned to the senate, it contained only the provision which, in effect, would restrict registration under the selective service act to men between the ages of 21 and 28. Since the senate agreed also to this provision, enactment of this portion of the law is assured.

Expect House to Stick.

Some argument between the two houses regarding the property seizure proposal is possible, but it is believed certain that the house will stick to its guns and force the senate to recede on the labor provisions it approved a month ago.

The senate is expected also to agree to an additional draft act amendment approved by the house. This would require the publication by local draft boards of a list of the names of men classified, how they have been classified, and a brief statement of the reasons for such classification.

Representative W. D. Cole, Jr. [D., Md.] told the house there have been hidden scandals in the deferment from training of many men and that the amendment would force the exposure of any favoritism in classification.

Decisive Votes Cast.

The two record votes on the labor provisions of the bill were cast on proposals to strike out two sections providing for Presidential seizure of arms factories. The actions were approved, 218 to 151, and 220 to 150.

The first section provided that any employer who refused to utilize "existing government conciliation and mediation facilities" could be penalized by the seizure of his plant. The second section provided that the President, if he found that stoppage of work at an arms plant was harmful to the preparedness production program, could use the army and navy to take over the plant and protect persons who wished to work there. This section also defined as "sabotage," punishable by a $5,000 fine and five years' imprisonment, any interference with would-be workers.

Charges CIO Intimidation.

Representative Howard W. Smith [D., Va.] provoked an uproar by charging that the two sections were eliminated because of intimidation by "goon squads of CIO members" who visited congressmen individually and

CONROY, EX-OFFICIAL OF SCALISE UNION IN N. Y., PLEADS GUILTY

New York, July 10 [Special].—Robert E. Conroy, 35 years old, former executive director of local 32-B of the Building Service Employés' International union, today pleaded guilty to extortion in General Sessions court.

This case marks another step in the cleanup begun in various building service unions after George Scalise, racketeer and former pander, was convicted of stealing union funds while president of the International union.

Conroy and three other union members were indicted last November, and at that time the district attorney's office said $22,000 had been extorted from 15 real estate operators between February, 1937, and December, 1939. Judge Jonah J. Goldstein continued Conroy's bail of $5,000, and fixed July 31 as the date for sentence.

500 FEET UP, HE CATCHES A RIDE!

Belleville, Ill., July 10 [Special].—A freak air accident gave a young army flying cadet a quick look at death this afternoon, then miraculously saved him.

The youth, Cadet Victor Woodrick, 23 years old, of Three Oaks, Mich., was thrown from an army training plane as it struck "bumpy" air over an airport here. He somersaulted thru the air and landed astride the plane's fuselage well back toward the tail assembly. Riding the fuselage like a cowboy, he was brought safely to earth by his instructor at the controls of the ship.

Woodrick was on a training flight from Curtiss Wright air field, army training base near St. Louis, where he is a student in the air corps training detachment at Parks Air college.

Flyers 500 Feet Up.

Piloting the ship was Instructor David Mattis, 26, of St. Louis, a veteran aviator. The plane was a two seated, open cockpit Fairchild PT19.

The flyers were at an altitude of 500 feet when the accident occurred as they were coming down to land at an auxiliary field near here.

Unbeknown to Woodrick, his safety belt had become unfastened and when the plane flew into a sudden down draft it literally dropped out from under the cadet, who was in the back cockpit. The plane fell faster than he did, leaving him in the air.

As he plunged downward, his body described a somersault and a half turn. The plane, dropping straight down, was directly under him when it apparently hit the bottom of the down draft.

Hangs on Grimly.

When the youth struck the tail he quickly forked his legs over either side of the fuselage just ahead of the rudder. With his back toward the cockpit, he dug his feet into the covering until his heels tore holes in it, hanging on grimly as he looked out into space.

When the plane came to a stop on the airport, Woodrick stepped off his precarious perch and took a look at his heel holes in the fabric. After a physical examination that showed he was unhurt, he went as usual to his ground crew classes

Billions Spent, U. S. Unarmed; British Troops 'Beg for Guns'

A Year's Record

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—After more than one year of rearmament activity the army remains ill equipped for fighting anywhere, a survey showed today.

The available record shows comparatively little progress in providing the army with weapons and other equipment. Actually, in some categories the army has less equipment than a year ago, reflecting the transfer of arms to Britain and her allies, now including Russia.

While some improvements have been made in types of weapons, most of the improvements are in the blueprint stage.

Twenty billion dollars out of the 43 billion dollars arms program are now allocated to equip the rapidly expanding army. Only 3.6 millions out of the 20 billions was actually spent on the army in the last fiscal year, the remainder representing contracts and mere recommendations. Additional billions are being asked by the White House.

Figures Tell the Story.

The slight progress within the last year is reflected in the following table, showing official figures on modern army equipment on Aug. 1, 1940, and the latest available information on present equipment, obtained privately from official sources:

Army equipment—	Aug. 1, 1940.	At present.
Rifles	49,124	190,000
Anti-tank guns	228	125
Machine guns	1,741	5,000
Anti-aircraft guns	530	500
Mortars	226	600
105 mm. howitzers	None	12
155 mm. guns	4	1
240 mm. howitzers	None	None
Tanks [light]	67	250
Tanks [medium]	18	2
Tanks [heavy]	None	None
Scout cars	525	750
Other motor vehicles	745	125,000
Modern combat planes	300	250

It must be borne in mind that last year's equipment was for an army of 519,000 men.

What Modern Army Needs.

Today the army approximates 1,400,000 men. An army of this size, according to the goal for equipment, should have at least 500,000 rifles, 9,200 medium tanks, 25,000 light tanks, 65,000 fighting planes, 130,000 airplane engines, 17,000 pieces of heavy artillery, 25,000 pieces of light artillery, 13,000 mortars, and 300,000 machine guns.

This indicates how far short of Soldiers Complain

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 10.—The cry of British fighting men for more arms with which to defend themselves was raised in parliament today by Artillery Captain James Henderson Stewart, a Liberal Nationalist member of the house of commons from Scotland. He charged that in the middle east "thousands upon thousands of British Tommies and Australians were left to die or fall into the hands of the Nazis because they were denied sufficient weapons."

Stewart backed up yesterday's charges by Lieut. R. A. Brabner, Conservative, that in Greece, Crete, Libya, Iraq, and Syria there had been "an almost chronic lack of the most important war materials."

Tells of Cries for Arms.

"I am giving away no military secrets," Stewart asserted, "when I say that the account given by Lieut. Brabner of the shortage of guns and tanks was absolutely true. Every morning cables from the middle east, crying for weapons of any and every kind were laid on my table.

"Every morning the casualty lists were placed beside them and as the grim drama gathered momentum their cry for arms pierced the hearts of every one of us whose duty it was to read those dread documents. One had a vision of those men, comrades whom we knew, lying out there, battered, bleeding, parched, and hungry, denied the arms with which to defend themselves."

Sir John Wardlaw Milne, chairman of the national expenditure secretary select committee, estimated that after 23 months of war, production of armaments still is only 75 per cent of maximum.

Pledges Big Berlin Raids.

Lieut. Col. J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon, minister of aircraft production, answered critics in the debate by promising in a few months raids upon Berlin which would make the worst Nazi attacks on London look like "child's play." He pledged the fullest use of American bombers.

Despite his optimism regarding the forthcoming raids, Moore-Brabazon said American supplies now arriving were no more than "what was ordered practically at the beginning of the war."

ARMY SEEKS AEF POWERS; U. S. BUILDING IRISH BASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.] introduced in the senate today a series of bills which would authorize the President to retain National Guardsmen, draftees, reservists, and other personnel in service indefinitely.

The bills also provide that the President might employ such personnel in "such manner and in such places, either within or beyond the limits of the western hemisphere, as he shall deem necessary in the interests of the national defense."

Senator Reynolds emphasized that he introduced the "expeditionary force" bills at the request of the war department in his capacity as chairman of the military affairs committee. Reynolds, a noninterventionist, intimated he would oppose the bills.

Surpass Marshall's Demands.

The bills are more sweeping in their terminology than the proposals made by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, in a recent report to Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

Existing legislation forbids the President to send National Guardsmen and draftees outside the western hemisphere, except to the possessions and territories of the United States.

One bill introduced by Senator Reynolds provides that "notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, the President is hereby authorized, during the unlimited national emergency proclaimed by him on May 27, 1941, to employ any and all members and units of the army of the United States and any and all reserve components thereof and retired personnel who are now and who may hereafter be in active military service . . . in such manner and in such places, either within or beyond the limits of the western hemisphere, as he shall deem necessary in the interests of defense."

Unlimited Army Provided.

Another of the war department bills authorizes the President to induct men for military training and service under the conscription act of Sept. 16, 1940, "without limitation, to serve for such period beyond 12 months as the President may deem necessary in the interests of national defense."

The existing law provides that not more than 900,000 shall be in service at one time and that they shall serve for not more than 12 months. The same bill also authorizes the President to extend the period of service of draftees now on duty "to such period of time as he may deem necessary in the interests of national defense."

Guardsmen Also Held Over.

A third war department bill authorizes the President to extend indefinitely beyond the 12 month limit of existing law the period of service of any or all members and units of the reserve components of the army and its retired personnel. This would embrace the National Guard units in federal service.

The same bill also extends, until six months after the termination of the President's proclamation, all enlistments, appointments and comissions of limited time or tenure now existing or which may hereafter exist in the army and all components thereof. This would include the men who enlisted in the regular army for three years of service.

Engineers Pose as 'Embassy Aids' to Direct Job.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—Multiplying indications that the Roosevelt administration is bent upon taking the country into a shooting war—not only with the navy, but with a vast expeditionary force — resulted today in stern senate protests and preparations for a senate investigation.

The principal events of the day included:

1. Revelation in senate debate that the United States government already is constructing a large naval air base in Northern Ireland. It was assumed that Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican Presidential nominee, had this fact in mind when he stated yesterday, after a conference with President Roosevelt, that the occupation of Iceland by American troops should be followed by the establishment of naval bases in Northern Ireland and Scotland.

Knox to Be Questioned.

2. The senate naval affairs committee voted unanimously to summon Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox for questioning tomorrow regarding published reports that the navy already has participated in shooting warfare. Knox will be questioned particularly about his statement yesterday that President Roosevelt has ordered the navy to shoot if necessary to clear German war craft from Atlantic ocean shipping lanes.

3. President Roosevelt submitted to congress a supplemental estimate for $4,770,065,000 for the army, to increase its strength from 1,425,000 to 1,725,000 men, and to provide additional equipment sufficient to supply a total force of 3,000,000 men, if such a force should be mobilized.

Reveal U. S. Base in Ireland.

Senators Robert A. Taft [R., O.] and John A. Danaher [R., Conn.] revealed in the senate war intervention debate that a naval air base is being constructed by the United States in Northern Ireland. They challenged denial of their statements and there was no answer from administration spokesmen.

Senator Danaher asserted in the senate that "American workmen by the hundreds have been constructing a naval base in Northern Ireland for weeks."

Senator Taft told the senate he was informed "on reliable authority" weeks ago that a base in Northern Ireland was being constructed by the navy. Both he and Danaher attributed great significance to Willkie's statement, after conferring with President Roosevelt yesterday, that such a base is needed, as well as one in Scotland.

Cost Set at 40 or 50 Millions.

Altho no further details were given in the senate debate, Senator Taft stated off the floor that the base is expected to cost between 40 million and 50 million dollars. Dozens of American engineers have been sent abroad in the guise of naval attachés to the American embassy in London to supervise construction of the base, he said.

Builders of the base are said to be Merritt, Chapman & Scott and the George A. Fuller company, both New York contracting firms. These companies had the contract for the navy's 30 million dollar base at Quonsett Point, R. I., and a smaller naval base in Newfoundland.

The base in Northern Ireland is being constructed, according to Senator Taft, ostensibly for use of the British, including the landing of aircraft furnished by the United States under the so-called lend-lease act and flown across the Atlantic.

Not a Question of Authority.

Senator Taft did not challenge President Roosevelt's authority to build such a base in Ireland, or anywhere else in the world, under the dictatorial provisions of the so-called lend-lease law. His complaint was that the base is intended for use eventually by the American navy for active participation in the European war.

In his carefully prepared senate speech, Taft accused President Roosevelt of exceeding his constitutional authority in sending American troops to Iceland.

"I desire to place on record," he said, "my strenuous protest against the policy which is involving us in

RAILWAY MEN ASK BRITAIN FOR PLAN OF 'NEW ORDER'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 10.—A demand for an immediate declaration of war aims by Britain and its allies and a statement of policy embodying a world economic plan was made at the annual meeting of the National Union of Railway Men at Swansea today. The resolution urged "adoption of a world plan which will allocate each nation its economic task and to all nations the necessary raw materials."

Submitting the resolution, W. T. Proctor said German railway men could end the war in a week if they ceased work. But, he insisted that it was necessary for the allies to "put something in front of the German people which would inspire their confidence in our promise of peace with justice."

war without authority from congress. I am convinced that if the question of war is submitted to the people by referendum, or if it is submitted to congress, a great majority will speak for peace and aid to Britain, but against war.

"If I am mistaken, I am quite prepared to support without stint or qualification the wishes of the majority of the people declared by congress; but I deny the right of the President to take us into war against the wishes of the men and women and the children in the cities, in the towns, and on the farms of America.

"There is, of course, no question that the constitution confers the right to declare war only upon congress. It frequently has been stated that the President has power to begin a war because he is commander in chief of the army and navy. It may well be true that the President has it within his power to make war without authority from congress

Armed Forces Will Obey.

"Undoubtedly, since he is commander in chief of the army and navy, if he wants the army or navy to go anywhere in the world, they will obey him, and in this sense he may perhaps have it within his power today to begin war with Germany by ordering the army to land on the German coast. But this does not mean that he has any legal or constitutional right to order an attack on Germany. The mere fact that power may be usurped is no evidence of legal right.

"The President's legal powers are limited to the defense of the United States, and of its citizens, and of the property of its citizens. Of course he has, without the approval of congress, the right and duty to resist insurrection and invasion of the United States.

"Historically and geographically, Iceland is a part of Europe, and we are now intervening in Europe. We now for the first time are taking an active military part in the war between England and Germany.

Recalls Naval Action.

"One of the great battles of the war, between the Hood and Bismarck, was fought off the coast of Iceland. Iceland is approximately as far from Newfoundland and the United States as is Ireland. It lies far north on the Arctic circle. It is not even a stepping-stone to Europe, except for planes with a very short range. It lies 600 miles north of Scotland and Ireland, and only 700 miles from Norway.

"If the occupation of Iceland is defense, then any act the President cares to order is defense. If he can send troops to Iceland on this ground, he can certainly send troops to Ireland on this ground. He can send them to Scotland or England. He can send them to Portugal. These countries are no further away than Iceland, and now we have to defend our troops in Iceland.

"Weeks ago I heard on reliable authority that the United States was constructing a naval air base for Great Britain in Northern Ireland.

Quotes Willkie's Suggestion.

"Since I made the first draft of this speech, Mr. Willkie, after a call upon the President, announced that in his opinion we should establish military bases both in Northern Ireland and Scotland. The occupation of Ireland would relieve perhaps half a million British troops for service elsewhere, and put half a million American boys into the British islands.

"A base in Ireland would be much more effective to protect shipping than a base in Iceland. Every argument that has been used for the occupation of Iceland applies to Ireland and England and Portugal.

"There is a peculiarly valid reason why the President should not send naval or air forces to Ireland or any other European country. The action which has been taken is a distinct violation of the President's express promise made to the American people before the election, when he said: 'We will not participate in foreign wars, and we will not send our army, naval, or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas.

"There has been no attack on the United States and no threat of attack. The action of the President is not only beyond the powers which the constitution has granted to him, but it is a deliberate violation of his pledge to the American people."

Answered with Ridicule.

Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the foreign relations committee, remained significantly silent during and after Senator Taft's attack on the President's war activities. Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.] was designated by Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky to make the administration's reply.

Connally resorted to ridicule and buffoonery, accusing Senator Taft of "sniping and bushwhacking" and waging "guerilla warfare" against the President. He intimated that Taft is running for President, despite his rejection by the Republican national convention in 1940.

Connally further suggested that Taft would wait until a hostile force crossed the Atlantic, came up the Mississippi and the Ohio rivers and attacked Cincinnati before ordering American troops into action.

Not Afraid to Fight.

"What are we going to do?" he asked. "Are you just going to let them sink our ships and kill our people? Are we just going to stand on the American shore and say, 'You just come over here now; you just come over here and push me off my front porch and I will fight!'

"There are some things that this nation's people possess that are worth fighting for. Our forefathers did not hesitate to fight for them. They did not hesitate to shed their blood. They were weak, 3,000,000 in all—no resources, a few flint lock muskets.

"But, we, 130,000,000 people, with greater industrial resources than any nation on the face of the earth, with probably greater natural resources, with a great man power, with a great citizenship—shall we be afraid to fight when 3,000,000 of our ancestors were not? I do not think so."

Holds Power Unlimited.

Connally argued that the constitution places no limitation on the President's power, as commander in chief, to send the army and navy anywhere he deems it necessary to send them for the defense of the country or its interests.

Senator Danaher—young, first term Connecticut Yankee—replied to Connally with a verbal excoriation such as the blustering Texas D'Artagnan never before had taken in silence from a member of the senate.

"At a time when the senator from Texas himself says this nation faces a crisis, we are treated to this japery," Danaher said. "All we need is Gov. O'Daniel's hill billy band to complete the performance we have just listened to." [Gov. Lee O'Daniel of Texas has just been elected a United States senator.]

Quotes George's Warning.

Danaher read excerpts from Senator George's speech of June 28 demanding that the people be permitted to decide the issue of peace or war thru their elected representatives and warning President Roosevelt that he will not have the support of a united nation if he takes the country into an undeclared war.

"That," exclaimed Senator Danaher, "came from a responsible member of the senate foreign relations committee, its distinguished chairman."

This was a body blow, Connally being the ranking Democratic member and prospective chairman of the foreign relations committee, provided Senator George takes the finance chairmanship.

Danaher noted that Mr. Roosevelt's message to congress said American troops would supplement and eventually replace British forces in Iceland, while Prime Minister Winston Churchill stated in the house of commons two days ago that the American forces are to supplement, and not to replace, the British troops.

Outpost of British Empire.

"They are there to supplement the British, and they, therefore, are making the United States forces a garrison, a defending force of the outpost, in the defense of the British empire, not of the United States," Danaher said. "There, Mr. President, is the turning point."

Danaher read President Roosevelt's statement that as commander in chief he had ordered the navy to "take all necessary steps" to insure the "safety of communications in the approaches between Iceland and the United States, as well as on the seas between the United States and all other strategic outposts."

"What other 'strategic outposts,' Mr. President, are we called upon to defend?" Danaher continued. "We learn from the press that after a conference with the President a distinguished American [Willkie] says that Northern Ireland and Scotland are appropriate outposts. We learn it from him, Mr. President; we learn it from Churchill; we do not learn it from the President of the United States. We are not being told what the facts are."

Naval Committeemen Protest.

There were vehement protests also at today's closed session of the naval affairs committee that the administration is concealing the facts of its war program, not only from the people but from members of the committees of congress. Half a dozen members complained that certain war mongering columnists who serve the administration's propaganda purposes get far more information about the war program than is available to any member of the naval affairs committee. Among those who joined in this complaint were Chairman David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], Senator Homer T. Bone [D., Wash.], and Senator Scott Lucas [D., Ill.].

BY PERCY WOOD.

Mounting totals in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S war poll continued yesterday to develop the picture that Illinois is 80 per cent against intervention. This became increasingly clear as new batches of ballots were received from the 50 city wards, the 30 Cook county townships outside Chicago, and nine downstate cities, answering the question: "Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler?"

With 40,271 ballots thus far returned from 257,484 mailed, the statewide totals last night were as follows:

Yes [for war]: 7,373, or 18.38 per cent.

No [against war]: 32,546, or 80.82 per cent.

Spoiled or unmarked ballots totaled 352, or .80 per cent.

Nine Cities Being Polled.

Samples are being taken in nine election board cities—Aurora, Bloomington, Cairo, Danville, East St. Louis, Galesburg, Peoria, Rockford, and Springfield—a ballot having been sent to every 10th voter.

In all except two of these, enough ballots had been received last night to indicate a trend. Only eight replies were in yesterday's mail from Cairo, however, six for war and two for peace. From Springfield came four ballots, all for war. The other seven municipalities returned a vote for peace.

A total of 1,766 downstate ballots were in yesterday, with these results:

Yes [for war]: 371, or 21.01 per cent.

No [against war]: 1,380, or 78.14 per cent.

Spoiled or unmarked ballots totaled 15, or .85 per cent.

How Suburbs Are Voting.

Three days' ballots from the Chicago suburbs were divided last night as follows:

Yes [for war]: 794, or 13.38 per cent.

No [against war]: 5,128, or 86.40 per cent.

Spoiled ballots totaled 13, or .22 per cent.

Yes [for war]: 6,208, or 19.06 per cent.

No [against war]: 26,038, or 79.94 per cent.

Spoiled ballots totaled 324, or 1 per cent.

U. S. IRISH BASE REPORT FAILS TO SURPRISE BRITISH

LONDON, July 10 (AP).—Authoritative sources disclaim knowledge on the subject but Britons generally would show scant surprise if they were informed soon that the United States is moving to acquire naval or air bases in northern Ireland [Ulster].

Outside official circles there is widespread discussion of the possibility that such bases are under consideration. In this connection it is noted that the best sheltered waters on the north coast are either within or adjoining Ireland's neutral waters.

An intimation of English expectations came in an editorial in The Evening Standard, owned by Lord Beaverbrook, minister of supply, which said that "occupation of Iceland may be followed by further acquisitions."

It's News to Ireland.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 11 [Friday] (AP).—Informed sources said today they had no knowledge of construction by the United States of naval bases in Northern Ireland. Statements by United States senators Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] and Robert A. Taft [R., Ohio] charging materials were on the way and building had begun were considered "surprising" by these sources.

Federal Judge Lumpkin Named S. Carolina Senator

Columbia, S. C., July 10 (AP).—Federal District Judge Alva M. Lumpkin of Columbia was appointed tonight to the United States senate by Gov. Burnet R. Maybank. At the same time the governor announced he would call a special election Aug. 26 to fill the remainder of the unexpired term of James F. Byrnes, who resigned his senate seat this week to become a member of the Supreme court. Under the law the governor can appoint for no longer than six months.

Votes 28 Draft Limit in Stormy Session.

But another reason for the attitude of the house was voiced by Representative Everett M. Dirksen [R., Ill.]. He said congress is tired of approving illegal steps by the President after they have been taken.

"A commander in chief who doesn't need legislation to occupy Iceland doesn't need legislation to occupy a plant in the United States," Dirksen declared. "Mr. Roosevelt has already shown that he will seize any plant with the army if he so desires. Now we are asked to sanction his actions. I want to know where we are going and how far we are going before I vote in approval of any more sumptuary legislation."

Cries of Denial Heard.

Then Representative Smith, who headed the famous investigation of the National Labor Relations board, took the floor. There were cries of "No! No!" as he made his charges.

"There is something here that has not appeared in the debate," he declared, "but I am going to see that it gets into the record. I refer to the disgraceful lobbying engaged in during the last three days in connection with this bill.

"The CIO held a convention here three days ago and members received their instructions. They proceeded to interview congressmen individually in goon squads of three. They told each member that they were in town to watch his vote to see if he was a friend or foe of labor, of the CIO. They said they proposed to take action concerning the member's reëlection if he did not vote in the proper manner.

"Why did these men visit in goon squads of three? It was for the purpose of intimidation. I wonder how some members will feel tonight, knowing that they have voted in behalf of violence and intimidation and because they were threatened with political destruction because they failed to obey the orders of John L. Lewis and the CIO?"

Shouts of Protest Arise.

Shouts of protest arose from members. Representative Leslie Arends [R., Ill.] provoked more clamor by declaring:

"I think the members would like to know that Harry Bridges, whom you voted to deport last year, was one of the moving geniuses in seeing that this legislation was defeated today!"

The next half hour was devoted to the loud objections of members to the Smith charge. Many arose to declare that they had not been visited by the CIO squads.

"The integrity and honesty, as well as the statesmanship, of the house has been attacked!" cried Representative Raymond S. McKeough [D., Ill.], one of the leaders against the legislation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PICKET N.Y. POST AS IT DEMANDS U. S. ENTER WAR

New York, July 10 (AP).—Pickets representing several peace and nonintervention organizations paraded in front of the building of the New York Post [Independent] today immediately after the paper's first edition appeared with an eight column front page editorial calling upon America to declare war on Germany.

The pickets, who numbered 50, said they included members of the America First committee, the Keep America Out of War Congress, the Quaker Friends, the Women's International League, the Fellowship Reconciliation, and Presbyterian Labor temple.

The editorial said: "This war is our war. The Nazi régime is our enemy. The American people have been made familiar with the undisputed evidence of Nazi hostility and complete irreconcilability to our traditions, faith and way of living. The British are arrayed in our defense just as in their own—thru no pretense of altruism, but because unhappily they stand next in the face of onrushing fury."

ADVANCE SALE OF THRILL SHOW TICKETS BOOMS

Expect 20,000 to Be Gone Before Sunday.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

Officials of the fourth annual Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show announced yesterday that the advance sale of tickets has exceeded all expectations. If the sale continues at the present level, they said, 20,000 will have been sold before the day of the show.

The great drama of police and firemen's heroism will be presented at 2 p. m. Sunday in Soldiers' field. The show was witnessed last year by more than 80,000 spectators. Ten thousand more choice seats have been made available this year by moving back the fire stations built in the field for the occasion.

No Seats Reserved.

Tickets are on sale at gate O, the south entrance to Soldiers' field, and from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily at the Tribune Public Service office at Dearborn and Madison streets. There are no reserved seats, but Harry M. O'Rourke, executive secretary of the show committee, said yesterday that spectators can avoid standing in line on the day of the show by buying their seats in advance.

Chief Frank C. McAuliffe is putting the finishing touches on the fire insurance patrol's performance. The men of the patrol have often been called the busiest firemen of them all, since their work of saving lives and protecting property requires them to respond to more alarms than do the individual fire fighting companies.

Rehearse Acts Daily.

They will nevertheless find time to take a major part in the fire alarm responses at the show under the direction of Chief McAuliffe and Capt. Frank Tinney. The patrol has some of the most imposing looking trucks in the show.

The slide for life and pompier ladder scaling acts are being rehearsed daily under the supervision of Chief George E. Graves, Capt. Peter J. Gleason, and Harry H. Wolff of the fire department drill school.

Senator Wayland Brooks of Illinois, will speak tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the annual picnic of the 47th ward Regular Republican club in Harms park, 4201 North Western avenue. Frank R. Leonard, ward committeeman, said a large crowd is expected. Brooks returned to Washington last week after a speaking tour downstate. He will fly here to make the address.

SAYS U. S. WILL BEAR BRUNT IF IT ENTERS WAR

Cairo Experts Agree on Size of Task.

[Copyright, 1941: By the New York Times.]

CAIRO, Egypt, July 10.—With Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell last week and Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck this week expressing their opinion that Britain cannot win a real lasting victory over Germany without the aid of American troops on the European battlefield, this war has entered a "now it can be told" stage. Wavell and Auchinleck recently exchanged places as the British chiefs of the middle east and India.

And, as dispatches from America indicate that the United States is being maneuvered rapidly toward avowed belligerency, it is important that the American people have as clear an idea of the probable course of war as can be given from this listening post — the administrative center of the only active theater of land warfare and with an assembly of "brains" stocked with expert knowledge of all pertinent factors.

Would Strain Every Resource.

Swapping ideas with such minds leads to the conclusion that if America is to adopt a status of active belligerency she must prepare at once to wage war on the continent of Europe in a manner compared with which the American expeditionary force of 1917-'18 was a picnic.

Such effort would strain every resource of the country. If America elects to enter the war in the near future, she must be prepared not only to enter on a grand scale, but quite possibly bear the brunt of it.

This time, by all probabilities, the United States would not go into an existing battle line, as it did in the world war. Quite possibly the United States would have to make its own landing somewhere in the eastern hemisphere—for, as Gen. Auchinleck said, and Gen. Wavell indicated, the war can really be won only in Europe and in Germany, unless the soviet army cripples the German army to its vitals.

Separate War for United States.

It is difficult to see how England dare strip its own defenses against the danger of invasion to dispatch a sufficiently strong expeditionary force to the continent. So, if the United States does go in, it will be very much its own war.

Germany's invasion of Russia has greatly benefited Britain's postion with respect to the war as a whole and specifically in the middle east, which apparently is secure for the time being. And American military equipment now is beginning to arrive in the middle east in considerable quantity, increasing the use which Britain can make of this respite.

In a sense, Germany's attack on Russia makes the war problem both greater and more immediate for Britain and the United States. Should Germany be able to overrun western Russia, the Ukraine and the Caucasus mountains in the next few weeks, Gen. Wavell and Gen. Auchinleck indicated it was likely the Germans would launch a sweep against India and all the near east.

Race with Time Started?

Gen. Wavell declined to be drawn out on the point whether Germany's invasion of Russia had not started a race in time between Germany and America—America to arm herself adequately before Germany can get the Ukraine or Caucasus into effective exploitation.

Granted that Hitler gets the Ukraine and the Caucasus in the next few weeks, it will take him some time—some observers think a minimum of two years—to organize production and transport of the resources he most needs.

Many observers here believe Hitler may be trying to grab an enormously rich eastern empire while Britain still is unable to attack him by land on the continent, so that if the worst comes for Hitler in the west, he still would have made a great conquest, and laid the basis for a tremendously powerful Germany in the future.

Unemployment in France Falls Again, to 363,358

VICHY, France, July 10.—Unemployment statistics issued today showed another decline to 363,358 persons, against the 376,952 listed on May 31. In unoccupied France only 62,349 unemployed were listed.

83 OF 85 BUNDLES FOR BRITAIN SHIPS CROSS IN SAFETY

Only two cargoes of apparel and supplies sent to England by Bundles for Britain have been sunk, while 83 cargoes have arrived safely, Mrs. John C. Slade, chairman of the Chicago headquarters at 163 North Michigan avenue, announced yesterday. Of three million items shipped, only 45,000 were lost when the freighters Bassano and Western Prince went to the bottom, she said.

The value of the items sent to Britain during the one and a half years of the organization's existence now totals $2,600,000. Approximately two million pieces of new and used clothing, shoes, blankets, hospital garments, and knitted articles are included in the total. Another million items consisted of surgical equipment, air raid shelter cots, and accessories, toiletries, and other goods.

About ten large cartons of clothing and knitted goods are leaving Chicago weekly, Mrs. Slade said. She stated the need for knitted clothing is particularly great at this time, since the organization is now anticipating needs for next winter.

ILLINOIS SOLIDLY BEHIND DEFENSE, SAYS GOV. GREEN

Springfield, Ill., July 10—(AP).—Gov. Dwight Green said tonight that all the resources of Illinois are being welded into one solid phalanx for national preparedness.

In a radio address from the historic home of Abraham Lincoln, the governor said that the "workers at home defend us mightily now, as will the men who wear the uniforms of our military services, should we be forced into war."

"Today, as eighty years ago, the nation faces a grave problem," Green asserted. "A rising tide of armament is flowing from a thousand channels, and millions of workers are engaged in its production. Hundreds of thousands of our young men are in the training camps, in the navy, on the flying fields, and more stand eager to answer the call to colors.

"God grant we be spared the tragedy of international combat. But we are determined to hold that which is ours against any aggressor force that would destroy our liberty."

ARMY'S RECENT BIG ORDERS FOR SKIS DISCLOSED

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—Recent heavy army purchases of skis, snow shoes, and clothing especially designed for subzero temperatures took on new significance today in the light of the American occupation of Iceland.

In addition to substantial quantities of arctic equipment already being delivered for troops serving in Alaska, the war department contracted Tuesday for 5,419 pairs of skis, 3,733 pairs of snow shoes, 27,416 toques, and 40,000 wool blankets.

Whether army troops have been ordered to Greenland or Iceland, in addition to naval and marine forces, has not been disclosed. The army quartermaster's office, however, has been studying suitable equipment for troops in cold climates. Several thousand men already have been dispatched to Alaska.

AVIATRIX TRIES POISON SUICIDE; PENS LOVE NOTE

Writes Farewell to 'Don' as She Awaits Death.

Miss Dorothy Powell of La Crosse, Wis., who was voted Wisconsin's best amateur woman flyer in 1939, went to a room in the Allerton hotel, 701 North Michigan avenue, and swallowed poison. Then, while waiting for death, she wrote a farewell love letter to a friend named "Don."

Last night physicians at Passavant hospital were striving to save the young woman's life. She is 24 years old.

Text of Her Letter.

The letter read:

"Don: I love you. I can't bring myself to write mom and dad. I've known since last winter that I was going to die. I didn't tell them, or you, or anybody. I wanted fun and excitement, and I didn't want to worry any one.

"The time was so short—three months, they said. Well, it was longer than that. Doctors can be wrong, too, but this is it. I'm not afraid, only lonesome, but I'd rather be alone right now. I think every one of you will understand.

"I'm so ashamed, I've been so irritable and mean, so quick to 'fly off the handle.' Maybe now you'll forgive me. I couldn't help it, believe me. I knew this morning that I'd be leaving, and I'm glad that thru these last few months I [blurred] my courage and didn't make any one unnecessarily unhappy. How could I [blurred] and if I'm crying now it's just because I miss you so.

"Things Getting Blurry."

"My song money should cover most of the expenses. You'll talk to mom and dad, won't you, and tell them how much I love them. I want them to know it all over again. Things are getting kind of blurry. Don't feel sorry for me. I love you."

Miss Powell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Powell, came to Chicago to see her late last night. They were puzzled by her act, they said. They told police she was not suffering from a deadly disease, as her letter indicated. She was an amateur flyer and song writer, they said, and once hoped to get into the movies.

GEN. MARSHALL'S KIN SAYS HE WED TO ESCAPE DRAFT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 10 (AP). — Lockwood Marshall, nephew of Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, said today his bride of nine months, Charlotta Rutledge Marshall, persuaded him to marry her to evade the draft.

Marshall, member of a wealthy St. Louis family, made the statement in a deposition filed in a divorce suit against his wife, whom he carried in Las Vegas, Nev., last Oct. 1.

"She said I ought to get out of the draft that way," Marshall's deposition stated. "I thought getting married without sufficient funds was worse than being drafted."

Marshall said he was earning $135 a month as secretary to his mother, and that "I could barely afford the trip to Las Vegas." During the courtship, he continued, it was customary for her to pay half the bills because of his lack of funds.

FIRST ALL-NEGRO AIR UNIT STARTS TRAINING JULY 19

Washington, D. C., July 10 [Special.]—The war department has set July 19 as the date to begin training of the first all-Negro aviation pursuit squadron to be formed in any army. An initial class of 10 youths is to begin a five week preflight course at Tuskeegee institute, Negro school in Alabama. Other sections of 10 will be added periodically, so that a total of 30 will be in training at all times and 100 Negro pilots will be completely trained within a year. They will make up the 99th pursuit squadron.

ARMORY BOARD O. K.'S $5,000,000 BUILDING PLANS

The Illinois state armory board has approved a 5 million dollar building program called for the construction of 10 downstate armories and a 3 million dollar armory and war memorial in Chicago, Gen. Roy D. Keehn, chairman of the armory board, announced yesterday.

Gen. R. D. Keehn.

Funds for the project would be provided thru the sale of bonds plus a $1,100,000 grant from the Work Projects administration, for which application already has been made.

The downstate armories are to cost from $250,000 to $300,000 each.

Downstate cities in which armories are to be constructed are Alton, Moline, East St. Louis, Joliet, Bloomington, Harris, Springfield, Sterling, Macomb, and Galva.

Plans call for the new Chicago armory to serve as 33d division headquarters, with facilities for training 1,000 men. It is to replace the old 1st infantry armory on south Michigan avenue, which is to be razed.

The Chicago armory also will serve as a memorial to all Illinois soldiers, according to present plans.

37 IN U. S. ARMY GET PROMOTIONS TO BE GENERALS

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—President Roosevelt asked congress today to approve the temporary promotion of 37 officers to be major generals or brigadier generals—advancements which would lower the army's average age for these ranks nearer those in the British and German forces.

Twelve who were nominated for major general range from 51 to 61, averaging 55 years and 5 months. The others, for whom the President asked the single star of a brigadier general, range from 46 to 55 and average 51 years 3 months.

Top commanders in the German and Brtiish armies average 52 or 53 years, the war department has been advised. In the United States army until recently most major generals were 60 or older.

Those nominated to be major generals included Robert L. Eichleberger, Maxwell Murray, John Millikin, Alvan Cullom Gillen Jr., Harry Welles Baird, John Nesmith Greely, Gerald Clark Brant, Rish Blodgett Lincoln, Walter Reed Weaver, Lewis Hyde Brereton, Millard Fillmore Harmon, and Herbert Arthur Dargue.

12 American Children Sail for Home from Hongkong

BODY TAKEN FROM ROUND LAKE.

The body of James Clark, 21 years old, 2107 Winthrop avenue, was recovered late yesterday from Round lake in Lake county, where he drowned last Sunday. Clark, who could not swim, toppled from a skiff into 45 feet of water near the middle of the lake.

ECONOMIC PACTS FOR HEMISPHERE URGED BY LATIN

The American republics should negotiate agreements to stabilize the economic policies of the western hemisphere, just as they have made pacts to stabilize western hemisphere politics, Dr. Ricardo Alfaro, former president of the Republic of Panama, asserted in an interview yesterday.

Dr. Ricardo Alfaro.

Dr. Alfaro is in Chicago to attend the 17th institute of the University of Chicago's Norman Wait Harris foundation for the study of international relations. Experts from ten Latin American nations, the United States, and Canada are attending.

Dr. Alfaro advocated "an economic policy to break the international monopolies held by the British." As examples of such monopolies he cited tin and rubber. These two products, as well as cacao and quinine, he said, are imported by the Americas altho such imports would be unnecessary if their production was encouraged in the western hemisphere.

Mines Blow Up 3 Nazi Vessels Near Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 10 (AP).—Injured seamen reaching Oland tonight from three German ships destroyed by mines said a few of their fellows had drowned, but that most were rescued by other German vessels. Oland is a Swedish island in the Baltic between the mainland and the island of Gotland.

323,898 SEIZED IN GREAT BATTLE, GERMANY CLAIMS

Tells of Soviet Material Taken at Bialystok.

BERLIN, July 10 (AP).—Germany announced officially tonight the capture of 323,898 Red army prisoners in what it termed the "greatest battle encirclement in world history" on the Bialystok-Minsk front, but maintained almost complete silence on the great campaign in the east.

Tonight's announcement recapitulated an entrapment of two Russian armies totalling an estimated 500,000 men first announced on June 29, seven days after the conflict began.

As for the current progress of the Russian campaign today was the third straight day of the high command's policy of "mystifying the enemy with silence." The high command communique merely said the campaign in the east was "progressing relentlessly."

Masses of War Material.

The special announcement also said the number of Red army soldiers captured since the Russo-German war began on June 22 now totaled more than 400,000.

The greatest amount of war material ever taken in a campaign was captured in the double battles of Bialystok and Minsk, now lying behind German front lines. Besides several generals and divisional commanders captured, the booty included 3,332 tanks, 1,809 guns, and an enormous quantity of other war material.

The total material captured or destroyed since June 22 thus stood at 7,615 tanks and 4,423 guns, while the soviet air force so far has lost 6,233 planes.

Unofficially it was stated the Nazi air force had destroyed 110 Russian planes yesterday.

Hungarians Court Ukrainians.

BUDAPEST, July 10 (AP).—The Hungarian high command asserted today that 25,000 prisoners had been taken in the advance into Galacia, southwestern Russia, in which "Hungarian troops fought at the side of German troops."

"All prisoners who can prove they are Ukrainians are authorized to return to their homes," the communique said. [This apparently is connected with reports of axis plans to establish a separate Ukrainian state.]

Opposing Claims on Russian Front

(Stories in adjoining columns.)

LULL IN RED-NAZI WAR FOLLOWS 18 DAYS OF BATTLES

Moscow Hints Germans Fought to Standstill.

MOSCOW, July 11 [Friday] (AP).—A lull descended on the Russian-German front early today for the first time after 18 days of titanic battles in which the Red army appears to have fought the German reichswehr to a standstill.

Tonight's communique said "nothing of consequence occurred" Thursday—an eastern front revival of the last war's historic phrase: "All quiet on the western front."

The communique, however, gave a graphic description of the destruction of a German division in earlier fighting, indicating the fierceness of the Red army resistance which the soviets say has squelched the blitzkrieg.

Many Dead and Wounded.

This German mechanized division, attempting to break thru the right flank of a Russian position far west of Moscow was routed, leaving 3,500 dead and wounded Germans on the field. About 2,400 Germans were captured.

The Russians also captured powerful Nazi batteries, numerous machine-guns and automatic arms, 150 motorcycles, and other equipment in good state. Scores of burned out German tanks were left on the field.

Presumably this was the German division earlier reported to have been annihilated in the Lepel region, at the head of the Berezina river in the general vicinity of where the Germans are trying to smash thru toward Moscow.

Air Force Deals Blows.

The Russian air force dealt blows at German motorized and mechanized forces thruout yesterday in the direction [sector] of Ostrov, in the Baltic area, and Novograd Volynski, in the path of the German drive toward Kiev, in the Ukraine.

German units were said to have been destroyed at crossings of the western Dvina river, which flows northwestward into the Baltic.

The air force attacked enemy airports and destroyed 28 German planes in air battles and raids on airdromes while losing six itself.

The Russians claimed to have killed or wounded 350 Finns in an engagement in which Russian naval forces participated.

Gen. Mannerheim Calls for Fight to Free Karelia

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 11 [Friday]—(AP).—Field Marshal Baron Gustaf Mannerheim, commander in chief of the Finnish army, called upon his troops today to free Karelia and other ceded territories of Finland from soviet Russia. In an order of the day Mannerheim said, "Soldiers: The soil you tread is saturated with the blood and sufferings of our people—it is sacred soil."

NAZIS REPORTED PRESSING JAPAN TO FIGHT SOVIET

New York, July 10 [Special].—Advices received here today from the far east said German pressure on Japan has increased tenfold since the Russo-German war began.

The German plans call for an immediate attack by Japan on the Siberian maritime provinces, forcing Russia to fight on two fronts, according to the reports. The German advice to Japan calls for the Japanese navy to attack Vladivostock, while the army would strike thru Outer Mongolia, cutting off the soviet far eastern army.

However, the German proposals are receiving a mixed reception in Tokio, it is understood, where Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka is advocating a drive against Russia while Home Minister Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma wants a drive toward the Netherlands East Indies and Singapore.

CRASH FATAL TO FARMER.

Valparaiso, Ind., July 10 [Special].—William J. Graham, 62, farmer, died today of injuries received yesterday when a team of horses he was driving was hit by a truck driven by Marvin West, 26, Defiance, O. West, slightly injured, was released by state police.

BABY TUMBLES FROM 3D FLOOR PORCH AND LIVES

Altho she fell from a third floor porch of the family home at 831 South Ashland avenue, Palma Mandarino, 18 months old, had a good chance for recovery in County hospital last night, physicians said.

The child was playing on the porch when she leaned against a loose slat of the inclosing fence. Halfway down she struck a clothes line, which broke her fall and deflected the small body so that she landed on a small area of loose dirt. One of her legs was broken.

Palma is the daughter of Sam Mandarino, a truck driver. The accident was witnessed by Clara Gallo, 7 years old, a sister of the child's mother.

'Sympathetic' Attitude Pleases.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—Soviet Ambassador Constantine Oumansky expressed great pleasure today over President Roosevelt's "sympathetic attitude" toward the soviet-Nazi war. Oumansky met with Mr. Roosevelt for an hour, discussing Russia's needs from the United States and the outlook of the war.

Oumansky said he brought the President "good news" on the war prospects but added that the struggle with Germany will be a stiff fight and perhaps a long one. He said that this government has a complete list of all the communists' acute needs to prosecute the war against Germany.

Needs Known for Some Time.

Oumansky refused to discuss whether Russian aid will come under the lend-lease bill or by facilitation of war purchases.

"The government knows the orders we want to place in this country and has known them for some time," said the short, stocky representative of Red Dictator Josef Stalin.

"I expressed to the President the appreciation of my government for the attitude taken by him personally and by the government of the United States in the present situation toward our fight against Hitler aggression," Oumansky told reporters. "I was deeply impressed by the friendly and farsighted approach by the President to those problems."

Long Talk with Welles.

Oumansky was accompanied to the White House by Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles with whom he had a long series of conferences over the release of restricted exports to Russia while Russia was in the official doghouse and accused of shipping American exports to Germany, then Russia's good friend.

After the White House conference Welles denied to newsmen that the United States was seeking a military base on the Russian Kamchatka peninsula. He described such a report as obviously German propaganda to create differences between the United States and Japan. Welles also denied that this government has undertaken any negotiations with Portugal for bases in the Azores.

RCA CANCELS STUDY TOURS FOR 20 RUSSIAN TECHNICAL ENGINEERS

Camden, N. J., July 10 [Special].—The RCA Manufacturing company has ended an arrangement under which more than 20 Russian engineers studied radio and television technique here for more than a year, it was disclosed today.

An RCA spokesman said a voluntary agreement terminated the relationship on May 31, because of the international situation, and most of the soviet engineers had returned home. They had been permitted to study some of the plant's operations and learn something of American technical and theoretical developments in return for the sale of RCA products to the soviet government.

Similar arrangements were made by the soviet union with other companies, all of which have terminated them, it is understood.

Claims Britain Ignores Armistice Plea.

BULLETIN.

ANKARA, Turkey, July 10 (AP).—Eleven French warships and armed auxiliaries from Beirut, Lebanese capital besieged by the British, took refuge today in the Turkish harbor of Alexandretta and all their crews have been interned, including the vice admiral commanding the Syrian fleet. Additional French vessels were reported en route to Turkey.

VICHY, France, July 10 (AP).—The Petain government, protesting that Britain had ignored a request to cease firing in Syria and Lebanon, disavowed responsibility tonight for continued "violence and devastation" there and proclaimed a last ditch resistance.

[In London an authoritative statement said fighting will go on until British armistice terms are met. "An immediate reply to the French plea was given," it was said.]

Amid the puzzling tangle of contradiction and talk of offended honor which had snared Vichy's own proposal of an armistice, Gen. Maxine Weygand, supreme commander in North Africa, arrived in Vichy by plane tonight. He went immediately to the residence of Chief of State Marshal Petain.

Talks May Be Under Way.

The situation over hostilities in the Levant did not preclude the possibility that armistice negotiations might be under way even while the British and "Free French" closed in on Beirut and continued other drives in Syria and Lebanon. Late tonight the French insisted they still were holding Beirut, altho it was contended Beirut was an open city.

[The German controled Paris radio was heard by Reuters, British news agency, announcing that Australian troops occupied Beirut. French sources at Ankara said Vichy troops withdrew to the north last night, leaving Beirut an open city.]

Twice today the French said they had received no answer to Gen. Henri Dentz, request of Tuesday for a truce pending negotiation of a Syrian settlement. Gen. Dentz is commander in chief in Syria and Lebanon as well as high commissioner.

Claim Dentz Offended.

First there was an official statement declaring that far from getting a British reply, Gen. Dentz "found himself faced with redoubled British attacks on all fronts and . . . learned with sorrow that pamphlets offensive to his dignity and military honor were being distributed by British agents."

Second there was tonight's military communique, introduced with these phrases:

"No answer has yet been received at Beirut to the request for cessation of fire drawn up the morning of July 8 by Gen. Dentz. Combats, therefore, are continuing with their accompaniment of violence and devastation—and, that being the case, the responsibility for it does not rest with France."

These statements were a contradiction of a general understanding among the French here—as well as a statement yesterday by the authoritative Telemondial news agency—that the Vichy government already was studying British armistice terms.

As a prelude [or possibly as a condition of an armistice] the British demanded that Beirut, seat of the French mandate government, be declared an open city and yielded without bloodshed. The French said that the ultimatum was presented in leaflets showered on Beirut by RAF planes last night.

PLAN TO SCRAPE ALUMINUM OFF SHAFT IN CAPITAL

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—The world's most famous piece of aluminum, the gleaming tip of the Washington monument, may be melted and made a part of a bomber or fighting plane.

An informed source said today Fiorello La Guardia, civilian defense chief, was discussing with Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes, keeper of the monument, the possibility of taking down the piece to open the defense aluminum scrap campaign which La Guardia will head.

Probably no other piece of metal has been viewed by so many persons as this tip of the monument capstone. It was placed there almost 60 years ago. Nine inches high, it was reported to be the largest aluminum casting in the world in 1880, when it was made. Now, however, it is small in comparison with other castings of this metal.

Flight of Request for Armistice

Heavy black line traces route of French army request for an armistice in the middle east campaign. The message asking the truce was sent from Beirut to Washington to London to Cairo to Jerusalem, ending there a comparatively few miles from the point of origin.

NEUTRAL SWEDEN TORN BY DEMAND TO JOIN GERMANY

Army, Industry Fear 'New Order' Shutout.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 10.—Altho officials reiterate that Sweden will continue to be neutral, increasing pressure to back up Germany in the war against Russia is being applied to the government, both by the army and leaders of Sweden's industry.

Three leading Swedish publishers, men in close touch with public opinion, confirmed this trend today. Two of them told The Tribune correspondent that they felt Sweden should actively participate in the war. The other believed that if Sweden severed diplomatic relations with the soviet government and outlawed the communist party it would be sufficient.

Believes Crisis Is Developing.

Many Swedes believe a crisis is developing which may lead to a change of government and of policy.

English and Russian propaganda is powerfully organized in Sweden and the Swedes seem to like it as much as they do their punch. Just as they hoped Germany would be checked in the Balkans last April, they have been hoping during the last three weeks that Germany would be checked by Russia. The successive disillusionments are so real that the morale of the country has been affected.

Worry Over New Order.

The Swedes now realize that they have not yet expressed willingness to collaborate in the formation of a new European order and they are worried about the future.

As one Swedish economist recently announced, "Sweden is now at the ticket window. She can either buy a Pullman ticket or she can ride in the box car." In Swedish government circles the price of the Pullman ticket is believed to be the dispatch of some Swedish forces to the Finnish front and the participation of the Swedish fleet in naval operations against Russia.

City Will Make $300 Gift to Aluminum Campaign

Oscar F. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, will give away 1,500 pounds of aluminum today. Hewitt said the aluminum—25 pieces of curved aluminum plating, once used in the construction of water tunnels, and an aluminum window frame—will be given to the Chicago Commission on National Defense as the city's contribution to the aluminum collection campaign. He estimated the gift as worth $300.

150 Mile Gain

CAIRO, Egypt, July 10 (AP).—The French request for an armistice in Syria made a world tour—thru Washington, D. C.,—before reaching its destination, only 150 miles away by air.

The request was handed by French High Commissioner General Henri Dentz to the United States consul in Beirut. The consul transmitted it to the state department in Washington, from where it was sent back across the Atlantic to London. Next it was sent to Cairo, and from Cairo was sent to Jerusalem to Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, general officer commanding in Jerusalem and Transjordan, to whom it was addressed.

NIGHT BOMBERS RAID BRITAIN IN ANSWER TO RAF

LONDON, July 11 [Friday]—(AP).—German night raiders struck hard at Britain early today in furious answer to the RAF's sustained aerial offensive which yesterday netted Britain 14 German fighters and six Nazi coastal ships at a cost of 11 British planes.

The heaviest effects of the Luftwaffe were felt on northeast coast towns, where high-flying Nazis dropped a number of high explosive bombs and caused some casualties. Anti-aircraft guns drove the raiders out to sea. German planes also were reported over east Anglia and in the vicinity of a midlands town.

The RAF raiders sank the Nazi ships in day raids on Cherbourg and Le Havre.

Night squadrons previously had attacked Aachen, German industrial city near the Dutch border; Osnabruck, Bielefeld, Muenster, and the Ostend docks on the Belgian coast. Four night bombers were acknowledged lost.

[Advices reaching Vichy from occupied France told of 19 deaths, more than 60 wounded, and numerous buildings destroyed as the result of recent RAF raids on the Lille area of western France.]

Nazis Claim 50 Air Victories.

BERLIN, July 10 (AP).—The Germans asserted tonight that the RAF had lost 50 planes in the last two days of vicious combat over the German held channel coast. DNB, official news agency, said 25 were shot down today at a cost of only two German planes. Five British merchant ships in convoy were reported sunk at the mouth of the Bristol channel in a night air attack.

An authorized spokesman said the Aachen cathedral, where Charlemagne is buried, suffered bomb damage last night.

HEAR CONGRESS WILL BE ASKED TO O.K. ICELAND COUP

Expect Roosevelt to Ask Funds for Legation.

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—Informed quarters predicted today that President Roosevelt will seek indirect congressional sanction for the establishment of diplomatic relations with Iceland by asking an appropriation to open a legation in Reykjavik, in the Icelandic capital.

Consul Kuniholm.

Mr. Roosevelt could, without going to congress, establish a legation there and appoint a minister-resident, who also would act as consul general. This has been done in the case of Iraq.

At present, the United States has a consulate at Reykjavik, in charge of Consul Bertel E. Kuniholm of Gardner, Mass., and Vice Consul Wells of Plainfield, N. J.

Pledge Made in Note.

Establishment of diplomatic relations was promised by President Roosevelt in the exchange of communications with Prime Minister Hermann Jonasson of Iceland, which preceded dispatch of an American protective force to the island.

Once diplomatic relations are established and occupation of the island by United States forces is completed, it is expected that American newspapermen will be permitted to go to Iceland. Stephen Early, Presidential press secretary, said today that Mr. Roosevelt had decided newspapermen must remain away from the island for the time being because the American activity now was "a purely military program."

Expect Career Appointee.

In informed quarters, it is believed the President will appoint a trained career diplomat to the post at Reykjavik.

Several diplomats with the rank of minister are available due to the enforced closing of legations in German occupied countries. Among them are Ray Atherton, minister to Denmark, now serving as chief of the state department's European division; John C. Wiley, minister to Estonia and Latvia, now on temporary duty with the treasury department; George A. Gordon, minister to the Netherlands, and Mrs. Florence Harriman, minister to Norway.

Union Authorized to Call General New York Strike

New York, July 10 (AP).—Officers of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers [AFL] were authorized tonight to call a general strike in New York City which would affect 250,000 building trades workers. The strike was approved at a meeting of 4,000 members of the union which has been involved in a long dispute with Consolidated Edison company.

PEANUT TAKEN FROM THROAT.

Physicians at the Children's Memorial hospital early yesterday used a bronchoscope to remove a peanut from the throat of Wilhelm Bondeson Jr., 2 years old, 125 Locust street.

British Air Attack

CAIRO, Egypt, July 10 (AP).—Three Italian seaplanes were destroyed by fire, several others were damaged, and "numerous" casualties were inflicted by machine gun fire in a daylight British air raid on the Sicilian port of Syracuse yesterday, the RAF middle east communique reported today. It also reported a night raid on Naples, Italy's second largest city.

[The Italian high command acknowledged a British daylight raid on Syracuse and a night raid on Naples. It said 14 civilians were killed at Syracuse.]

Claim 100 Planes Destroyed.

BERLIN, July 10 (AP).—The official German news agency, DNB, stated tonight that more than 100 of the most modern type of British airplanes were destroyed on the ground during an air raid yesterday on the British post at Ismailia in the Suez canal zone. The high command earlier reported bombers had set fire to hangars west of Ismailia, and that a British destroyer was bombed off Sollum, Egypt.

Combat planes, the communique said, had "effectively bombed" targets at Tobruk, Libya, during the last two days, and had repulsed a British raid on Halfaya, near Sollum.

PLANS TO TRY HIS LONG LIFE SECRET IN DEATH VALLEY

Los Angeles, Cal., July 10 [Special].—Goliath Messiah, 71 years old, arrived here today from New York and announced that he plans to retire to Death valley and live like an Indian. "It's cheaper to live in Death valley than in the Bronx," said Messiah, who claims to be a Persian descended from Cyrus the Great and Xerxes.

Messiah also claims to have discovered the secret of eternal youth, and says he'll live to be 150. His secret? "Living simply. Eating intelligently. My diet consists of herbs, collected in all parts of the world."

Four years ago in New York he ran five miles in 25 minutes, to the tune of a Bronx crowd's cheers. In 1939 he popped up at the entrance to the New York World's Fair three days before the opening, and settled down with a book of poetry, some nuts and wine, determined to be the first visitor to pay admission.

A YEAR'S RECORD: BILLIONS SPENT, ARMY NOT ARMED Figures Show Slight Gain in Modernization.

the goal the arms status is today. Even now officials are laying plans for an army of 3 million men.

Most of the existing anti-tank guns are of 37 mm. and considered entirely too light to pierce tanks as heavily armored as those in the German forces.

On tanks, the army is beginning to get quantity production in the light models, but it has just received the first of the new medium tanks, weighing 30 tons. They will not be produced in quantity for another two or three months.

Test for Big Tank Soon.

After one year the army still has no heavy tanks. One, weighing 60 tons, is now in production and will be ready for a test soon. It carries a high velocity gun believed capable of piercing any armor now known. The German version weighs 80 tons.

The army has at best 250 modern fighting planes and estimates are that the army and navy combined have fewer than 1,000 first line fighting planes. Even these are not considered as heavily armed and armored as those employed in Europe.

The army is considered weaker in the air than in any other branch. There is not a single dive bomber available and only a few modern attack planes and bombers designed for use against ground forces.

Delay Anti-Aircraft Guns.

None of the new 90 mm. anti-aircraft guns has been delivered yet to tactical units, and latest reports showed that only four have been produced. Most of the anti-aircraft guns are 3 inch and some are 37 mm.

High powered field artillery is still lacking in numerical strength, as the table shows. Only recently the army received the first of the new 155 mm. guns, which took 17 months to construct.

Garand semiautomatic rifles are now in quantity production.

Envoys of Peru, Ecuador Fly to U. S. on Same Ship

Miami, Fla., July 10. (AP)—Diplomatic representatives of Peru and Ecuador arrived here on the same plane tonight en route to Washington, presumably to discuss with the state department a possible mediation of their border dispute. Both Carlos Concha of Peru and Homero Viteri Lafronte of Ecuador declined to talk of the quarrel, which flared again recently. "All I can say is that I am going to Washington on a diplomatic mission and I am hoping and hoping and hoping," said Concha, former Peruvian minister of foreign affairs.

ANTI-WAR PAPER TO BE PUBLISHED IN MINNEAPOLIS

Plans to Print Talks of Non-Interventionists.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 10 [Special].—The establishment here of a new weekly newspaper, the Minnesota Beacon, which will reflect the opinion of anti-war groups, was announced today by its publisher, J. D. Holtzermann. The first issue will be published July 30.

Holtzermann, owner of a Minneapolis department store bearing his name, is a leader among noninterventionists here. He formerly was chairman of the Minneapolis America First committee, a chapter of the country's foremost anti-war organization.

Not Campaign Fly Sheet.

"The Beacon, which will be a tabloid, is not intended as a campaign sheet, a fly-by-night ax grinder, or a paper to be published just for the duration," Holtzermann explained. "Our plans call for making it a permanent publication that will furnish a profit to its stockholders."

An advertisment announcing the Beacon's entry into the newspaper field here said "it will voice the sentiment of 90 per cent of the citizens of Minnesota and the entire United States who believe in the defense of America and the western hemisphere first, who believe in putting our own house in order before venturing abroad."

First Issue Four Pages.

The advertisment said the paper will print in full the speeches of Charles A. Lindbergh, former President Hoover "and the senators and congressmen who are fighting to keep our country out of Europe's endless, treacherous wars."

The first issue will be of four pages, possibly with an insert. Subsequent issues may be increased to eight pages, it was said. Plans call for 10,000 copies of the first issue, with press runs of 25,000 later on.

Many subscriptions to the Beacon already have been obtained thruout Minnesota and some from such distant states as New York, California, Texas, and the Dakotas.

Seek Officer Candidates for Signal Corps Reserve

Young men seeking appointments as second lieutenants in the signal corps reserve of the army will be interviewed in room 955 of the new post office building at 11 a. m. tomorrow, it was announced yesterday. Vacancies exist for approximately 500 second lieutenants in this branch of the service. Applicants must be between 21 and 36 years old, unmarried, and without dependents. They must have a college degree or its equivalent in electrical engineering, and must have specialized in radio or be electrical physicists.

FEW 21 YEAR OLD DRAFTEES TO SEE ARMY TILL FALL

Few if any of the new 21 year olds who have registered for the draft will be called for service before Sept. 1, Paul G. Armstrong, state selective service director, said yesterday.

With July 17 set as the date for the national lottery, he explained, local boards cannot begin assigning order numbers to the new men until they receive copies of the official master list from Washington, probably not until July 21. An additional 10 days is allowed for return of questionnaires, followed by several more days for classification and physical examination, 5 days for appeal after notice of classification, and at least 10 more days for notice of induction.

The army induction station is to be closed from Aug. 9 to Aug. 24, Armstrong added, which makes Aug. 25 the earliest date that one of the new men can be drafted. Those who are anxious to start their army service without delay, however, can volunteer at any time.

TAFT ASKS CUT IN PENALTY ON EXCESS WHEAT

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.], introduced today a bill to reduce the penalty under the new wheat marketing quota law from 49 cents to the original 15 cents a bushel on growers who exceeded their quotas.

Farmers thruout the country have protested that much wheat was planted before the new regulations became effective.

Similar measures are before the house agricultural committee, which today heard several congressmen question the constitutionality of the legislation increasing the penalty.

CIO STRIKE HALTS PRODUCTION AT RAIL CAR PLANT

Production at the plant of the American Car and Foundry company, 2417 South Paulina street, was discontinued yesterday as a result of a strike called by local 805 of the United Automobile Workers [CIO]. About 1,000 employés were affected, it was said.

Spokesmen for the union, which signed a contract with the company in March, said they demanded a change in piecework procedure so the members could earn, in different classifications, $7.92 to $9.18 a day. They added that the company refused to put on enough men to turn out cars fast enough for the men to make this scale.

DRAFTEES FACE NAVY SERVICE IF ENLISTING LAGS

Springfield, Ill., July 10 (AP).—Some Illinois draftees may be assigned to service in the navy if volunteer recruiting thru local draft boards fails to result in sufficient enlistments, state draft officials said today.

Local draft boards have been instructed to encourage volunteers to enlist in the navy, rather than the army, but as yet no draftees have been assigned to naval service, Capt. Joseph U. Gugan, information officer, said.

Lieut. Com. Walter J. Eden has been assigned to the staff of Paul G. Armstrong, state draft director, to direct navy recruiting.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Useful Wild Plants.

July 10, 1941.

IN case the housewives on the Wheaton farm ever run out of soap on washday or find the coffee can empty when company is coming to supper they can find substitutes near their homes without going to the grocery.

When we were hiking around the farm the other day we found two wild plants that pioneer women used regularly in the days when most families made their own soap and coffee was hard to get. The first of these plants is Bouncing Bet, just beginning to show its pale pink flowers in many Chicagoland fields. It has several other names, including soapwort, Sweet Betty, Lady by the Gate, and Old Maid's Pink.

The name soapwort probably is the most significant of all, because when the juice from the root of the plant is extracted and placed in water it forms a lather and has cleansing properties. In many sections of the country farmers' wives regularly pound the Bouncing Bet root on a board and extract the juice to use as a substitute for soap flakes.

Blooms for Six Weeks.

The pink flower will be in bloom for the next six weeks along roadsides, railroad rights of way, and even in vacant city lots.

The coffee substitute growing on the farm and many other places in Chicagoland is chicory, which has a vivid purple-blue flower on a three-foot stem. It particularly prefers roadsides where it can assimilate plenty of sunlight all day long. By digging up and drying the roots, then pulverizing them thoroly, chicory makes an excellent coffee brew. In fact some coffee manufacturers use chicory in their blends.

But the useful plants aren't the only ones to be seen on the farm this week. Some which are merely ornamental also are decorating the fields and roadsides to add color to the July scene.

Belongs to Mint Family.

Lavender colored wild bergamot flowers are just starting to open. These blossoms are easily identified by their pastel lavender color, but anyone who is in doubt can crush and smell the flower or leaves and get the definite aroma of mint to make the identification certain, for this plant belongs to the mint family. Queen Anne's Lace, milfoil, flowering milkweed and wild sunflowers, are other wild flowers typical of this season of the year.

We saw two indications of approaching autumn in the fields this week. The bittersweet vines tangled over one of the roadside fences are showing clusters of green berries which later will become orange, and several of the Virginia creepers winding their way up the trunks of stately oak and hickory trees have their first red leaves of the season. Before long hundreds of these woodland plants will be providing gay splotches of red to the preautumn landscape.

CHICAGO TROOPS' YEAR ALMOST UP; EAGER FOR HOME

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Bliss, Tex., July 10.—On last Sept. 22, about a week after being indicted into federal service for one year's training, Chicago's 202d coast artillery [anti-aircraft] regiment of the Illinois National Guard, arrived at Fort Bliss.

Now this coming September looms as the most important month in the lives of the 1,700 soldiers. Most of them, including the 495 draftees, gave up good jobs. And almost without exception they are eager to complete their training and go home.

The regiment has had about 150 men absent without leave since September. All returned except 17, who became classed as deserters. The desertion rates per 1,000 men, as of June, was 1.17, compared with 4.5 for the entire 29,000 troops at the fort.

Fort Near a Big Town.

The Chicago troops are also more fortunate than those at most of the southern camps visited on this tour. Where other camps were built near small towns, unable to afford adequate recreational or social facilities, Fort Bliss is on the outskirts of El Paso, a town of 106,000 inhabitants.

The 202d was the first regiment to arrive in camp. The men reported El Paso was at first somewhat unfriendly, but soon began to coöperate on a recreational program as more local boys were drafted.

A large building, formerly the Elks club, was purchased by the city and turned into an army recreational hall. It includes a ballroom, gymnasium, game room, reading and lounge room, and twice a week the soldier can lay aside his gun to learn ballroom dancing, square dancing, or Spanish.

Girls Getting Sociable.

Similar programs and facilities are available in the army YMCA, the El Paso community center, and the National Catholic Community service. There are two outdoor and two indoor swimming pools available, but the town could use several more.

As the year's end nears the tide of rumor mongering, always active, begins to raise, "sending" the regiment to various bases. Of all these reports the one now heard most frequently, and with the greatest air of authenticity, is that the 202d will go to the island base at Jamaica, probably around Aug. 1. At least, says this report, the 202d will not go on Louisiana maneuvers as it was scheduled to do, and may not go home.

3 PILOTS KILLED, STUDENT SAVED IN AIR COLLISION

Augusta, Ga., July 10 (AP).—Three instructors of the Georgia Aero-Tech Flying school were killed and a cadet bailed out unhurt in the collision of two trainer planes near Kathwood, S. C., 10 miles from Augusta, late today.

Capt. A. J. McVea, air corps supervisor at the school, said the instructors were J. W. Dionne of Green Bay, Wis.; J. W. Yawn Jr. of Graceville, Fla., and Don C. Bush of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and the student was Vincent K. Relyea, Long Island, N. Y.

The low wing BT-15 monoplanes collided at an altitude of about 600 feet, McVea said. Two instructors were in one plane and the student and another instructor in the other.

ILLINOIS TROOPS BEGIN JULY 4TH HOLIDAYS TODAY

Camp Forrest, Tenn., July 10 (AP).—A delayed July 4 holiday will begin tomorrow for 2,500 Illinois troops of the 33d division. They will leave shortly after noon on four trains. This group, and 2,500 to go next week, will take the holiday late because transportation facilities allowed only 3,500 to leave for the week-end of the Fourth.

ARMY ASKS LEAR FOR HIS SIDE OF 'YOO-HOO' STORY

General Again Under Fire in House.

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—The war department has directed Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear to make a full factual report on his order disciplining troops who yoo-hooed at girl golfers at Memphis, Tenn.

Gen. Richardson.

Maj. Gen. Robert C. Richardson Jr., head of the war department's public relations division, told reporters that the 2d army commander had been called on for a "statement of fact of his side of the case," in accord with a policy not to prejudge a case.

Gen. Lear required the soldiers to make a long march, part of it afoot, as punishment for their behavior.

Discipline Up to Commander.

Gen. Richardson noted that discipline is "a function of command" and said every commander handles those things in a different way."

"The regulations can be interpreted in various ways," Gen. Richardson said. "Measures of discipline are up to the judgment of the commanding officer. What should be done depends on circumstances and one cannot decide unless he is right there."

Asks House Investigation.

Representative W. F. Norrell [D., Ark.] saying he had just been advised that Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear "still is on the golf links," suggested in the house today that congress demand an investigation of the general's action in disciplining the troops.

"He is not the kind of general we need, standing on the brink of war," Norrell said. "He apparently is engaged all the time in playing golf. Congress ought to call for an investigation."

Gets U. S. Approval

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—The state department has granted permission to Johannes Borchers, German consul general in New York City, and Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, German consul general at San Francisco, to proceed across the Pacific to Japan.

All other German consular officials, employés, and employés of official Nazi organizations are to sail from New York July 15 for Lisbon, en route to Germany, aboard the West Point, formerly the liner America.

Borchers and Wiedemann were granted permission to go to Japan, it was learned authoritatively tonight, in exchange for the German government's permission for several American consular officers, also ordered to leave Germany and German occupied areas, to proceed to Turkey.

The Borchers arrived in San Francisco by United Air Lines from New York tonight.

3 COOK COUNTY KILLERS AMONG NEW PAROLEES

Three Cook county murderers are included in the 221 inmates of Illinois penal institutions granted paroles last month by the state parole board. Names of those paroled were released yesterday.

James Klioris as he appeared in 1919.

The murderers now set free are James Klioris, one time wealthy grocer, who served 21 years; William Henley, who was in prison nearly 24 years, and Frank Biga, who went to prison 21 years ago when he was 17 years old.

Of the 425 parole applications appearing on the June docket, paroles were denied in 179 cases. The other cases were continued.

NAZI CONSUL'S STAFF LEAVES CITY FOR HOME

Members of the Chicago German consulate, who vacated their quarters Wednesday, a day ahead of the state department deadline, were on the way to New York last night.

Dr. Wilhelm Freidel, chancellor, turned over keys to the office late Wednesday to William O. Trainer, manager of the 333 North Michigan avenue building, where the staff has had quarters for 10 years. Trainer said Dr. Freidel told him the staff members would sail for Lisbon, Portugal, on the S. S. George Washington next Thursday, and were to return to their homes in Germany. Office furniture and equipment, however, was placed in storage here.

Dr. Freidel made arrangements for the staff's departure in the absence of Dr. Emil L. Baer, consul general, who has been in a hospital here for some time. It was expected that Dr. Baer will not follow his staff for several weeks.

WHY SHOULD BABIES, AND GROWN-UPS TOO- EAT QUAKER OATS DAILY?

ANSWER: Because whole-grain oatmeal is Nature's richest thrifty source of THIAMIN (Vit. B1)—needed for normal growth, appetite, digestion—for sound nerves—for radiant energy! Because Quaker Oats is rich in PROTEINS, needed for building firm flesh (not fat), trim, streamlined bodies.

AID TO CHILDREN TO BE EXPANDED FOURFOLD OCT. 1

Bureau Prepares to Help 7,000 County Families.

The Cook county bureau of public welfare is preparing to expand its aid to dependent childen fourfold on Oct. 1 when the new ADC law goes into effect, Joseph L. Moss, bureau director, said yesterday.

Heretofore, the bureau has had approximately $1,000,000 a year to spend in relief work for dependent children. About 1,800 families were assisted. Under the law recently adopted by the legislature, $4,000,000 will be available for such work in the county and 7,000 families can be aided.

U. S. and State to Pay.

The state and federal governments will divide the expense—about $8,000,000 a year for the entire state. In the past, the county has paid three-fourths of the cost and the state the remainder.

Moss said the effect of the new law will be to expand the operations of the mothers' pension system. The system provides that any child under 16 years of age—or 18 if enrolled in school—whose parent or guardian is unable to provide for him, is eligible.

12,000 Families Eligible.

Leo M. Lyons, director of the Chicago Relief administration, said approximately 12,000 families in Chicago could qualify to receive dependent children aid. While the new program will effect a reduction in the relief roll, Lyons said he was unable to estimate the extent of the cut. This is because many families not eligible for relief can qualify for children's aid.

Mrs. Clara Paul Paige will supervise the administering of the funds, according to Moss. The offices will be in the quarters of the welfare bureau in the Merchandise Mart.

Green Backs $1,750,000 Highway Project at Peru

Springfield, Ill., July 10 (AP).—Support of Gov. Dwight Green and state highway officials was sought today by a La Salle county delegation for a proposed $1,750,000 project involving the rerouting of U. S. highway 51 and construction of a new bridge over the Illinois river at Peru. Henry J. Brock, Peru city engineer who headed the delegation, said Gov. Green assured the group he would coöperate in seeking federal aid in carrying out the project.

Traffic Signs Create Motoring Problem

DO NOT ENTER ONE WAY STREET SOUTH BOUND ONLY CITY OF CHICAGO

Double Talk

Motorists traveling in 50th street yesterday were confronted with a mystery when they arrived at the Dorchester avenue intersection. Those driving west saw a sign at the northeast corner saying that Dorchester was a one way street "southbound only." Those headed east were notified by another sign at the northwest corner, stating that Dorchester was a one way street "northbound only."

The mystery of this double talk was still unsolved last night. The Hyde Park police said they had never been told Dorchester was a one way lane. Motorists continued to use the avenue as a two way lane. But the two signs remained unaltered.

Park district workmen equipped with hydraulic drills yesterday began tearing down the four concrete supports to the 23d street viaduct that divided traffic on Columbus drive, creating a motoring hazard.

The work started a week ago when steel beams were set in position to support the weight of the bridge on a single span, making the concrete pillars no longer necessary. The 23d street viaduct is the only one on the drive that has been supported on center piers. Park officials said the work probably will be completed in three weeks.

During slack traffic hours, automobiles are being detoured around the site, but the drive is opened under the viaduct for the afternoon rush hours.

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED! STATE STREET REPORTS

Looks Back 27 Years for Contrasts.

The State Street council in its annual report yesterday disclosed some changing habits of Chicagoans in the last quarter of a century.

Chicagoans today drive 28 times as many automobiles as they did in 1913. They have 60 times as many taxicabs to hail, and three times as many telephones. Their bus riding since 1913 has increased 14 fold, and riding on suburban railroads has doubled.

Nearly 800,000 more newspapers a day are read now than 27 years ago. Chicago movie houses can seat twice as many patrons. Chicagoans own 930,000 radios and can take their pick of 15 Chicago broadcasting stations—facilities that were nonexistent a quarter of a century ago.

Horses Drop Sharply.

On the other hand, the use of horsedrawn "trucks" is definitely fading out—from 47,990 in 1915 to 1,403 at present. Riding the elevated lines also is less popular—the "L" rang up 40,000 fewer fares a day last year than in 1913. The surface lines, however, are carrying 140,000 more riders a day now than 27 years ago.

Downtown automobile parking lots have boosted their capacity only threefold in 27 years, or about one-ninth as much as the increase in automobiles.

As for transportation service in and out of Chicago, last year there were 151 airplanes operating daily, compared with none in 1913. Intercity buses have increased from 11 daily in 1913 to 287. There are fewer steam trains running to and from Chicago, but they carry 60,000 more passengers daily now than before.

Two Big Problems.

The council's report, by David Mayer Jr. and Frederick D. Corley, president and chairman respectively in 1940, said that two major civic problems give promise of solution in the near future. The problems cited were traffic control, and general improvement in the physical appearance of the State street area.

Corley said the nearly completed State street subway will be the backbone for attacking traffic control and that cleanup campaigns and agitation for smoke abatement are improving State street's appearance.

NORTH CENTRAL COLLEGE HALL SWEPT BY FIRE

Damage estimated at $25,000 was caused yesterday when fire swept Old Main, the administration building on the North Central college campus at Naperville, after the building had been struck by lightning. The roof and two upper floors of the four story limestone building, built in 1890, were burned out and the lower floors sustained water damage. An Aurora fire company and the Kroehler Manufacturing company volunteer brigade assisted Naperville firemen. Scientific equipment valued at $5,000 was counted in the loss.

Save Our Republic

THE AMERICANS IN ICELAND.

Mr. Churchill, speaking in parliament of the American expedition to Iceland, corrects a false impression which had prevailed here, where it was understood that British troops were withdrawing and Americans were taking over the place. We knew that Mr. Roosevelt had advanced to within about 600 miles of German guns and into the war zone where air and sea raiders could be expected. We thought that the British lines were being taken over by the Americans but it seems to be otherwise.

"We still propose to retain our army in Iceland," said Mr. Churchill, "and as the British and the United States forces will both have the same object in view, namely, the defense of Iceland, it seems very likely that they will coöperate effectively in resistance to any attempt of Hitler to gain a footing." So, at last, Mr. Roosevelt, contrary to all his promises, has an American expeditionary force allied with a British force defending a position which is as much in the field of military operations as Crete or Libya. The Germans may not be able to attack it as they did Crete, altho the temptation to do so must be very great.

When Mr. Roosevelt announced to congress that he had occupied Iceland he said he had done so "in order to supplement and eventually to replace the British forces which have until now been stationed in Iceland in order to insure the adequate defense of that country."

Mr. Churchill says nothing of replacement of the British troops. He speaks of their collaboration with the Americans. He says that "looking at it from every point of view I have been unable to find any reason for regretting the step which the United States has taken."

The British prime minister has not overstated his lack of regret. We understood that the British troops were imperatively needed elsewhere. Apparently not. The Americans did not enter to supplant a defensive force and to guard the American coast. They were sent into the British zone of defense and are within striking distance of Europe.

NO HURRY.

Stories come out of Washington almost daily telling about the need for more aluminum—the basic warplane material. However, those in charge of the defenses are in no real hurry about stepping up output. It is difficult to see how any one who examines the facts can reach any other conclusion.

Aluminum is largely produced in plants located in the Tennessee valley. There bauxite, imported from Dutch Guiana, is converted into the metal which is now so badly needed. Four pounds of bauxite make one pound of aluminum by the use of 10 kilowatt hours.

To make more aluminum you need more plant capacity, more bauxite, and more electric power. There is additional capacity in the aluminum plants in the southeast, and there is plenty of bauxite. The missing element is the extra power. The idea of TVA, as has been said, was to "make two bulbs of glass glow where one glowed before"—to bring industry to the south. The authority was so enthusiastic about its dams that it sold power short, and now is unable to deliver. And housewives are asked to turn off the lights and there is a blackout in many of the southern cities. Despite such reductions in power use, the aluminum plants still cannot get what they need.

The Aluminum Corporation of America became aware of the situation some time ago and sought to supplement its power source by development of the Fontana power project on the Little Tennessee river in North Carolina. The development was held up by bickering between the Aluminum corporation and the government. Alcoa wanted an assurance that if it invested 45 or 50 million dollars in the development, TVA wouldn't come along and seize the property without compensation. Secretary of the Interior Ickes saw and seized an opportunity to call the aluminum concern some bad names. Ickes personally cut aluminum output for a time by denying power to Alcoa for its Arkansas plant because he said it is a monopoly and he doesn't like monopolies. But now all is peaceful between the government and Alcoa; the latter, in cooperation with TVA, is going to develop the water site—with government money, however. Power enough to produce 100 million pounds of aluminum is going to be available when the project is completed.

But it is going to be a long time before the project can be completed. At a time when a power shortage is restricting the output of aluminum, more power is being sought by the long and hard way. There is an abundance of coal and plenty of water for steam in the vicinity. A steam plant can be built in a fraction of the time required for a hydro plant, at a fraction of the initial cost. If the government and the aluminum company wanted to produce that extra hundred million pounds quickly, they would construct a steam plant. That could be done while surveys were still being made and land acquired for a hydro project.

The government asks the people to turn in old aluminum pots and pans, but continues to place orders for aluminum water pitchers. It wants increased output of aluminum, but goes the long way about to get it. What are the real facts about the material shortages?

THIS EXTRAORDINARY BAD FAITH.

The drafted men were taken under the selective service act, which stipulated that they should be called for a year's training and should not be sent on foreign duty. That, as many congressmen are ready to admit, was a contract with the young men of the country.

When the National Guard was called out last August it was for a year's training as stipulated by congressional resolution. The men accepted the call to duty with that understanding. For many of them—no doubt for the majority of them—many personal sacrifices were required. Now it is proposed by the administration to break faith with the Guard and the drafted men and keep them in the service for a longer, if not indefinite, period.

Mr. Roosevelt has indicated that this breach of faith has his approval. Gen. Marshall, the chief of staff, has recommended it as a military measure and congress is approached to obtain the necessary amending legislation. Many of the congressmen do not like the proposal and many of them will have good reason for not wanting to put the stamp of their approval upon it.

For national defense, the original plan, altho obviously intended for political and not military reasons—to arouse the war spirit and not to provide the proper army—might have been in part defended. Military men knew that a modern army could not be produced by a year's training of National Guardsmen and conscripts, particularly under the conditions which would prevail owing to lack of equipment. They knew that for the defense of the country a much smaller force of volunteers, perfectly supplied and trained in long term enlistments, was a proper instrument. For a great expeditionary force, millions of men raised by conscription and retained for duration would be required.

All the promises of Mr. Roosevelt and his administration to the American people are now at the breaking point, but the double dealing with the men called from civilian life under specific terms of service is the more extraordinary when it is considered that Canada and Australia have no draft for overseas duty and that South African troops are not used out of Africa.

Canada and Australia require an unburdensome short term service for home guards but they have no overseas conscripts. Yet the United States, having pledged itself to the men it has called from their homes and their business, proposes to raise an army for foreign service by breaking faith with the men it enrolled. This proposal stigmatizes itself.

NARROW ROADS.

The inadequacy of many of the arterial highways leading into Chicago was established again in a comprehensive survey conducted on July 6. Mr. Hal Foust viewed the roads from an airplane and later drove over many of them in an automobile to check his observations.

What Mr. Foust found, as reported the other day in THE TRIBUNE, can hardly have astonished any Chicago motorist. Traffic flows with reasonable ease over the four-lane highways in the city and the near-by suburban areas but for the most part the wider roads do not reach far enough into the country. The result is that beyond the four-lane sections there is severe congestion and a high accident rate—both of which could be prevented at relatively little expense.

The congestion at the close of the July 4 weekend may have been a little greater than usual on a pleasant Sunday but not much greater. The fact is that the number of automobiles owned in this vicinity is increasing with great rapidity and there is every reason to expect that the growth will continue for many years to come. That means that the volume of holiday traffic today will be the normal for Sundays of the near future and quite likely the normal for weekdays a few years hence. Indeed, it is not necessary to project the curve of road-use into the future to establish the inadequacy of present facilities; almost any motorist of this region can tell of troublesome and costly delays encountered on ordinary week-days beyond the four-lane zone.

The recently enacted law permitting the construction of toll roads in Cook county will prove of only limited value if the connections to the toll roads are not widened thru the metropolitan area well beyond the Fox river on the west and for corresponding distances in other directions.

As has often been pointed out, far more than half of the automobiles owned in the state are to be found in Cook county and the counties immediately surrounding it. The motorists of the northeastern corner of the state contribute much more than half of the total of the state's road-building fund. Construction of needed improvements in this area yields a large return to the state in increased gasoline taxes, a result which does not follow the building of little-used roads in sparsely settled districts.

The present four-lane roads were constructed after a long and intensive campaign by THE TRIBUNE. They produced the expected relief of congestion and some improvement in the accident rates. The work is far from finished. There are still many narrow roads which must be widened to meet present and future needs. It is to be hoped that in the state highway program the needs of the metropolitan area will be given the priority they plainly are entitled to.

Editorial of the Day

ANOTHER AEF, EH?

[From the New York Daily News.]

Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell last week said at Cairo that another AEF would be needed eventually if Britain and the United States were to beat Hitler.

At Cairo day before yesterday, Lieut. Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, replacing Wavell in the British middle east command, said the same thing, with somewhat more forcefulness than Wavell had shown.

Generals do not say such things spontaneously on meeting up with correspondents in some bar. When they make remarks like these for publication, they have been instructed by those in authority over them to do so.

Which means that this is Winston Churchill speaking, tho Wavell and Auchinleck are saying the words.

Churchill obviously wants another AEF, and feels that Britain cannot score a decisive victory without one.

And, tho about 75 per cent of Americans, according to the polls being carefully and scientifically conducted by this paper and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, oppose an AEF II., our administration apparently is stringing along with Churchill in this effort to induce Americans finally to consent to another AEF.

Partisanship is the quality that lowers your blood pressure when you discover that the person practicing on a bugle is a kid you like.—Akron Beacon Journal.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

FROM THE BOOK OF WORDS.

It is likely that not one Chicagoan in a million ever looked up this city's name in an unabridged dictionary. Such a bit of research would seem, at first glance, to be quite pointless for the natives. Yet surprises are waiting for you on page 463 of the big, new Webster, which we came across by accident. There are nine entries; and assuming that most of you do not own this massive volume, we will communicate our findings:

Chicago: A game of cards. See Newmarket. Following this reference, one finds that Chicago is a form of the game called Pope Joan, without the pope. The rules are given.

Chicago: [Card playing]. To prevent the adversaries from scoring; to whitewash.

Chicago, Lake: [Geology]. See pleistocene lakes. No need to bog down in these prehistoric bodies of water, but you might be interested to know that one of the sandbars of old Lake Chicago passes thru Wrigley field.

Chicagoan: A native or inhabitant of Chicago.

Chicago Fire: The great fire of Chicago, Oct. 8-10, 1871, which destroyed about one-third of the city [about 18,000 buildings].

Chicago method: See poling-board method. [It's a way of digging a well.]

Chicago pool: A variety of rotation pool in which, at the start of play, the object balls are placed around the table, against the cushions, in numerical order.

Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition: See exposition.

Chicago-Lambeth Quadrilateral: See Lambeth Quadrilateral. [The summary of a basis for the reunion of Christendom, which originated at a general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, held in Chicago in 1886.]

New York runs neck-and-neck with Chicago in number of entries, but the items are less interesting. They lean toward natural history; for example, New York aster, fern, ironweed, plaice, weasel, and weevil.

THE RED-BROWN ROAD.

The red-brown road is distant far
From turbid city streets;
Upon its cool, sequestered aisles
No glaring noontide beats.
Begirt by slopes of pink and gold,
And arched by fronds of green,
It winds its way, then runs astray
To view the river's sheen.

It welcomes home the fretted soul
Of him who comes again
To find surcease from petty quests
Amid the hives of men.
The torture of a thousand cares
No more exists for him
Who wanders as a joyous boy
Beside the river's rim.

The red-brown road, the orchard lands,
The river, proudly free,
The daisy field of goodly gold,
The warbler's minstrelsy—
They bring lost voices back to earth,
They make us dream anew;
But ah! we lack the oldtime grace
To make those dreams come true!

Thomas Curtis Clark.

Chicago's Major Points of Interest.

A teacher in an Indiana high school [junior] brought 60 students to Chicago recently for an educational tour. After the trip they wrote themes on their observations. Most of them were particularly impressed by the following items, in the following order:

1. The awnings on Yellow taxicabs.
2. The sea-horses in the aquarium.
3. A grouchy elevator man in the Civic Opera building.

Portrait on the Stairway.

Blanche McManus, who painted the portrait of Mrs. Lincoln J. Carter which has hung on the stairway of the Auditorium hotel for many years, is a talented artist who at last report lived in Paris. Her only efforts at portrait painting took place in Chicago prior to 1903. Born at East Feliciana, La., in 1870, she was educated in New Orleans and studied art in Chicago. In 1903 she went to Paris to continue her art studies. She gained fame as an illustrator and as a decorator. Most of the books which contained her illustrations were published in London and Paris and quickly became rare collector's items. She is the author of two books, "Our French Cousins" and "The American Woman Abroad."

A CITY-BRED CHILD.

Think twice before you turn to scold,
Remember that he is not "bold." . . .
Remember when he walks upon
Your newly trimmed and tidied lawn,
His little feet were meant to roam
Across a field of rich, black loam.
Remember when he picks your flowers
And mars your fragrant, well kept bowers,
His little hands were meant to know
The joy of making gardens grow. . . .
Remember that he means no harm;
Small boys should live upon a farm.

Progress in Journalism.

The New York newspaper called PM, which refuses to accept advertising in order to devote itself to the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, came out on June 19 with a headline which told the world:

"Nazi-Russian War Talk Is All a Lot of Bunk."

Browsing thru John Evelyn's Diary I came across this:

"London, May 11, 1654. I now observed how the women began to paint themselves, formerly a most ignominious thing."

KEEP THE BLOOD FACTORIES ON THE JOB.

FEW of us realize how dependent we are upon our blood cells. We need them not only to fight bacteria but to dispatch oxygen to every remote atom of tissue. In consequence, we must always maintain them at par. Nevertheless, anemia may creep upon us so stealthily that before we realize what has happened, the circulation will be substandard. This accounts for "that tired feeling" which may hang on a good part of the time.

Let us suppose that anemia is suspected. A count of both the red and white cells is made and the hemoglobin [coloring matter] is checked. If trouble is discovered, the cause may lie in the failure of the patient to obtain an adequate diet. We must not forget that red meat furnishes both iron and the anti-anemic principle. Eggs and green leafy vegetables are likewise helpful. If a poor appetite is to blame, generous quantities of B complex or a mild tonic are advised.

The quantity of hydrochloric acid in the gastric juice must also be tested. Should the percentage be insufficient or wholly lacking, it is easy to replace by taking small doses of a proper solution. The preparation must not be allowed to touch the teeth as it will injure the enamel. Curiously enough, a sore mouth or tongue may point to the absence of this substance.

After all, iron is our most common deficiency and one doesn't need to have a hemorrhage in order to show too low a level. Tiny daily losses, such as may occur from hemorrhoids, may be responsible for a serious drain. Vegetarians, and all who consume little or no meat, must watch their intake. There is no danger of an overdose because, if too much is ingested, the excess will be excreted promptly.

When the metal is prescribed there will be no danger of staining the teeth if it is administered in tablet form or in capsules. The old fashioned Blaud pill is still a valuable remedy. In this connection, we must not forget that a minimal amount of copper aids assimilation. In fact, about one one-hundreth of a grain of copper sulfate may be added to each dose of an iron salt.

Pernicious anemia, on the other hand, is quite another problem. Here the cells have plenty of hemoglobin but their number is too small. The important thing is to stimulate the blood forming depots and persuade them to produce more. Fortunately, this can be accomplished thru the employment of liver which may be taken at mealtime—broiled or cooked in almost any fashion. It is possible to manufacture at home an extract which will contain all the necessary ingredients. Excellent results are also obtained by feeding the dried, powdered stomach of swine, which may be taken in soup or milk.

For immediate absorption and a quick response, liver extract may be injected into the muscles. Many a patient can be kept in excellent health with a single injection every two weeks.

The least we can do is to make certain that there are no undue blood drains or leaks. We call this element "vital fluid" and that is exactly what it is—essential to life. We must provide enough nutriment to furnish the factories with the raw materials for the production of new cells. As long as life exists we will be engaged constantly in destroying old erythrocytes [red cells], and equally as industriously, we will be manufacturing new ones.

It has been variously estimated that each corpuscle lives only about 25 days, which means that the circulation must be regenerated at least 12 times each year. But we can't do the job well unless good meals are available, with fair digestion and efficient absorption.

When we can get out-of-doors, exercise, and expose the body to sunlight, we stir up dormant forces of health and thus aid the blood-forming organs.

BACK PAIN.

S. D. writes: What is sacroiliac trouble?

REPLY.

An immovable joint is present in the pelvis—where the sacrum fits against the ileum. Irritation and strain in this area may give rise to pain. Arthritis is a common offender.

BETTER WITH AGE?

A. J. writes: Does nearsightedness improve with age?

REPLY.

Sometimes—in the later decades. On the other hand, certain cases become worse. The whole matter depends upon the shape of the eyeball.

GREAT SOVIET MAN POWER.

Chicago, July 8.—I remember a morning in Belchite, Spain, March 10, 1938, when 600 pieces of German-Italian artillery opened fire on the hastily dug positions of the Abraham Lincoln brigade. Then, as if sprung from their fields by the artillerymen's lanyards came 300 planes, in never ending waves. On our right and left flanks appeared several squadrons of enemy cavalry and in a frontal assault came a host of German and Italian tanks.

To resist this assault we had three Russian 37 mm. anti-tank guns, three Russian medium weight tanks, and somewhat less than two thousand infantrymen armed with Russian rifles, machine guns, and hand bombs.

At dusk that night this huge Fascist onslaught had succeeded in pushing us only to the heights above Belchite!

It is, therefore, amusing to me to try to imagine Hitler being able to equip any army able to drive the Red army back for a distance of 400 miles at a rate of over 50 miles a day.

When the truth finally appears thru the fog of Hitler propaganda, it will be learned by the American people what I already know: that the soviets are putting up the same sort of fight that the Spanish people did—only this time Hitler will not only meet courage and determination, but also inexhaustible man power, mechanized to the highest degree.

EDWARD PALEGA.

CALL FOR ALD. ROWAN.

Chicago, July 8.—We have a situation in our block on Kingston avenue, which is not quite as important or costly as the European war; but when we try to remedy the condition we are faced with obstacles that would make the war look insignificant.

There is a hole in the pavement [not a shell hole, but almost as big], that has been there for several years. Of course, we have been fortunate so far in that the only casualties have been broken springs or blown tires, but we greatly fear that sometime in the near future our beloved Ald. Rowan will see fit to venture down our street and we fear for his safety. He has been notified on three occasions regarding the condition of the street but we have been unable to get any action. Possibly we have made the mistake of not waiting for an election year.

Could you arrange to have the alderman leave the ladies at the bar situation long enough to take a trip down the 9000 block on Kingston avenue?

THOMAS J. CARLAN.

THE RADIO IN FLATS.

Chicago, July 5.—Apartment leases contain this clause: "Lessee shall not permit radios to disturb the neighborhood or occupants of the building at any time, and in no event shall they be played between the hours of 11 p. m. and 8 a. m." Managers of buildings should stress this clause when renting.

I live on the first floor in a five room three flat building. The tenants on the second floor turn on the radio with breakfast for the day, with volume enough to cover their entire apartment while doing the day's work and even using the vacuum sweeper. Very few apartments have soundproof floors and open windows in summer make it worse.

This is the annoyance of just one radio. I should be a "total wreck" with a blitzkrieg. ANTI-NOISE.

MOVIE PROPAGANDA.

Chicago, July 7. — Moviegoers are you staying at home from the movies? Yes, you are, even as I am. Magnates wonder why—yet the answer is obvious. Patrons are sick of propaganda films. What a welter of them has cursed the movie bill of fare! No film seems free from becoming a vehicle for the propaganda of hate, fear, and war. Every possible situation is dragged in—flag-waving, prolonged dissertations on "democracy," "freedom of our way of life," with their permanents and exaggerated eyelashes—ad infinitum, until we rise in disgust from our movie seats, never to return.

Well, we have our autos, and the radio has not entirely succumbed to propaganda. Some newspapers still cling to the constitution of the United States, and believe in the farewell address of George Washington, among them THE TRIBUNE. We can stay home and read.

A wonderful medium of entertainment, recreation, and escape before the war hysteria—how they have fallen!

C. J. HARRISON.

TAX SCHEDULE EXPEDITED.

Chicago, July 7.—For some years, like most Chicagoans, I have spent time and legal fees working out our personal property assessment. This year we tried a new method of filing our schedule. We went to the assessor's office and got their coöperation and aid without one penny of cost to us, with the result that we are well satisfied. I believe very few attorneys, let alone business men, know that is the best procedure.

I heartily commend the assessor and his personnel for the manner in which they assisted our filing of the schedule.

HIS DUTY IN THE PREMISES?

Elkhart, Ind., June 28.—It is difficult to reconcile myself to the latest demand that we eat less butter and eggs and drink less milk so as to enable us to send these products to Britain. As the father of three fine young growing daughters is it my duty in the true sense of democracy and Americanism that I should feed my children oleomargarine, no eggs, and watered milk, so that the British can secure this nourishment?

I remain with an earnest desire to keep the Stars and Stripes of freedom at full mast always. W. R. O.

HIS ADVICE TO EDITORS.

Aurora, Ill., July 8.—History does not repeat itself. Cannot you, as supposedly educated journalists, comprehend that simple fact. Every event in history has its own interpretation; in other words, the historical analogy is the most glaring fallacy in a logical interpretation of history.

Your job is to assist those people who have less education than you yourself have. Please assist them to a correct understanding of history.

Do not lead them to believe that what Washington said in his farewell address 150 years ago is applicable today. Do not instruct them that the "desert of dictatorship" in 1776 was the same as that desert today. Do not dare to compare 1917 with 1941. Hitler did not exist then.

As a free press try to keep yourself free. Please educate the people that Adolf Hitler is a real and dangerous menace! R. GABLE.

FARCE TO ASK UNITY NOW.

Davenport, Ia., July 8.—Today's editorial, "Convoys Mean Shooting," is excellent. We wonder if F. D. R. is working for Britain, rather than the U. S. A., with 75 per cent of our armament production going to Britain and other allies.

Asking for "unity" and expecting it under the above conditions is a farce.

Now with the move into Iceland we are closer to the operations of the war.

DAMAGE SUIT.

Chicago, July 3.—[Legal Friend of the People]—1. Is there any way of checking on whether a suit for damages has been filed?

2. How can one determine how long it will take for a case to be called? Please tell me how to go about checking this.

E. M.

1. Under the present Illinois practice act such a suit should be brought where the transaction took place or where the defendant resides. If either of these was in Chicago, then you can start by examining the records of the Municipal, Circuit, and Superior courts.

2. Depends on the court, the calendar, whether there is a jury demand, and other facts that are not before us.

Paid Companion

By Elizabeth York Miller

[Copyright: 1941: By Elizabeth York Miller]

SYNOPSIS.

Orphaned since childhood, Celia Ames, 22, has no one to whom she can turn when she loses her job. In her loneliness she has fallen in love with ingratiating Val Quentin, a fellow boarder, who is always borrowing money from her. She runs into Felicity Stanmore, four years her junior, whom she mothered in convent days. Felicity's mother is dead and her father, Sir Martin, is 39, handsome and rich. Felicity invites Celia to their home for the week-end and confides to her that she is in love. The man turns out to be Val, and Celia finds that he has bought Felicity a ring with money he got from pawning Celia's jewelry. Sir Martin does not like Val and asks Celia to come live with them as Felicity's companion and help run the household during Felicity's Aunt May Allison's absence. Celia accepts. Miss Allison, jealous of Felicity's love for Celia, has made things as difficult for Celia as possible. Then, too, altho Celia is now cured of her love for Val, she is forced to warn Felicity against him, and Felicity thinks Celia is just jealous. Celia finds herself falling in love with Sir Martin and wanting to live up to his trust in her but at the same time she does not want to tell tales on Felicity. At a cabaret party Sir Martin learns that Val is divorced and living on money from his ex-wife. He forbids Val his house and is furious at Celia for not telling him. Felicity, rebellious, disappears, and Celia frantically follows and finds her on board a train en route to meet Val in Paris. But just as she finds her, Celia stumbles and sprains her ankle badly. As a last desperate effort to stop the elopement Celia tells Felicity about Val pawning her jewelry. Felicity, convinced he is no good, throws his ring away and goes back home.

INSTALLMENT XXIX.

GOOD NEWS.

Celia unpacked her toilet things and didn't feel she could get any further.

For the gas meter in this luxury suite you had to use sixpences and shillings, and she had no money at all. The atmosphere was dank and sulphurous.

Obviously nobody had occupied the place for some time. Perhaps it would be better to go straight to bed, and that meant first stripping the divan, which was attired in its daytime camouflage of cretonne and hard dingy cushions.

Miss Best bustled in.

"Dear me, I don't think they've aired this room." She threw open a window and let in a gust of Kensington fog, which as everybody knows is the best brand London can offer. Hastily she shut it again.

"I believe we're in for an old-fashioned 'particular.' Have you got a shilling for the meter? You'd better have the fire on."

"I'm afraid I haven't any change," said Celia.

Miss Best produced a coin from her cardigan pocket and popped it in.

"O, yes," she said, "and here's a letter for you. It came a few days ago and I'm sorry to say Mr. Parker mislaid it."

Miss Best slapped an envelope onto the sideboard, and Celia regarded it indifferently. What troubled her most at the moment was that she owed Miss Best a shilling and could not offer immediately to repay the trifling loan. It's the little things of this world that get you down.

* * *

For a while after the manageress had left her, she sat disconsolate on the divan disregarding the doctor's orders about keeping her foot up, and the foot itself failed to remind her. Curious how one form of pain will drive out another.

Well, she might as well have a look at the letter.

It was a long white envelope with the address typewritten. As a matter of fact, it looked important, which was more than could be said for the bulk of Celia Ames' correspondence.

She opened it and drew out a typewritten sheet with a check attached by a paper clip, and with one swift, excited glance took in the amount and the signature. The check was made out for the round sum of 95 pounds, and the letter was signed, P. M. Grunden.

Mr. Grunden was the secretary of the trust company which had handled the modest capital left to Celia by her parents. It had been five years since there had been any occasion for her to hear from him, altho she had been asked to keep the company informed of any change of address.

"Dear Miss Ames:

"You may remember a parcel of shares held by us for you in the Utopia Lime company, which practically collapsed some years ago. This company has now been refloated and amalgamated with Soapstone Limited. The sum of 100 pounds was offered us for your 25 shares, or the option of transferring them to the new company. In Mr. Long's opinion it was strongly advisable to accept the cash offer, and we have done so without consulting you, since the matter is within our discretion.

"Should you, however, wish to reinvest this sum, we will be happy to give you the benefit of our advice.

"I have great pleasure in enclosing our check for 95 pounds, which represents the sum coming to you after deducting our commission.

"I am, very truly yours, P. M. Grunden."

Celia was pretty well stunned, as well she might be. Five years ago Mr. Long had told her that Utopia Lime was not worth the beautifully engraved paper it was printed on. Nevertheless, apparently he had hung on to those shares, altho it would seem that their sudden boom had failed to inspire him with confidence in the reformed company.

Celia stared at the check with dazed eyes, and re-read Mr. Grunden's letter three times.

It was almost unbelievable that such a thing could happen and at this particular moment. Truly, God had not forgotten her. His abundance was overwhelming.

She began to cry. The tears simply rolled down her cheeks.

Suddenly the fog became a friendly thing, shutting her in with the cosy warmth of the gas fire, which she could afford to burn all night if she felt like it.

Lyddy appeared with a vase of daffodils.

"Mrs. Maxton's compliments, and she'd like you to have these, and she's very glad you're back. And I'm glad, too, Miss Ames."

Lyddy deftly stripped the divan and pushed a hot water bottle between the sheets.

"Miss Best says you'll be having your supper upstairs tonight. Did you have an accident on your holiday, miss?"

"Yes," said Celia, "I had several."

"O dear! 'Skying', were you? I 'eard that Mr. Quentin is going to Switzerland. I expect he'll be 'skying' and all the rest of it."

Celia found she could laugh.

"I expect he will. No, I haven't been going in for winter sports, Lyddy. Nothing so romantic. And in a couple of ticks I won't even know, myself, that anything happened to me at all."

* * *

All the same, tho Celia's ankle mended more rapidly than had been predicted, her other injuries were slow to heal.

But Get Fit was the first order of the new régime. And while she was getting fit she got some new clothes, too.

Indeed, it required a lot of self-discipline not to run riot in the matter of raiment. There were so many things she needed, and so many more things she wanted, and those she wanted seemed infinitely harder to withstand than the mere necessities.

Inside the week that sizeable check had been cut in half. It certainly was time now to call a halt, and also time to find cheaper quarters.

Miss Best thought there might be an attic room available in about a fortnight, but by then Celia supposed she would probably be going to Mrs. Ismalian, who still had not found a suitable nursery governess for her two bright little girls. And in the interim, Valentine Quentin might be coming back.

Miss Best looked down her nose and shook her head.

"No, Miss Ames, that is most unlikely. I don't think I am taking a liberty in telling you that Mr. Quentin is giving up his rooms. He is being married, I understand."

Celia gave such a start that Miss Best might easily misconstrue the reason for her obvious dismay.

"Not to Felicity Stanmore?" she cried. "O, surely not Felicity!"

"Why—er—no, Miss Ames. He's being married again to Mrs. Quentin, and I expect it's true because she called here a few days ago to make arrangements about having his furniture stored, and told me, herself. She's joining him somewhere abroad. I'm sorry if it upsets you."

Celia gasped with relief.

"Thank goodness! Just for a moment you had me frightened on Felicity's account. I haven't heard from her since I got back and I didn't know what might have happened."

Celia had written to all three of them at Leighton House, polite, friendly notes that would have passed nicely for bread-and-butter letters, but only Miss Allison had been polite enough to answer.

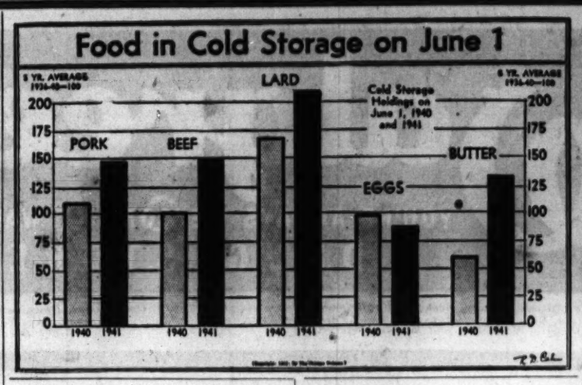
JAM AND JELLY MAKING IS WAY TO KITCHEN FUN

Few Cooking Projects Are More Satisfying.



It's jam and jelly making time. And few kitchen efforts bring more satisfaction and pleasure for the time and effort expended than does the making of luscious fruit jellies, jams, marmalades, preserves, and conserves.

It doesn't require elaborate equipment or lots of spare time to turn out these goodies, either. Even if you're a working girl with a closet sized kitchen, you can have your own home-made preserves with your morning toast and coffee.

If you've never tackled jelly or jam making before, here's what you'll need: A fairly large kettle, a jelly bag of cotton outing flannel; jelly glasses and paraffin or mason jars [for jams and preserves] with lids and rubber rings of self sealing rubbers. The jelly bag may be nothing more than a small well-laundered sugar or flour sack for your first experiments, but the special, more convenient jelly bag is easily made.

A Good Recipe Book.

In addition you'll need a good recipe book with complete directions. And that's where "Mary Meade's Best Jams and Jellies" comes in. This booklet contains 99 recipes for jams, jellies, preserves, marmalades, conserves, and fruit butters. It helps you diagnose the illness if something goes wrong with your batch of jelly [and that won't happen if you follow directions carefully]. It tells you which fruits contain enough pectin to make jelly; which ones are acid enough, gives you tests to pectin when you aren't sure. It tells you how to make a jelly bag and what to do with jelly that doesn't jell.

"Mary Meade's Best Jams and Jellies," tells you all this for 23 cents in stamps. You can get the booklet for 20 cents if you pick it up yourself at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or in the Tribune Tower lobby. If you send stamps for the booklet, address your request to Mary Meade.

If you want to can your surplus garden vegetables and fruits, or make pickles, consult Mary Meade's "Favorite Pickles and Relishes," [price 3 cents; 5 cents, by mail] or "Homemaker's Guide to Canning," [price 5 cents; 7 cents by mail].

WHY PRE-SOAK CLOTHES BEFORE PUTTING THEM IN THE WASHER?

Get Clothes Snowy White this No PRE-SOAK No RUB No BLEACH way

IT'S just old-fashioned to soak your clothes before you put them in the washer—they'll come sparkling clean without it.

Oxydol laundry soap's famous soaking action gets out dirt while the machine runs. Yes, OXYDOL dissolves dirt! In just ordinary running time things come out sparkling clean, washable colors bright as daisies. For today's Oxydol is extraordinary soap—with a rich extra ingredient.

So just tumble the clothes into the washer. Save yourself all the time and bother of pre-soaking. (Except for some unusual piece needing special treatment.) Let Oxydol soak out dirt—while the washer is running!

Don't even pre-soak collars and cuffs. Just wet worn-in dirt, take a minute to work in a little extra Oxydol, and throw right into the washer. Then see how amazingly even grimy spots come clean—without any rubbing.

And your wash is so white! You may want to use bleach for stains or unusual pieces, but you'll be delighted with the sparkling whiteness of your wash without bleach.

But use OXYDOL. It has a rich extra ingredient most soaps don't have. Procter & Gamble.

NO OTHER BREAD IN THE WORLD BRINGS YOU IN THIS AMAZING WAY VITAMINS WITH A TASTE —BECAUSE ONLY STAFF IS MADE UNDER THE EARLE PATENTED PROCESS

At Last! Sun-Ripened Wheat's True, Good Flavor—Thanks to the Earle Patented Process

Read this Amazing Story:—How a Mining Engineer's Curiosity Led to the Invention that Made Possible this Great New Benefit to Your Family!

HERE now is that utterly new and revolutionary kind of bread you have heard so much about. Different from any bread ever before known, many scientists believe it may influence profoundly the lives of millions. Because of its power to improve their physical and mental processes of life amazingly.

For this new bread brings the treasure-trove of life-giving elements, the rich hoard of vitamins and minerals with all the wealth of flavor Mother Nature amassed in each bursting grain of sun-ripened wheat. And, of the utmost importance, none of the bad outer, bitter, and indigestible, splintery "skin"!

Better Than Ordinary White Better Than "Whole Wheat"

Never before have you tasted bread like this. Here's aroma to make your mouth water—as fresh as the sight of fields of wind-rippled, sun-splashed wheat. Here's taste to delight you—even better than bread fresh-baked from wheat ground at the old mill on the creek. And a texture to melt in your mouth—as delicate and lacy and velvety of crumb as that of a blue-ribbon winning loaf at the State Fair.

That wheat can be one of man's finest natural foods—there is no question. But until now it has never been possible to give you ALL the rich benefits of wheat in a bread all people would eat. Or, fit for all people to eat!

A Mining Engineer Solves The Problem

Despite fortunes spent, no miller ever found, without losing precious vitamins and minerals, how to get rid of wheat's bad outer, bitter, and indigestible, splintery "skin." Then came this epochal and far-reaching discovery.

In the "flotation" process, which separates the dross from the gold of the hills, Theodore Earle, mining engineer and inventive genius, at last found the clue toward separating the bad from the gold of the plains.

First, scientists of a leading university set out to prove the new health values; milling and baking experts of the Continental Baking Company spent 6 months perfecting formulae; over $340,000 for new facilities. Then, came the development of Staff—a new bread better for health and flavor!

A Boon In Better Health, Better Nerves, Renewed Vitality

In England, to help combat the terrible nerve strain of blackout horror and correct the deficiencies of rationed food, all bread has been fortified artificially with Vitamin B_1. Over here, the strain increases daily. Food is not rationed, but millions of people in all walks of life, authorities on nutrition say, fail to get enough Vitamin B_1 alone for their best physical and mental health and vigor.

Let Staff remain in the toaster about 50% longer than white bread for perfect toast.

Actually, millions of people who now believe it their lot to feel "jittery," easily fagged out, may again experience the happiness of renewed vitality a more adequate diet provides.

No Other Bread In The World Like Staff

The only bread made under the Earle patents, you can tell Staff is a natural wheat bread by its golden wheat color. For Staff contains 4 times more natural Vitamin B_1; twice the natural minerals; and more protein than in many ordinary white breads.

Hence, for better meals, better health, better spirits, you are urged to serve Staff in your home. Note the amazing difference the good flavor of sun-ripened wheat makes. Get fresh Staff today—and "Eat Staff For Life." Serve it every day and take comfort in the knowledge that you have left no stone unturned to give your family this wonderful opportunity for better well-being that Staff affords.

HOME VEGETABLE TIME CUTS COSTS OF GOOD EATING

Cornucopia of Fruits Spills on Chicago.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

If you like to eat, this is your season. It's the time when lush green vegetables wear a "Homegrown" label; the time when fruits are plentiful and fruit salad plates blossom like spring posies on your dining table.

The plentiful fresh produce is at its cheapest while almost everything else in the food line has been gradually rising in price. Coffee, meats, eggs and many other items all cost you more now than they did a summer ago—but fruits and vegetables are as cheap as they are any summer.

Mostly from Home Gardens.

Out of all the vegetables spilled across the counters of Chicago's grocers the only ones that aren't largely supplied by nearby gardeners are eggplant and sweet potatoes, which come from the south; Cauliflower and iceberg lettuce hailing from the west. Little celery is grown in this state and Chicago's supply comes from nearby Michigan.

Some dry onions still come from Iowa and other points. Otherwise the vegetables you'll find on your grocer's shelves this week-end are all home grown. Even homegrown sweet corn is a Sunday dinner possibility—the first Illinois arrivals are now here.

Iceberg lettuce is slightly higher priced. Green beans are reasonable and there are plenty of other low priced salad greens—Big Boston head lettuce, leaf lettuce, romaine, chicory, escarole, and watercress. Most salads would be improved by a change of greens.

If your grocer is one of those who sells only the iceberg type of head lettuce and carries no other types of lettuce or salad greens to substitute for it you might put on a one-woman campaign to get him to add to the variety of his greens.

Cheap Since Early Season.

Most of these greens come from local areas and are exceedingly low priced right from the start of the season early in the spring. Some grocers won't bother with them because they're afraid we housewives won't buy them. So if you don't ask for leaf lettuce, chicory and other salad specials how can he know you'd like them?

I think you'll be pleased with what you find in the vegetable line at stores this week-end.

The fruit basket of the nation has upset right into the laps of Chicago homemakers. July is a month in which the preserving kettle is in constant use.

You can get almost any berry you can name some place in Chicago right now. Some of the less common varieties aren't generally available but one store or another among the fancy fruit marts will have them. Red and black raspberries are easiest of all to find. They come largely from Michigan now. Currants, gooseberries, blackberries, and dewberries are also fairly widely distributed.

Plums, Apricots Are Here.

It's the height of the plum and apricot season and prices on these fruits are reasonable. Peaches are cheaper and supplies are rather heavier. Hiley Belles [a freestone variety] are here, and Elberta freestones should be around within the next week.

Melons will soon move up to the front of the bargain fruit counter. There's a steady downward trend in melon prices, tho there is also a great deal of variation in quality and corresponding price levels in both watermelons and cantaloupe. Best quality cantaloupe is a little higher this week. The best cantaloupes come from around Phoenix, Ariz., at present. Indiana cantaloupe have turned up in Chicago for the first time this season. Rains have affected watermelon quality and the best now comes from Texas.

New apples are now very reasonable. These early Transparents are excellent pie and sauce makers, and are suitable for jelly making. If they go into your jelly kettle, their chief use probably will be in combination with other less pectin-rich fruits. California seedless grapes are somewhat lower this week, tho it's still too early in the season for them to be bargain priced.

Bargain in Leg of Lamb.

The good bargain in leg of lamb, predicted in this column last week, has already arrived. Lamb legs, pork loin roasts from the rib end, rib roasts, and pot roasts of beef are among the better meat buys this week-end.

Sirloin and round steaks aren't high compared with other beef cuts but they're higher than they were a month ago. Even poultry costs you a couple of pennies more per pound than it did this spring.

Best way out of the higher meat price situation is to serve more of the inexpensive less tender cuts, such as tongue, flank steak, pot roasts, stewing meats, corned brisket or plate, veal and lamb breasts, smoked picnics, and numerous others. These meats are nourishing, good tasting, and nutritious and many of them can be prepared on top of the stove—a warm weather advantage. To add interest to meals built around these less familiar cuts, serve plenty of economical vegetables and fruits.

If you'd like to know how to prepare these meats, get yourself a copy of "Modern Meat Lore," put out by this department. Send 23 cents in stamps to me for it, or get it for 20 cents at the Tribune's Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower lobby.

Peas Again, but This IS New Way to Prepare Them

Buttered green peas are good but tiresome if served too often without variation. To relieve the monotony serve them French style in this manner: Toss the peas [about 2 cups, shelled] in a tablespoon or two of butter in a saucepan. Then sprinkle with a tablespoon of flour and mix well. Add a teaspoon of chopped green onion and a half a small head of lettuce, shredded. Add ½ cup boiling water, and cover until boiling begins. Cook gently until just tender, adding more water if necessary. Season with salt and pepper to taste and serve with the sauce formed in cooking. This will serve six persons.

PEEL AN APPLE FOR APPEALING APPLE SALADS!

Here Are 14 Ways to Tickle Palates.

This year there has been no break between the old and the new apple seasons. The new summer Transparents are on the market and are beginning to sell at more reasonable prices. Last year's Winesaps are still here, too, and at prices that are not unreasonable.

Apples have many uses, not the least of which are in salads. Here are a few possible salad combinations:

1. Apple chunks and shredded cabbage.
2. Diced apple, shredded cabbage, and raisins.
3. Diced apples, shredded carrots, sliced celery, and nutmeats.
4. Alternate slices of orange and apple.
5. Diced apple, shredded carrot, and pineapple chunks.
6. Alternate slices of apple, orange, and onion.
7. Diced apple, orange sections, celery, and nutmeats.
8. Diced apple, chicken cubes, pineapple chunks, and celery.
9. Diced apple, celery, and cucumber chunks.
10. Diced apple and thinly sliced rutabaga.
11. Diced apple, flaked salmon or tuna fish, and celery.
12. Alternate slices of apple and avocado.
13. Alternate slices of apple and grapefruit.
14. Apple slices, banana slices, and grapes, with candied ginger in the dressing.

A MEAT RING'S JUST THE ANSWER FOR LEFTOVERS

Nowadays when meats return to the table for an encore appearance they often look even more attractive than on their initial serving. That's the case when you turn out leftovers in the form of a meat ring. In this dish the meat is encased in rich biscuit dough. This is how it's done:

MEAT RING.
1½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons fat
½ cup milk

Mix flour with baking powder and salt. Cut in fat, add milk to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently until mixture is firm enough to handle, or for about half a minute. Pat or roll to ¼ inch in thickness and spread with meat filling. Roll up, pinch edges together; place in greased ring mold, and bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven for 25 minutes. After first 15 minutes of baking brush lightly with 1 egg yolk mixed with 3 tablespoons of milk. Then finish baking.

MEAT FILLING.
2 cups chopped cooked meat or chicken
2 tablespoons chopped green peppers
2 tablespoons chopped celery
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 teaspoon minced parsley
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cream

Combine ingredients.

ADD HAM MIXTURE TO DEVILED EGGS; IT'S A PICNIC TREAT

Next time you have a picnic or porch lunch try stuffing those deviled eggs with a ham mixture. The combination is ever so good.

HAM STUFFED EGGS.
12 hard cooked eggs, halved
3 tablespoons catsup
½ cup ham, chopped
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon salad dressing or mayonnaise

Remove and mash yolks from eggs. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Put back into egg whites. Chill before serving.

This Romance Consists of Girl's Dreams

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

"Altho he never has told me so, I'm sure he really likes me in spite of the fact that he never has asked to see or meet me outside of the contact we have in business. He is not in the same organization, but comes to see my boss about once a month. I'm crazy about him, and I hear he goes around with a girl of social standing and wealth. Yet, I can't help but feel that he'd rather go with me just, from the way he talks and looks at me when we do converse. I wish I knew some way of letting him know how I feel about him, but I don't know what to do. Could I ask him to take me to a dance or to the theater?—Ruby."

You could ask him to drop in at your home some time, but it hardly would be cricket to ask him to take you to a dance or to the theater when he never has attempted to "date" you. It would be embarrassing if he pleaded another engagement that evening, wouldn't it?

Don't you think, young woman, that you are assuming a little too much about the young man's affections? It isn't characteristic of young men to withhold a date invitation if they are really interested in a girl. Then, if what you hear is true about the girl of social and financial standing, we think you shouldn't try to intrude.

Matilda in Cross-Stitch

BY NANCY CABOT.

Matilda is a figure in cross-stitch who expresses her daily activities in the form of baking, cleaning, mending, etc., rather than in the days of the week. These seven days are gainfully accounted for and the needleworker who enjoys this type of embroidery will find Matilda adaptable for towels and wall pictures. Since she is such a colorful person, each motif may be embroidered in a different shade.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of Matilda, No. X-694, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Knowledge of the Premature Baby Growing

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

At the recent meeting in Chicago of the American Academy of Pediatrics, a paper was read on "The Care and Management of the Premature," by Dr. Arthur H. Parmalee, clinical professor of pediatrics, Rush Medical school. Following is an abstract of it.

"The infant has to make many complicated adjustments in his body functions when he is separated from his mother at birth, in order to accommodate himself to an independent existence in a strange environment. His success will depend upon many factors. Of these probably the most important is the degree of mature development he has attained at the time of his birth.

"Nature has provided for a definite period of time which permits the growth and development to reach a stage, before he is born, adequate for him to live by the use of his own physiological functions. If, for any reason, this period is cut short and he is born prematurely, he will be seriously handicapped by the necessity of making his new adjustments with immature organs and tissues. The chances of survival will depend chiefly on how nearly mature he is.

"A fairly accurate estimation of maturity can be obtained from the birth weight. Babies weighing less than five and one-half pounds at birth are considered immature and treated accordingly. Very seldom does a baby weighing as little as two pounds survive, no matter how expertly he is cared for; and only about 50 per cent of those weighing three pounds will live, while 75 per cent of the four pound infants survive.

"Many mechanical aids and procedures have been devised for use in the care of these infants, but most important of all is expert nursing care."

Traces Styles in 'Magazine Cover Girls'

BY DOROTHY SCHMIDT.

Costume Historian Helen Virginia Meyers has analyzed a half century of "Magazine Cover Girls," the work of such artists as Harrison Fisher, Coles Phillips, Carl Anderson, Joseph C. Leyendecker, McClelland Barclay, Peter Fountain, Norman Rockwell, and others, and finds in them a history of American fashion. By contrasting these covers with fashions of today, Miss Meyers has assembled an interesting historical exhibit with considerable eye appeal.

Miss Meyers' "cover girl" collection points out especially the changes which have taken place in the field of sports clothes. Whereas the sportswoman today plays her expert game of golf or tennis in a brief, one piece culotte, functionally designed for exercise as well as stylistically smart, the feminine athlete of 1907 wore a voluminous linen shirtwaist and skirt, plural ruffled petticoats, corsets, ruffled figure builders, and a boned satin belt.

The croquet enthusiast of 1901 was smartly dressed if she topped her bulky ensemble with a mannish straw sailor with a plaid taffeta bow. Hampering, below-the-knees black satin bloomers added to the trials of basketball in 1906.

A State street store currently is exhibiting Miss Meyers' "cover girl" fashion reproductions, and also their 1941 counterparts.

Christian Endeavor Society Is Urged to Emulate Nazi Zeal

Atlantic City, N. J., July 10 (AP).—The International Christian Endeavor society was advised at its biennial convention tonight to avoid present day "sophisticated cynicism" and take on some of the zeal displayed by Nazis and communists.

Dr. Herbert Gezork, former general secretary of the Baptist Youth union in Germany, told 6,000 convention delegates that "Moscow and Berlin have been the greatest fountain heads of missionary activity during the past few years," and added:

"We may call men and women fifth columnists or subversive agents when they go out from these cities to win adherents to their faith and pave the way for victory of their cause, but they think of themselves as missionaries of a faith which is destined to win the world."

"Have we Christians not lost this missionary zeal, this fervor to win followers for our cause, the greatest cause that ever was?" he asked. "Do we really think that we can beat that missionary zeal of Nazis and communists by sitting back in our chairs, singing hymns and letting the world go by?

"If the youth of America is primarily interested in having a good time and is permeated with the spirit of sophisticated cynicism, then there is a danger that some evil, destructive faith might conquer, as it has conquered in Germany."

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

In this season of hostess gifts and the necessity thereof you'll find the toilet goods counters a most profitable hunting ground. The lovely soaps, colognes and sachets are bound to please the woman to whom you owe a bread-and-butter gift, not only because they pay tribute to her own charm but because they are such delightful touches to the home in which she entertains. The woman who entertains many guests adores the fripperies that make her guest bedrooms and bathrooms complete.

There is, for example, the inexpensive but attractive guest soap set in the scent of apple blossom. In this there are ten individual guest soaps, generously fragranced with the apple blossom perfume all woman find so beguiling. Each cake is like a pink petalled flower, a pretty and a thoughtful hostess touch for guest bathrooms, and the price of the whole set is astoundingly low.

To supplement this, or as a good hostess gift on its own merits, there are cologne and dusting powder in the same popular apple blossom fragrance. These, boxed together, have everything to recommend them.

Key to a Job Is Stenography, Girls Are Told

Stenography is a girl's key to a job in the transportation industry, nine experts in various types of tranportation agreed yesterday. They addressed a job clinic held at the Merchants and Manufacturers club for 350 picked young girls who are interested in finding jobs in transportation. The clinic is the first of a series covering 26 major industries which women executives are sponsoring to help young girls take advantage of opportunities available to them in the business world.

Pencils scribbled swiftly as the high school and college girls noted Miss Marion A. McKinney's advice: "When you apply for a job, first study what the company needs and how you can meet the need. Next, outline, point by point, what you are going to say. Then, when you have your interview, say it—and get out before they want to throw you out!"

Courtesy and a sense of humor are essential requirements in any job, Miss McKinney said. She is a director of women's travel for a railroad. "And never go into business as a stopgap to marriage," she added. "You won't be so valuable to your company or to yourself—and you might not get married."

It is easier now for girls to get jobs than for young men because the girls are not liable to be drafted, according to John F. Downing, representative of a steamship company. There is increasing opportunity in South America Mr. Downing said, since travel has shifted in that direction on account of the war. A knowledge of Portuguese is even more of an asset than Spanish, he emphasized.

A survey of the opportunities and requirements for women employés in various fields of transportation was distributed to the young women at the close of the clinic. This survey was made over a period of two months by a committee of women in the transportation industry, headed by Miss Mary T. Hughes. The survey is to be widely distributed thru schools and colleges.

Mrs. Anne V. Zinzer presided at the clinic. She is chairman of the women's executive committee which was formed in connection with Youth week to aid young women to find jobs. The young girls in attendance represented most of the universities, colleges, and high schools in and about Chicago.

Sally's Guests Vote Chicago Theater Party Great Success

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Our party at the Chicago theater yesterday proved to be even more fun than we expected when we made our plans.

On a sticky, humid day, the group of 100 children who were my guests were happy to slide into the big, cool theater, and settle down with plenty of candy to munch as they watched Bob Hope in his latest film, "Caught in the Draft." They giggled and laughed all the time and seemed to love the sight of Bob in an army camp, chuckling loudly at every misfortune that befell him.

After his troubles were over, and the film came to a happy ending, the stage show started. It was led by Phil Harris and his orchestra. The band played a number of popular songs, and my guests clapped loudly in appreciation. We also saw some excellent tap dancing, a comedy team, and a ventriloquist and his dummy. He was a mischievous lad named Jerry, who hates Charlie McCarthy, and the youngsters enjoyed every minute of his performance, especially when he sang like Donald Duck, shaking his bright red head and rolling his eyes.

North Avenue Nursery Party Set for Oct. 4

BY JUDITH CASS.

OCTOBER 4 is the date to be marked by all those young men and women who annually have such a good time at the North avenue day nursery benefit party. The board of the nursery decided yesterday to hold this year's party on that date. It will be a dinner-dance at the Saddle and and Cycle club and undoubtedly will have some novel features to make it different from the ordinary mine run of dinner-dances, but what they will be will not be decided until the board meets again right after Labor day.

Mrs. Robert F. Carr Jr. is the new president of the board and Miss Lucy Harrison is general chairman of the benefit committee. One good reason for the nursery's parties being such gay and successful affairs is that every one connected with their management is young and full of life and authority on what young people consider a "good party."

Mrs. Theodore Tieken is reservation chairman; Mrs. John P. Wilson Jr. has charge of tickets; Mrs. Herbert Stratford of the food; Mrs. Roy Flannery of entertainment; Mrs. De Witt Buchanan Jr. and Miss Barbara Buchanan of invitations; Mrs. Robert McKenna of publicity, and Mrs. Owen West of tickets the night of the party.

Mrs. Louis Watermulder gave a luncheon yesterday at the Saddle and Cycle club for her debutante niece, Miss Harriett Dawes.

Miss Anne Boswell Is Today's Debutante.

Today's debutante is Miss Anne Boswell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicolas Starosselsky of Lake Forest, who are presenting her at a tea at home in Lake Forest from 4 until 7 o'clock. Miss Boswell has a former classmate at Dobbs Ferry, Miss Jane van Sicien of Rumson, N. J., as her houseguest. She and a young woman who recently came to Chicago to reside, Miss Nolwen de Janze, will be among the 11 assistants.

Miss de Janze is a greatniece of Mrs. Francis E. May and of Miss Josephine Chapin, with whom her mother, the former Alice Silverthorne, made her home until her marriage to the Vicompte Frederic de Janze took her abroad in the early 1920s. Miss de Janze, who is of debutante age and will be going to many of this season's parties, and her younger sister, Paola, and Mrs. May and Miss Chapin have an apartment in Lake Shore drive.

The others pouring tea or coffee this afternoon will be Debutantes Frances Clow, Shirley Strotz, Mary Lew Pope, Lana Jelke, Louise Strawn, Diana Hill, Barbara Bronson, Dudley Winston, and Blannie Wrigley. Mrs. Starosselsky and the debutante will receive indoors.

Dinner-Dance Tonight for Misses Boswell and Jelke.

Miss Boswell and Miss Jelke are to be the especial guests at a dinner-dance Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Revell Jr. are giving tonight at the Onwentsia club. There are to be a number of other parties for Miss Boswell, among them a luncheon Mrs. Scott Durand is giving at the Shoreacres on July 20. The Owen Wests, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sterling Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. William A. P. Watkins will give a Sunday night buffet supper for Miss Boswell in September, probably on the 13th, when the debutante and the Starosselskys will have returned from a month's holiday on the Bar A ranch. They are going west on Aug. 1.

An unexpected reunion with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Wilkinson of Evanston, awaits Mme. Augusto Rosso, wife of the Italian ambassador to Moscow, who sailed yesterday from Tokio for San Francisco aboard the Tatura Maru. Mme. Rosso's traveling companion is Mme. Ilbertina Relli, wife of one of the Italian attachés of the Moscow embassy, who had gone to Tokio to accompany the former Frances Wilkinson Bunker to Russia. The outbreak of the war between Russia and the axis powers changed their plans, necessitating their return to Italy by way of the United States.

Mme. Rosso and Mme. Relli will land in California on July 25, arriving in Evanston about the 28th. If their stay here is long enough, Mme. Rosso's children, Adele and George Bunker, will come from Walpole, N. H., where they are spending the summer on the farm of their father, Arthur H. Bunker.

Katherine Deere Wiman Being Married Today.

Telegrams of best wishes will be sent today from Chicago and Moline, Ill., to Greenwich, Conn., where Miss Katherine Deere Wiman and Dawson Coleman Glover will be married at 5 o'clock. The ceremony in Christ church, Greenwich, will be followed by a reception at Tantallon, the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Deere Wiman.

Among the attendants will be Miss Mary Jane Deere Wiman, a Chicago debutante of last season, whose father,

Chicago Asked to Give Books to Army Camps

A drive for books for soldiers at army camps in the 6th corps area will be conducted July 21 to 26 by the Chicago Public library, Carl B. Roden, librarian, announced yesterday.

During that week, Chicagoans will be asked to leave current fiction, biographies, and mystery or adventure stories at the main down town library and its 46 branches. The books will be sorted, cataloged, and distributed to the various camp libraries by the Chicago library.

The drive, similar to one undertaken by the public library here during 1917 and 1918 for soldiers of the first World war, is planned with the consent of Col. N. B. Wood, morale officer for the area, and with the hearty approval of Maj. Gen. C. H. Bonesteel, commandant of the area.

The United States army spends between $11,000 and $19,000 a year for books for its camp libraries, known as service clubs, Roden said. While this presumably is adequate in time of peace, it is woefully inadequate when the army is massed for emergency or war.

"We could use to good advantage many more books than can be made available from these funds," Gen. Bonesteel said in praising the project. "Such a donation would be of great value to the army personnel, and the 6th corps area is very grateful to you for undertaking it, particularly in view of your previous success during the World war."

The collection is being made only for the army, as the navy has been book-conscious since the days of John Paul Jones and allows 50 cents a man per year for books.

The library hopes the general public will not give only attic discards in the drive. Either books published within the last 10 years or classics of general appeal are wanted.

Aids Ridge Farm

Miss Caryl Casselberry will be among the models in a fashion show to be given at luncheon time today at the Walter J. Murphy estate in North Green Bay road, Lake Forest. The luncheon will be served picnic style in the garden and will be followed by duplicate and contract bridge on the porches and an organ recital in the house.

A children's fiesta at 10 o'clock will open the all-day program at the estate which is being opened today only for the benefit of the Ridge Farm preventorium.

The fiesta costs 25 cents per child. The charge for luncheon, bridge, and the fashion show will be $3.50. Those who just want to inspect the magnificent estate will be admitted for $1.

Lusty Program Given Ravinia by Sir Thomas

BY EDWARD BARRY.

At Ravinia Park last night Sir Thomas Beecham set before us three more of his sane, scrupulous and scholarly interpretations. He conducted the Chicago Symphony orchestra in Mozart's "Prague" symphony, Tschaikowsky's serenade for string orchestra, and Mendelssohn's "Italian" symphony.

The Mozart had the strength, and the forthrightness which earlier experience with Sir Thomas' handling of 18th century music would lead one to expect. Even when the music was most angelic it suggested a muscular angel able to take care of himself in any emergency rather than the dainty, cake eating type of angel.

Phrases nearly always had a lot of starch in them. They did not bend to every passing whimsey. The symphony had been thought out in careful architectural terms.

By the way, the hisses which Sir Thomas emits while conducting were heard to excellent advantage during the softer passages of the slow movement. He is one of the most vocal of all conductors, and he has created a desire in his audience to hear more of him—especially of those witticisms with which he fills the waits between movements and which bring smiles to the faces of some of the most grim visaged men in the orchestra.

The Tschaikowsky Serenade received a beautiful calculated performance in which the conductor distinguished expertly between the style of the opening movement, with its approach to a personal, wrung from the innards type of eloquence and the style of the waltz, with its almost classical, almost objective beauty.

Sir Thomas evidently agrees with the rest of the world that the Mendelssohn "Italian" symphony is dewy, innocent, and playful. These qualities he competently presented. Colorings were bright, meters crisp, accents piquant.

It is curious that Sir Thomas' magnificent musicianship and his polished logical performances do not churn us up more. Perhaps it is the old conflict between the followers of Dionysius and those of Apollo. Sir Thomas is Apollonian in his worship of a pure, sunny, serene type of art, and he maintains this approach even in dealing with music with a definite Dionysian taint.

Miss Graziella Polacco Undergoes Appendectomy

Graziella Polacco, 16 year old daughter of Mrs. William E. Ragland [the former Edith Mason of the Chicago Opera] of 229 East Lake Shore drive, underwent an emergency appendectomy yesterday in Passavant hospital. The girl's condition was reported good. She was stricken Wednesday while visiting friends in Lake Forest. Her father, Giorgio Polacco, former director of the opera company, arrived in Chicago from the east coincidentally and visited his daughter at the hospital. The singer and Polacco were divorced in 1937.

Add Epitaphs.

The epitaphs collected by M. Bethel, printed in this space the other day, brought in a bumper crop of epitaphs in the following day's mail. Miss Louise Favre of Boone, Ia., forwards the epitaph of one Jonathan Pease:

Here lies the body of Jonathan Pease
Under the daisies and under the trees
Pease isn't here only the pod
Pease shelled out and went to God.

• • •

Marge of Sunrise Mountain Farm calls to Mr. Bethel's attention one in the cemetery at Mountain View, Mo., a peaked gray tombstone, home-molded of concrete. It bears the name of a woman, and the dates of birth and death with the d's turned backwards. On its base, apparently scratched into the surface with a nail while the concrete was still soft:

She Don What She Could.

"I would like to think my life, too, is making me worthy of that epitaph," added Marge.

Edwin Brooks relays a photograph of a gravestone in Oak Park cemetery, Pawtucket, R. I., with a self-chosen epitaph. It marks the grave of Dr. William Rothwell, who died in June, 1941. Dr. Rothwell is reputed to have been a jolly person and his "This is on me" was a familiar byword to his friends. His will asked that there be no tears at his funeral and that the inscription on his tombstone be This is on me.

HAIRCUT.

With a cloud of hair
Long in need of diminishment
I visit a barber.

While the clippers plow
Long gray furrows up my neck
And the twinkling scissors
Create neat terraces in my hair,
My eardrums are attacked
By verbal clatter regarding
The state of the world.
This is how and what
I would do, says he,
Accidentally tearing several hairs
From their humble sockets.

And in reply I refer
The venerable cutter of hair
To the sage Lao Tzu
Who said: Leave all things
To take their natural course,
And do not interfere.
To which the barber replies,
With cold stare in his eye:

Miss Prudence Johnson to Be Wed on July 19.

Having nearly recovered from an appendectomy, Miss Prudence Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Homer H. Johnson of Kenilworth, has set the date for her marriage to George Brainerd Chapman III. for July 19. The ceremony will be a quiet morning one, with no attendants, and a breakfast following at the Johnson home, to which the closest friends of the young people will be invited. Mr. Chapman and his bride will depart that afternoon for a wedding trip to Banff and Lake Louise. They will make their home in Evanston.

Marquise d'Ivanrèy [Italia Blair], who is staying at the Whitehall during a Chicago visit, is planning to return to New York the middle of next week. The date for her departure is indefinite, for she is trying to find some one to drive with her, since her brother, William M. Blair, has been detained in his Vermont home and cannot come to Chicago to accompany his sister east as planned.

Lecture on French Music.

Nadia Boulanger, renowned French composer, critic, conductor, and teacher, will lecture on French music at Rosary college in River Forest tonight. She will be assisted by Sister M. Louisita, O.P., of the Rosary college music school faculty.

According to CULBERTSON

Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.

As I have pointed out on many occasions, the average player is too inclined to consider a trick as an individual winning card or, in another sense, as an isolated packet of four cards. This view is extremely short-sighted. Tricks must be thought of as links in a chain. True, a player often holds a card that will win a trick but will have no effect on the other 12 tricks of the hand, which is to say that it will not "promote" any other card of the partnership. Just as often, however, an ace or king can perform the double duty of laying a neat packet in front of the owner and of promoting another packet to follow it. East, in the hand below, apparently was unfamiliar with this "double duty" idea.

East-West vulnerable.

	NORTH
	♠ A 7 3 ♥ 6 5 ♦ 6 3 ♣ Q J 10 7 4 2
WEST		EAST
♠ 9 8 ♥ K J 9 3 2 ♦ A 10 8 5 ♣ A 6		♠ Q J 5 2 ♥ 10 7 4 ♦ K Q 4 2 ♣ 9 3
	SOUTH ♠ K 10 6 4 ♥ A Q 8 ♦ J 9 7 ♣ K 8 5

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 heart	2 clubs	Pass	2 no trump
Pass	Pass	Pass

North's pass to two no trump was highly speculative but, he probably figured, a minor suit contract for less than game is not usually productive of many match-points.

West, taking warning from the two no trump bid, decided against opening a heart and chose, instead, his fourth best diamond. East won with the queen and, delighted that his partner had found his best suit, blithely returned his original fourth highest diamond. West won with the ten and cashed the ace, then put East back on lead with the diamond king. Now East belatedly remembered West's opening bid and shifted to the heart ten, but declarer jumped up with the heart ace and laid down the club king. West could do no better than take his ace and cash the heart king for the setting trick. Thus, the defenders received a 50 point penalty. But, considering that at many other tables the East-West teams were permitted to play the hand in two or three diamonds and to score from 90 to 110 points, this particular East-West pair fared badly in the match-point column.

Had East realized the true value of his king and queen of diamonds, he would not have treated them so lightly. They were not only tricks, but entries. On winning with the diamond queen he should have jumped at the chance to shift to hearts, his partner's original bid. This would have given quite a different result. Whether declarer went up with the ace, covered the ten, or merely ducked, West would have established his entire heart suit before dummy's clubs were set up. Instead of beating the contract 50 points, East-West would have taken nine tricks for a score of 200 points, which would have given them a "top."

Tomorrow's Hand.

Park Concert to Be Tribute to Paderewski

The memory of Ignace Jan Paderewski, the Polish pianist and statesman who died last June 29, will be honored in Grant park tonight at a concert of the Jerzy Bojanowski Symphony orchestra. Many of Chicago's musicians and civic leaders, including Mayor Kelly, will be on hand. It is expected that a large part of the city's vast Polish-American population will attend, as well as music lovers of other races.

Mayor Kelly, in a short speech, will pay tribute to Paderewski's greatness as a man and musician. The orchestra will include in its program Paderewski's best known and best liked composition—the Minuet in G.

Mr. Bojanowski knew Paderewski personally. Assisting the orchestra will be the Polish-American Filarecí Singing society and the Polish-American soprano, Valeri Glowacki.

The concert will be given at the Grant park band shell on the lake front opposite 11th street, beginning at 8 o'clock. There will be no admission charge, as this concert is part of the summer long free lake front series sponsored by the Chicago Park district and the Chicago Federation of Musicians.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., July 10.—Some of us correspondents out here are in a pet because the movies, operating under Thurman Arnold's consent decree, have whipped up a decree of their own to the effect that correspondents can't see a picture until the date of its public release. There are mutterings of "dictation" and "freedom of the press" and "who are those guys to tell us what we can do?" I had an argument with Walter Wanger about it yesterday and said it would be a fine gag indeed if the papers said to Hollywood, "All right, gents, we'll pull our correspondents out and just won't handle any more copy from your town except, of course, the drunks and the divorces."

Walter defended his business and made a pretty good point. "It's too bad," he said, "that there weren't any movies when the constitution was being written, because then there would have been a provision for freedom of the screen, too."

The argument over shutting down on previews happens to be an academic one to me and is interesting only because it is an effort by the movies to outwit the press from purely commercial motives. I figure my job here is reporting on the making of films and not reviewing them after they have been made. I catch more pictures in second run neighborhood houses than I do at studio previews, and, with the exception of "Citizen Kane," have never written anything resembling a review of a picture. But, as a newspaper man, it makes me mad to think that the studios have ganged up to put something over on the reporters.

They have ganged up from an admittedly commercial motive. Under the new consent-decree order of things, a theater operator, big or little, must be shown what he's buying and has the right to say he doesn't want to buy. So what happens? A picture, "Beautiful, Lovely Sin," is ready for the market. A Hollywood correspondent catches it at a preview and allows that he thinks "Beautiful, Lovely Sin" borders on the lousy. This goes out to the papers back east. The picture is offered for sale—for rent is the better word—at such and such a figure. Up steps an exhibitor and says, "I won't pay that much. It's only worth two-bits, not six-bits, because I got a paper right here where a Hollywood columnist says the picture ain't so good."

Well, this hits the movie boys right in the hip wallets and they admit it quite frankly. It they can prevent Hollywood correspondents from making any dirty comments until it's too late to do any harm, they will be happy—because then they can get the rent they want from the exhibitors, and it is the rent they are after.

Whenever the argument about advance comment comes up, Hollywood has a stock answer: "This is the only great industry in the country where such a thing happens. When Packard or Ford or Chrysler brings out a new car, you don't see the newspapers printing advance dope that the 1942 model borders on the lousy, do you? The papers wouldn't dare."

Calls for Free Ice Increase as Sun's Intensity Grows

As the sun came out yesterday to steam the city after an early morning rain, the United Charities reported that an increasing number of calls and letters were coming in asking for ice. Families on relief, who do not have an allowance for ice, are unable to keep their food fresh. Baby's milk sours in the hot kitchen. The sick cannot get any relief from pain and nausea in their confined rooms.

A dollar will provide ice for one family for a week. During June the Charities supplied ice to 342 families at a cost of $858.65. Gifts totaling $46 came in yesterday for the ice fund, bringing the total to $474.55. Donations included $25 from Mrs. A. E. Spink; $6 anonymous; $5, Fred Ascher and H. & M.; $2, Mrs. E. P. Coughlin and "From Two Friends," and $1 from S. I.

Contributions for the Camp Algonquin fund received yesterday were $10 from Mrs. Charles Milford and $5 from Fred Ascher. This makes a total of $452.71 contributed this summer. Any one who is able to contribute to either fund is urged to send his gifts to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower.

ASKS INDICTMENT OF CLERKS' UNION DUES GATHERERS

Master in Chancery Daniel Covelli recommended yesterday that former officers of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association who have collected dues and fees from union members since the officers were suspended by international headquarters June 24 be indicted for obtaining money under false pretenses.

His statement followed testimony by three grocery clerks that Morton Schaps, sergeant at arms of the local, continued to compel payments of dues and fees despite an order by Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan June 12 that collections be stopped. The clerks testified in the suit brought by the union rank and file to force an accounting of an estimated $910,000 from the suspended officers. Max Caldwell, a convicted criminal, was the czar of the union.

Refuses to Pay; Ousted.

Edward Hochfelder, 3458 16th street, said that on June 3 he changed from Hillman's food store to a National Tea company store at 4611 Broadway. The same day, he said, Schaps came to the store and told him he would have to pay $7 additional initiation fees because he had changed employment.

"I told him I had no money," Hochfelder said, "and he said he would be back. He returned June 16, four days after Judge Finnegan entered his order to maintain the status quo, and asked for the money. I refused to pay him. That night I was discharged by the store management."

Another Clerk Testifies.

Thomas Cassin, 2428 Walton street, said that Schaps came to an A. & P. tea store at 3414 Sheffield avenue, where he was employed on June 14, and told another clerk, Mrs. Emily Fernandez, that she still owed $10 of the $25 initiation fee. She paid $5, Schaps warning that if she did not pay the balance, she would be unable to work.

ADMIT LIE TEST EVIDENCE IN TEACHER'S TRIAL

A Chicago precedent was set yesterday when a lie detector test was admitted into evidence at the trial of William J. Branz, charged with disorderly conduct, in the jury branch court of Municipal Judge Oscar Caplan.

William J. Branz.

Branz, a lawyer and a teacher of German in the Lane Technical High school, is 36 years old and lives at 3325 Lincoln avenue. The charge was placed against him after Miss Elsa Hafner, 25 years old, 1020 Oakdale avenue, died April 10 of an overdose of sleeping medicine.

Miss Hafner was found unconscious at home on April 7. Testimony at an inquest showed that she had been out the evening of April 6 with Branz. He has admitted this, but has denied that he gave her any potion.

Called as the first witness for the prosecution [an unusual procedure], Branz refused to answer questions bearing on intimate relations with Miss Hafner, a millinery designer.

The lie detector tests, objected to by the defense, were outlined by the city's expert on such matters, Paul Trovillo. He said that Branz had admitted his intimate relationship with the young woman. He also asserted that "about 75 per cent of the answers" the lawyer-teacher gave were correct, according to the machine. Trovillo testified that Branz admitted to him Miss Hafner felt humiliated by her relations with him.

Rules Juke Box Dancing Requires City License

An ice cream parlor which is equipped with a phonograph or juke box and where dancing is permitted should have an amusement license, Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes said yesterday in an opinion issued to the city license bureau.

SEIZE EVANSTON BOY, 16; ADMITS 30 BURGLARIES

A 16 year old boy, arrested by Evanston police yesterday for questioning in connection with a recent burglary, implicated himself by claiming a hat left behind by the burglar, as his own. The boy, George Ellis, of 819 Oakton street, Evanston, then told Capt. Peter Geishecker that he had committed more than 30 burglaries in the last year. He gave details on 25 burglaries, in which his total cash loot was about $125.

Police said Ellis had been arrested for burglary and misdemeanors 15 times since his first arrest Oct. 12, 1938, when he was 13 years old. He admitted leaving his hat behind when he took $15 from a cleaning establishment at 625 Howard street, Evanston, on July 1. He is the son of Mrs. R. L. Watkins, whose husband, the boy's stepfather, is an Evanston cab driver.

Questioned in the Evanston police lockup, where he was held on an open charge, Ellis said he bought clothes and "had a good time" with his loot. Movies and bowling were his definition of a good time.

PICK 4 JURORS FOR MORIARITY MURDER TRIAL

Four jurors were selected yesterday in the murder trial of Daniel Moriarity, suspended policeman of the state's attorney's staff, after Judge John A. Sbarbaro warned James M. Burke, defense counsel, and Richard Austin and Alex Napoli, assistant state's attorneys, that the court would take a hand in picking the jury unless they quit their dilatory tactics.

The jurors selected are: Mrs. Bessie Grutzius, 43 years old, 3332 North Leavitt street, and Mrs. Betty S. Gitterman, 26, of 1651 South Hamlin avenue, housewives; Albert A. Wilson, 51, of 440 North Lavergne avenue, auto repair business, and George J. Syoen, 37, of 1011 North Richmond street, a stationary fireman. The jurors are being qualified to inflict the death penalty.

Moriarity is on trial for the slaying April 29 of Miss Ada Jane Martin. He has confessed he shot her to death in her home at 4367 Lake Park avenue in the mistaken belief he was killing the girl's mother, Mrs. Ada Martin.

DISCHARGE THREE POLICEMEN FOR ACCEPTING BRIBE

The city civil service commission yesterday discharged three policemen of the Kensington station for accepting a bribe. The three are Sergt. Raymond J. Nelligan, a member of the department for 17 years, and Patrolmen James E. Ryan, with 8 years of service, and James J. McDonald, with 5 years of service.

The commission found them guilty of accepting $100 from three men and two women after a raid May 18 on the Ceasers club, a private state chartered organization at 11538 Front avenue. E. J. Daley, police inspector who made the investigation on orders of Commissioner Allman, said the policemen confiscated two slot machines when the five persons were taken into custody, but that the machines and the $100 later were returned.

The policemen denied the charges,

CUBS BEAT BRAVES; SOX WHIP SENATORS, 5-1

Medalist Rallies to Whip Mike Turnesa.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Denver, Colo., July 10.—Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan, two kids who learned the ABC's of golf together in a Fort Worth caddy yard, will hold a reunion tomorrow when they meet in the first 36 hole quarter-final match of the 24th National Professional tournament on the rolling acreage of the Cherry Hills club. They will be followed by two gents who have won this most precious of all pro titles five times between them—squat, knickered Gene Sarazen and lean Denny Shute of Chicago. The third bout brings together Sam Snead, the medalist, against Lloyd Mangrum, also of Chicago, and another sends Victor Ghezzi against his Ryder cup colleague, Jimmy Hines.

These are the survivors of a typically chaotic third round of eight 36 hole matches in the most interesting golf party of them all. The results ranged from Sarazen's 9 and 7 triumph over redheaded Bruce Coltart of Absecon, N. J., to three matches that went to the last green and another that was prolonged to the 35th.

Travail for Snead Continues.

The travail Snead has been experiencing since he teed off in this show continued apace today. Snead was three down at the 18th and still was two down after the 28th, to Mike Turnesa, member of New York's famed brother clan. He finally squared the argument on the 31st and then won the 36th and the match with a grand iron to the pin for a cinch four, after Turnesa had overshot the green.

Probably more stirring than any match of the round was the one up triumph scored by the mustachioed Mangrum, making his debut in PGA competition. Mangrum vanquished Mark Fry, the Californian who yesterday knocked out Craig Wood, National Open champion, and the highly respected Henry Ransom.

Only 15 Holes Halved.

Consider that only 15 holes of the 36 were halved. Look at the start made by Fry, who blasted three birdies at Mangrum at the very outset of the match. Fry can go home saying that he played Cherry Hills' front nine in 10 strokes under par, 32s against Wood and Ransom and a 31 this morning. Mangrum was even after an afternoon nine in which only the first three holes were halved. He won the 28th, lost the next three, and then came back to take three in a row, two of them with birdies. He had a medal card of 138, four under par, for the day, against Fry's 139. That's the kind of an argument Mangrum and Fry had.

The Nelson-Ralph Guldahl match was all that might have been expected from the defending champion and the man who won the National Open here three years ago, altho Nelson held the advantage all the way. He went to lunch 2 up and extended that margin to 5 up at the 27th, before Guldahl reduced that by winning the 28th and 30th. Nelson's birdie on the 32d and a half on the 33d settled the matter.

No Soft Touch for Hogan.

Hogan, one of the top favorites to win the championship, expected no soft touch in the able Horton Smith, and didn't get it, going to the 35th before he could excuse himself for the day. At each turn, Hogan was only 1 up—at the 9th, 18th, and 27th. Then he rolled up his sleeves and took the next three holes, the 28th

THE mathematician who figured that it is possible to arrange nine baseball players in 362,880 batting orders is said to have startled Gabby Hartnett, New York Giants' coach. . . . While Gabby was manager of the Cubs he thought he had tried every possible combination, but was several hundred under 362,880. . . . Fred Metheny, only returning University of Nebraska football player with any signal calling experience, has gained eight pounds this summer, which makes pleasant reading for Cornhusker fans. . . . Prof. Walter K. Smart, chairman of Northwestern university's faculty athletic committee, won his C in baseball at Chicago. . . . He played left field on the Maroon team of 1902, which defeated Northwestern, 9 to 8. . . . Outfielder Smart made four hits. . . . The leading candidates for the 1942 National Intercollegiate golf tournament are Notre Dame, which offers South Bend Country club's Chain o' Lakes course; Duke, which can use the Oldtown Country club at Winston-Salem, N. C., and Stanford university, Palo Alto, Cal. . . . Bill Knickerbocker of the White Sox has suffered three injuries this season, more mishaps than he encountered in his entire previous major league career. . . . Dick Plasman, Chicago Bears end, has joined his teammate, Gary Famiglietti, as an employé at the Inland Steel plant. . . . Maj. C. B. Harris of Georgia Military academy says West Point is getting a great forward passer and punter in Carl Anderson, New Orleans boy, who played for his team last fall. . . . Amateur boxing under Pat Kelly's supervision has fallen into such disrepute in New York that control of the sport may be taken out of the hands of the Amateur Athletic Union and turned over to the state boxing commission. . . .

Gene Sarazen's newly adopted 3 year old son, Gino, is going to have to work hard on one item of golf, if he ever decides to take it up. . . . Pa Sarazen says that's the grip. . . . Gene avers he will have a special plastic grip made which will tweak Gino's pinkies if he doesn't grasp it properly. . . . Frankie Frisch admits only to his closest friends that gout is what has been giving him foot misery. . . . All American league umpires use pneumatic shields while working behind the plate. . . . BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 10.—The Cubs this afternoon relieved themselves of the possibility of being crammed down into seventh place before they get out of town Saturday. Jimmy Wilson's sixth placers, altho not hitting the ball in what could be termed violent fashion, did just enough to whip the Braves, 3 to 1, and thus widen the gap between themselves and the local occupants of the percentage apartment just above the basement.

The success principally was an achievement of Vern Olsen, the tow-headed southpaw member of the staff, who now is able to boast of six victories against two defeats. Ole tossed with such skill that for five innings only three of his foes survived, one on an intentional pass, and he might have gone on to his third shutout of the year if a creak hadn't developed in the giddily attired Chicago machine. Dominic Dallessandro dropped the easiest sort of a fly ball in the sixth, and the Braves' lone score, a tying run at the time, developed from the error. Olsen broke the tie by singling almost immediately.

Vern Gets Some Aid.

Outside of Olsen's southpawing and hitting, Stan Hack, Billy Nicholson, and Babe Dahlgren made known their presence before a reported crowd of 2,390. Hack and Nicholson collaborated to give Olsen a run at the start, this incident making the 60th tally driven in by Nick. Dahlgren paved the way for Olsen's productive single, which untied the knot in the seventh, and in the eighth Nicholson again assisted with a double to put the extra run in position to reach the plate on a fly ball. Thus only one of the six hits made off Al Javery, an ex-sandlotter, went to waste.

Altho the Cubs made two hits in the first inning they couldn't have accomplished the one run scoring job if the enemy hadn't miscued. Hack opened the game with a single to right and went to second immediately on a passed ball by Masi. Stringer bunted, but accidentally kicked the ball, so was out automatically, Hack having to return to second. After Dallessandro had lofted to Cooney in center, Nicholson dispatched his single into right, Hack going home.

Dom Must Have Been Asleep.

Just what Dallessandro had on his mind when Sisti's fly came floating down to him at the start of the sixth isn't known, but the ball went thru his hands like a razor thru cheese, Sisti making two bases on the blunder. He skipped to third on Cooney's infield out and carried in the tying run when Hassett singled to left. Additional trouble was raised by West's single off Dahlgren's glove, but Olsen

Misses Campbell and Cline Meet in Junior Finals

Jeanne Cline, 17, of Bloomington, Ill., and Dorothy Campbell, of St. Louis, will meet today for the Women's Western Junior Golf championship over the St. Charles Country Club course.

Miss Cline qualified for the finals yesterday with a 6 and 5 victory over Betty Brown of Texarkana, Ark., while Miss Campbell scored a 22 hole upset over 15 year old Betty Jane Haemerle, also of St. Louis. The Haemerle girl came from behind on the last nine to overcome Miss Campbell, and tied her with a par three on the 18th. After halving the 19th, Betty Jane lost a chahce for victory when she missed a one foot putt on the 20th. The 21st was halved, and then Miss Haemerle's tee shot on the 22d landed in the rough, and she lost the hole to Dorothy's par five.

DiMaggio Hits in 49th Game; Feller Captures 17th Victory

St. Louis, Mo., July 10 (AP).—Joe DiMaggio hit safely in his 49th consecutive game, but it was Joe Gordon's 13th homer of the year that boosted the New York Yankees' winning streak to 10 with a 1 to 0 triumph over the Browns in a contest halted by rain after five full innings tonight.

As overcast skies threatened to break up the contest short of regulation length DiMaggio stepped to the plate in the first inning and lashed a single off the glove of Shortstop Alan Strange. The official scorer ruled it an infield hit, holding that Strange barely touched the ball and, had he held it, could not have thrown to first in time to beat the charging DiMaggio.

Joe's early industry proved sound strategy, as rain put a definite end to the contest after the Yankees had batted in the sixth and DiMaggio on his only other time at bat had flied to Chet Laabs in the fourth inning.

Cleveland, O., July 10 (AP).—Bob Feller scored the winning run in his 17th victory of the year tonight by tripling in the ninth inning and coming home on Lou Boudreau's single to give Cleveland a 3 to 2 decision over Philadelphia. It was Bob Feller night and 32,820 fans watched the 22 year old fireballer register the 99th triumph of his major league career.

Bob limited the Athletics to six hits, but the visitors tallied a run in the fifth inning without a hit as three batters walked and another grounded out. Philadelphia had scored in the opening inning on Al Brancato's single, a walk, a sacrifice, and a fly.

Oscar Grimes, playing first base in place of Hal Trosky, paced Cleveland's eight hit attack against Chubby Dean and Tom Ferrick with a double and three singles. Ferrick was charged with the defeat.

The Indians' first two runs came in the second inning on Gerry Walker's double, singles by Grimes, Feller, and Gene Desautels, an error, and a walk.

William Feller, Bob's father, presented the young pitcher with the Sporting News scroll as Player of 1940 in pregame ceremonies. More than 4,000 of the city's sandlot stars attended and gave Bob a plaque.

Haverford, Pa., July 10 (AP).—Jimmy Evert of Chicago, the national junior indoor tennis champion, reached the quarter finals in the national interscholastic tournament at Merion Cricket club today. Evert, seeded No. 3, defeated Fred Kovaleski of Hamtramck, Mich., 7-5, 6-2. Evert and Art Leighton, another Chicago youngster, reached the semi-finals in doubles.

SOUTH SIDERS ASSIST RIGNEY WITH 14 HITS

Kreevich Gets Four to Lead Attack.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Johnny Rigney, Moose Solters, Mike Kreevich and some of the other White Sox boys last night worked together in charming style to administer a 5 to 1 whipping to the Washington Senators before 17,949 in Comiskey Park.

The fellows not only had many more than the adequate number of runs but were able to indulge in the baseball luxury of leaving 14 runners on base in the first seven innings, the first six of which were pitched by Ken Chase, and the other two by Alex Carrasquel.

They Made Good on a Promise.

The Sox, who have been promising to do some swatting now that July 4 is past, made good on the reform by stroking 14 hits, the most vital of which was a double by Solters, with the bases loaded in the third. It scored Kreevich and Luke Appling with the pair of runs essential to victory. Solters later drove in the fourth Sox run with a single.

Kreevich, who has been in and out of the lineup recently, was very much in it last night with a double and three singles in five times at bat. Other multiple hit gents besides Solters and Kreevich, were Bill Knickerbocker and Mike Tresh, each with two singles.

Rigney, while about the business of ringing up his sixth success of the season, had the crowd rooting for a shutout until one was out in the seventh. Then Jimmy Bloodworth spoiled this particular enterprise by tripling and getting home on Pinch-batter Cliff Bolton's infield out. There were only six other hits off Rigney, half of them scratchy infield affairs.

Rigney's control was excellent. He walked only two, both in the fourth inning.

Solters Comes Thru.

The Sox warmed up for their third inning scoring foray by getting two runners on base in each of the first two innings, in the first on Kreevich's single and a pass to Appling and in the second on singles by Kennedy and Rigney. The productive third started with Kuhel's bouncer to Vernon, after which Kreevich, Appling, and Wright knocked successive singles, loading the bases. Solters then doubled along the right foul line. Kreevich and Appling scored on Julius' swat, but Wright was out at the plate, Lewis to Bloodworth to Early.

The Chicagoans added a run in the fourth. Rigney was safe on Travis' fumble and moved up on Knickerbocker's sacrifice. Kuhel popped to Travis, but Kreevich came thru with his third straight hit, a double to left which scored Rigney. Appling walked and Wright got a pass on four straight wide ones, loading the bases. Solters then forced Wright.

The Sox didn't score in the fifth, but they did leave two more on bases, to lift the total left for five innings to 11, which is said to be a record for five innings under the Comiskey park lighting system.

They Score Again in Sixth.

The sixth gave the Sox a run and the fans a look at an unusual play. With one down, Appling walked. Wright took his third swing at a wild pitch and while Appling sped for third Wright sprinted to second. Wright was called but because first base was occupied and there weren't two out when he whiffed. Solters drove Appling home with a single to center and then Kennedy was called out on strikes.

The Sox made a run off Carrasquel in the seventh and lifted their left on base total to 14. Tresh opened with his second single, advanced to third on Rigney's sacrifice and Knickerbocker's single, and scored while Kuhel was forcing Knickerbocker. Kreevich put Kuhel on third with his fourth hit of the game but Appling ended the inning with an infield bounder.

with a par and the 29th and 30th with birdies. He returned one of those by taking three from the edge of the 32d, and Smith won the 34th after Hogan misjudged his second shot. It ended with a half on the 35th.

Sarazen, Hines, and Shute had the easiest time of all, particularly Gene and Denny. Sarazen was 7 up on Coltart with a morning 68, 3 under par, and made that 8 up at the afternoon turn. Shute was 5 in front at the intermission over Leonard Ott of Edgewater Colo., and added 3 to that by the 27th, after which he proceeded to donate 3 in a row to Ott, but it was too late for the local hope to catch up, and they shook hands on the 33d green, Denny a 5 and 3 winner. Hines had a time of it with Jug McSpaden, former runner-up for the title. Hines was 2 down at nine, fought back to even terms on the 18th, and then dashed around the afternoon nine for a 4 up margin on the basis of a 34.

CARDINALS GET 5 IN 8TH; DEFEAT GIANTS, 13 TO 9

Victory Breaks 5 Game Losing Streak.

New York, July 10 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals blew an eight run lead in the seventh inning tonight, but came right back with a five run blast of their own in the eighth to down the Giants, 13 to 9, before 34,894 in the Polo Grounds.

Howard Krist, the Cards' fourth pitcher, finished the game to take credit as the winning hurler and end St. Louis' five-game losing streak.

The Cards took an eight-run lead behind Max Lanier in the first five innings, as Gus Mancuso and Coaker Triplett hit home runs.

They'll Compete July 20 in Tribune Meet Trials.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

California park, of course, is expected to support the 100 yard free style qualifying races which will be held in the California park pool July 20. But the list of 51 boys who were entered in this sectional swimming meet yesterday by Pete Miller is the largest team entry received so far.

Lois Wenzel.

With few exceptions the bulk of the team entry will compete in classes B and C, which include the years from 13 to 16. These age divisions customarily are the largest of the five. As a result, these two divisions will furnish more qualifiers from the four sectional meets for the championships on July 27 and the others. The 120 qualifying positions in the 10 finals—five for boys and five for girls—are divided between the sections at California park, Sherman park, Cermak, and Whealan pools, on the basis of number of entries.

Entry Deadline on Sunday.

The Naperville, Ill., swimming team, Jackson Natatorium, and several YMCA squads were among other entries received yesterday. The deadline for entries is midnight Sunday.

While the annual 100 yard races have been sponsored for the last 12 years by the Chicago Tribune Charities with the purpose of encouraging novice swimmers, the champions in the higher age brackets naturally are the most experienced and frequently have won AAU titles. Fifteen year old Lois Wenzel of Shawnee Country club team, which is coached by George Eckert, is one of the younger stars. Last year she won the Chicagoland 100 yard championship in Class B [13 and 14 years of age] and now is entered in Class C.

Olsen's 7 Hit Pitching Wins for Cubs, 3 to 1

There was hitting on both sides in the seventh, but the difference was that the Cubs scored to break the 1 to 1 tie. Dahlgren led off with a single, was bunted to second by McCullough, went to third on Sturgeon's infield out, and scored on Olsen's single. In the Braves' half Javery and Sisti singled, but two were out at the time and Cooney was disposed of easily on a grounder to Sturgeon. Then the Cubs picked up their eighth inning run on a pass to Dallessandro, Nicholson's double which sailed into left, and Galan's fly, on which Dallessandro scooted across the plate.

Edgar Smith to Face Senators for Sox Today

Edgar Smith, winning pitcher in the All-Star game in Detroit, will oppose the Washington Senators in Comiskey park this afternoon. Steve Sundra may pitch for the Senators.

Manager James Dykes attended last night's game incog. There was some alarm that statements attributed to Mrs. Grace Comiskey yesterday got Jimmy an extra 10 days or so in the dog house, but Dykes himself revealed no anxiety about Mrs. Comiskey's defiant attitude.

Dykes managed the club last night from a box behind the Sox bull pen off left field. He received the press there, but was guarded in his comments on his dog house tenancy.

Luke Appling was back at short, experiencing a miraculous recovery from the wounds which kept him out of the All-Star game in Detroit. It was the second time Luke has been wounded before the All-Star contest and each time he was fortunate enough to heal rapidly.

The White Sox office announced last evening that, altho all box seats have been sold for the Sunday double-header with the New York Yankees, 33,000 grandstand, and 5,000 bleacher seats will not go on sale until the gates are opened Sunday at 11 a. m.

M'Neill Rallies to Beat Freeman in Western Meet

Indianapolis, Ind., July 10 (AP).—The first four players seeded in men's and women's singles were victorious in quarter-final matches today in the 54th annual Western tennis tournament. But national champion Don McNeill of Gambier, O., needed three sets to beat fifth seeded Dave Freeman of Pomona, Cal., 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

Defending western champion, Bobby Riggs of Chicago and Clinton, S. C., seeded No. 2, behind McNeill, downed Harris Everett of Jacksonville, Fla., No. 8, 6-4, 6-4.

Billy Talbert of Cincinnati, seeded fourth, beat George Ball of El Paso, Tex., 6-1, 6-2, eliminating the last of the unseeded players.

Driscoll Goes Back to Bears as Halas' Aid

George Halas, owner and head coach of the National Professional league champions, said Driscoll and Line Coach Hunk Anderson would be his active aids this season as the powerful Chicago squad seeks its second straight title.

Driscoll was a football star at Northwestern during the World war, later playing with Halas on the Great Lakes naval training station eleven. Then came an extended career in pro football, including four years as a member of the Bears.

Driscoll became head coach at Marquette in 1937 and remained thru the 1940 campaign before resigning. He now has a seat on the Chicago Board of Trade.

AIRFLAME BLAZES TO TRIUMPH IN ARLINGTON RAIN

Favorite Wins by Head Over Dog House.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Airflame, the Millsdale stable horse which has been favorite in eight of his last nine starts, went to the post at 4 to 5 odds in the McChesney purse yesterday at Arlington Park. Despite the fact that some of his most formidable rivals had been scratched due to a change in track conditions, Airflame's task turned out to be much tougher than the odds indicated. He was driven all out to get home a head in advance of the fast closing Dog House, the 4 to 1 second choice. Forever Prince, third in the betting, came next, giving the fans their one-two-three selections in that order.

Sirocco, winner of last year's Classic, had been scheduled to make his first start of the season in this race, but when a storm of spectacular proportions turned the track into a swamp, he was withdrawn, together with Joe Schenck, Up the Creek, Yale O'Nine, and Upstream. Only six accepted the issue in this seven furlong dash, Doubtful, Blensign, and One Witch completing the field.

Favorite Gets Going.

One Witch broke in the lead but Jockey Wendell Eads soon got Airflame into full stride. Moving up along the rail, the favorite took the lead soon after they had left the chute to begin the run down the backstretch.

These two drew well away from their rivals as they approached the far turn. On the swing around the bend it became apparent that Airflame had nothing further to worry about as far as One Witch was concerned, but Forever Prince had begun to work his way up. Dog House still was quite a way back. When they straightened out for the drive, Airflame gradually disposed of Forever Prince's bid. Then, in the last 16th, Johnny Adams brought Dog House up for a powerful finish. He began getting to the favorite steadily but Airflame had just enough left to last.

Weather Takes a Hand.

An exceptionally heavy wind and rainstorm swept the track between the fourth and fifth races. The water was running in rivulets as a field of eight 3 year olds came out for the Wilmette purse, a sprint of six furlongs.

The Woolford Farm's consistent gray filly, Silvestra, found the conditions quite satisfactory, however. She came charging thru the sheets of rain to get home four lengths ahead of Howard Wells' Happy Pilot, which took second place from Calumet Farm's Quien Es by three-quarters of a length.

Silvestra, which was the 5 to 2 favorite in the betting, took her time getting started, while Double Call, Quien Es, and Doublerab were fighting for the early lead. These three went side by side around the turn and were head and head as they straightened out in the stretch, three lengths in advance of Silvestra.

In the drive thru the straightaway, Silvestra came up steadily, got to the front in the last furlong, and drew out easily. Meanwhile, Happy Pilot was closing a big gap to catch Doublerab and Quien Es, which had been continuing their struggle after Double Call had dropped out of it.

Lindstrom Loses Appendix in Emergency Operation

Little Rock, Ark., July 10 (AP).—Manager Freddie Lindstrom of the Knoxville Smokies of the Southern association underwent an emergency appendectomy today and was reported later to be progressing satisfactorily. Lindstrom, complaining of feeling ill, left the local ball park before the end of last night's game with Little Rock, and was removed subsequently to St. Vincent's hospital, where the operation was performed.

GARRISON GETS $1,000 FOR QUICK FALL TO CANVAS

"And Don't Come Back" Is His Farewell Warning.

Nash Garrison, San Jose, Cal., heavyweight, yesterday collected $1,000 for his dismal showing against Booker Beckwith in Chicago Stadium outdoor arena on Wednesday and then left town, probably never to appear in a match in this city again.

Chairman Sheldon Clark of the Illinois Athletic commission thought Garrison's knockout in one round was spurious, but yesterday said he wouldn't take any official action against the big Californian.

"But just let Garrison attempt to get another license in this state while I'm on the commission," he said.

The show, which opened the Stadium's new open air arena, lost $436. The talent alone cost $5,240. Prices of the contestants and results of their contests follow:

Nick Castiglione, $500, beat Leo Redak, $750 [10].

Jimmy Joyce, $40, beat Ronald Born, $50 [4].

Harvey Dubs, Windsor, Ont., lightweight, arrived yesterday for a 10 round encounter against Willie Joyce of Gary in Marigold outdoor arena Monday. Solly Stark, Minneapolis middleweight, and George Zengaras, New York 135 pounder, will reach town today for matches of 10 rounds against Milt Aron and Billy Marquart, respectively. . . . Amateur boxing shows will be held tonight in Madison-Cicero outdoor arena, 4820 Madison street, and Chicago Towers club, 505 North Michigan avenue. A five round contest between Johnny O'Brien, Calumet City middleweight, and Tom Morelli of Lebanon, Ind., will top the Madison-Cicero card.

Johnny Barbara, Chicago 160 pounder, left yesterday for Philadelphia, where he will meet Fritzie Zivic, welterweight champion, in a 10 round nontitle match Monday. Barbara holds two decisions over Zivic. . . . Buddy Baer, Sacramento, Cal., heavyweight, and Ancil Hoffman, his manager, will stop off in Chicago Sunday en route to New York. Buddy faces Abe Simon in a 12 round event in the Polo Grounds Aug. 14.

'L' LINES SEEK A 12 CENT FARE TO 'MEET COSTS'

Court O. K.'s Pay Boosts for Employes.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

An application to increase the elevated lines' 10 cent fare to 12 cents will be made before the Illinois Commerce commission next week. Thomas L. Marshall, attorney for the Chicago Rapid Transit company, announced yesterday.

Marshall said the company also will ask to boost the rate for combination rides on the "L" and surface lines and the "L" and motor coach routes to 13 cents, and will seek increases in the present rates for suburban tickets and weekly passes.

These increases, on the basis of present traffic, would cost Chicago car riders more than 3 million dollars a year.

Wage Contract Approved.

Marshall's announcement was made after Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe, who has jurisdiction over the company in bankruptcy proceedings, approved a new wage contract hiking the elevated lines' expenses by $825,000 a year and formally authorized attorneys to seek higher rates because of the added expense.

Altho city officials were reluctant to comment for publication on this latest move, in the absence of Mayor Kelly, who was in Washington, D. C., spokesmen in the city hall asserted that the proposed fare boost undoubtedly will be opposed by the city administration before the commerce commission.

Cost Factor Cited.

The elevated lines' petition to Judge Igoe, submitted by A. A. Sprague and Bernard J. Fallon, trustees, asserted that rapid transit service is now being furnished at less than actual cost and added that "justification for a fare at least compensatory of the cost of service scarcely need be argued."

Officials of the company said an increase in the present 25 cent round trip rate to Evanston and Maywood—suburban stops—to 30 cents probably would be sought.

U. S. PAY ROLL, UP 'A THIRD IN YEAR, HITS RECORD HIGH

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—The government pay roll increased by one-third in the first 12 months of full preparedness effort, the civil service commission disclosed today in reporting a total of 1,306,333 civil employés in the executive branch at the end of May.

On the same date last year—when the crushing of the lowlands and the impending fall of France brought new demands for greater preparedness production—there were 980,801 federal employes, which compared with the then all-time high of 987,538 in December, 1939, and exceeded the World war peak by 63,000.

HEAR ARGUMENTS OVER CUSTODY OF DART CHILDREN

Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday took under advisement the custody contest between Mrs. Ruth Walgreen Dart Stephan, 31 years old, of 410 Wellington avenue, and her former husband, Justin W. Dart, 33, general manager of the Walgreen company.

There have been a number of hearings on Mrs. Stephan's original petition to amend terms of the divorce decree so that she may take her two children, Justin J., 11 and Peter, 8, to Connecticut, where she plans to live. Dart, under this proposal, would have the children during vacations.

In closing arguments, Dart's lawyer, William B. Gemmill, said Mrs. Stephan's home was "filled with arty people who have garbled ideas about American life." Attorney Adlai Stevenson, representing Mrs. Stephan, replied that her present husband, John Stephan, is a prominent artist, and that the Stephans could give the children a more cultured home than Dart.

PRETTY SINGER KILLS DAUGHTER, ENDS OWN LIFE

Albany, N. Y., July 10 (AP).—Investigating the fatal shooting of Mrs. Tamara Charle, an attractive 26 year old New York City singer, and her 4 year old daughter, Dorothy, in an Albany hotel room, police disclosed today contents of the mother's note explaining "I wanted to go with my baby."

Police Chief William J. Fitzpatrick said the note apparently was written last night by Mrs. Charle several hours after the child was shot in the heart.

"I wanted to go with my baby," the note read, "but after the first bullet, the gun jammed and only burned. I then bought [a poison]—that didn't work either. There is only one way left."

MISSING BOY, 14, GIRL, 13, FOUND IN NEW YORK CITY

John William Jordan Jr., 14 years old, and Anna Neary, 13, considered themselves sweethearts at St. Sebastian's school, 810 Wellington avenue, where they were graduated together June 12. They called themselves sweethearts after school, too, until Mrs. Mary Neary, 2950 Sheffield avenue, found some notes John had written to her daughter and forbade her to see him.

On July 4 John and Anna disappeared. Yesterday Chicago police were notified by Chief Inspector Louis F. Costuma of the New York police that they had been found together in New York. He wanted to know what to do with them.

Mrs. Neary instructed police to turn her daughter over to a sister who lives in New York City and said she'd make arrangements later to bring Anna home. John William Jordan Sr., 3034 Wilton avenue, said: "I'm so happy to hear my boy is safe that I think we'll stay in New York a week and show John a good time."

BLAST TRAPS 10 IN COAL MINE; FIND 9 BODIES

Leeds, Ala., July 10 (AP). — Trapped under tons of rock more than a mile underground, at least nine coal miners died tonight in a gas explosion in Acmar mine No. 6, 25 miles northeast of Birmingham. Clyde Russell, member of the first rescue crew to come from the shaft, said nine bodies had been recovered and workers were searching for others.

The mine, one of the largest in Alabama, is owned and operated by the Alabama Fuel and Iron company. Herbert Ginwright, company chief deputy, said 10 men were working in the area of the explosion and said "there can be little hope for any of them."

GAINS OUTWEIGH STOCKS' LOSSES DESPITE SELLING

Advances Run to 2 Points; Pepsi-Cola at Peak.

New York, July 10 (AP).—The stock market managed to break a little better than even today despite the persistence of irregularity which started late Wednesday. Altho many leaders of the recent speedy climb were under pressure, an assortment of specialties, utilities, rubbers, coppers, aircrafts and farm implements overrode selling currents to close with gains of fractions to about 2 points.

Among shares getting into new high ground for 1941 were Pepsi-Cola, White Rock, Consolidated Aircraft, United States Rubber, and Great Western preferred.

Woolworth Recovers.

Woolworth got back ⅝ of its 2¼ point drop of yesterday, which was attributed to disappointment over a cut in the dividend. American Telephone duplicated its 2 point fall of yesterday, apparently still under pressure after announcement of the terms of the company's debenture conversion offering.

Losers included United States Steel, Bethelehem, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Great Northern, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Westinghouse, du Pont, Johns-Manville, United Aircraft, Montgomery Ward, and American Car & Foundry.

SET CHICAGO PEAKS.

Three issues reached new 1941 peaks on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday as prices generally continued moderately higher. Borg-Warner rose to 20¾, Eddy Paper to 18¾, and Wieboldt Stores to 8¼.

TOWER REFUTES NEED OF LARGER STEEL CAPACITY

Claim Called Screen for Federal Rule.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Despite all the cries of steel shortage heard in Washington, the steel industry can produce now considerably more steel than is needed in the American and British arms programs and still have left over for civilian needs more steel than has ever been used before in a single year.

Walter S. Tower.

This reassuring picture of the steel situation was given yesterday by Walter S. Tower, president of the American Iron and Steel institute, before the purchases and stores division of the Association of American Railroads at the Palmer House. Tower recently quit the staff of the Office of Production Management after a ruling that trade association officials were not eligible to serve.

[C. W. Kellogg, president of the Edison Electric institute, was another who resigned from the OPM under the trade association ruling. Kellogg previously had stated that the nation's public utilities are able to produce sufficient electric power to meet the arms needs. Secretary Ickes and others in the administration criticized the Kellogg statement, saying expansion of the electric plants is needed.]

Hits "Prophets of Scarcity."

Denouncing the "prophets of scarcity" in Washington, Tower said that all the talk about alleged steel shortages and the need for more steel making capacity has tended to blind the American people to the real proportions of the industry. Washington has suggested that the nation's steel making capacity should be increased by 10,000,000 tons annually.

"Such expansion would in effect amount to using the defense emergency for further penetration by the federal government into private industry," he declared.

"If it is true that the power of a nation to defend itself is measured by its capacity to make steel, then the people of this country are fortunate in the possession of an unequaled bulwark of security. The industry is turning out more steel than has ever been produced in this or any other country, and its total capacity today is nearly equal to the capacity of all the rest of the world combined."

Orderly Buying the Need.

Tower said that if steel users will follow a program of orderly buying, there should be plenty of steel for as high a standard of living as this country has ever enjoyed.

He cited facts to support his position. The nation's steel making capacity is rated at 85,000,000 tons and, if the industry were pushed, it probably could produce, as it now stands, 87,000,000 tons in 12 months. Next year output will be substantially higher. So far this year production has been at the rate of about 82,000,000 tons annually.

For 1941 Tower estimated American arms needs plus British and Canadian requirements at not more than 18,000,000 tons. Our arms program for 1942 probably will take more whereas British shipments are uncertain because of reduction in shipping space. Therefore 67,000,000 tons of steelmaking capacity are available both in this year and 1942 for civilian needs, he declared.

1940 Use Only 55 Million.

Even subtracting 3,000,000 tons for general export, there would be a minimum of 64,000,000 tons for civilian needs, he said. Total consumption in 1940, including arms and civilian, totaled only 55,000,000 tons. So far, he asserted, no one has offered figures to show that arms requirements will amount to more than a minor fraction of the total ability of the industry to produce steel.

Noting that production this year appears to be outrunning actual consumption, Tower insisted that the alleged shortage exists "only on paper."

"Any shortage of steel for military uses can arise only from lack of materials, like nickel or tungsten, or from lack of special processing facilities, for which there was no peacetime need," he continued. "It cannot arise from lack of basic steelmaking facilities."

Speeding Special Items.

The industry is already moving swiftly to provide the special steels produced in electric furnaces and needed for military purposes, he said.

The present railroad car program calls for the building of 170,000 cars over the next 18 months—a program which even on a liberal basis calls for a maximum of 1,500,000 tons of plates. The shipbuilding program, naval and merchant, he said, totals considerably less than 1,000 vessels on which any work is likely to be done before the end of next year.

"If the entire lot were completed by the end of next year, which now appears unlikely, tonnage of ship plates needed would not reach 2,500,000 tons. For cars and ships the combined figure is not over 4,000,000 tons over a period of 18 months. Existing plate capacity can turn out at least 7,500,000 tons in that time."

[Capacity for production of light plates on wide strip steel mills will be increased by 754,000 tons to 2,480,000 net tons by the early part of 1942, W. A. Hauck of the OPM said yesterday. This, he said, will relieve heavy plate mills of much light plate tonnage.]

Wheat Surplus to Mount, Welles Warns Conference

Washington, D. C., July 10 [Special].—Amid signs of economic friction elsewhere, an international wheat meeting called by the United States convened here today to focus attention on what Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles described as the "developing habit of coöperation" between the American nations and the British empire.

Hitches in collaboration in economic affairs have been illustrated in such matters as recent criticisms by New York exporters of British trade practices in Latin America, such as selling there goods similar to those shipped to the United Kingdom under the lend-lease program. These were expected to bring from high British officials a strong statement of policy calculated to explain the reasons for maintenance of British trade during the war.

Warns of Big Surpluses.

Welles warned that within another year wheat surpluses totaling 1½ billion bushels will hang over the international markets unless the world's wheat growing nations take constructive measures to solve problems resulting from the war.

Addressing representatives of Canada, Australia, Argentina, and the United Kingdom, he said the United States called the conference because all wheat producing nations "are faced with problems of a somewhat similar character, altho of varying degrees of intensity.

"As producers and as holders of these surpluses, we have a common interest in the possibilities which may exist of providing for their orderly liquidation," he said.

Cites Need for Relief.

"We have a common interest in the conditions which will prevail in the international wheat markets when the war is over, in the restoration of the prosperity of the purchasers of our wheat and in the need for relief in devastated areas immediately after the war."

No official comments were forthcoming as to the formula to be sought, but it was believed a move would be made toward the international "ever normal granary" urged by Vice President Henry A. Wallace, former secretary of agriculture.

Plan City Law for Removal of Blighted Areas

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Plans were made yesterday to draft a city ordinance that will permit Chicago to operate under the slum clearance enabling legislation that was signed in Springfield Wednesday by Gov. Green.

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th] said he will offer a resolution at the next meeting of the city council, July 24, directing the housing committee to draw up the ordinance. Passage of such an ordinance is a necessary preliminary to the appointment by Mayor Kelly of a redevelopment commission to supervise the privately financed corporations authorized by the act.

Prepare Map of Slum Areas.

The enabling legislation, known as the neighborhood redevelopment corporation act, gives limited condemnation power to privately financed corporations. The corporation must acquire 60 per cent of its redevelopment site before using the condemnation power.

The blighted areas in which the corporations may acquire land by the condemnation process will be designated by the commission appointed by the mayor. The Chicago plan commission, which supported the legislation, is now preparing for the use of the redevelopment commission a map showing the areas where predominant blight exists. The data compiled in the land use survey, now nearing completion, will be available to the redevelopment commission.

It may be several months, it was indicated, before an actual redevelopment project can be undertaken under the new law. After the appointment of the commission a court test of the act's constitutionality probably will be instituted. At least one group, however, has tentative plans for a demonstration project, it was learned.

Seek Private Capital.

Meanwhile, it is expected that the city council will adopt the new city zoning ordinance, which, thru reclassification of property uses, will give outlying sections of the city new protection against the encroachment of blight. Ald. Lindell said the new ordinance will be ready early in September.

The blighted areas in which the new act seeks to enlist private capital for redevelopment is concentrated near the center of the city, surrounding the downtown business district. It is estimated that there are at least 25 square miles of blight in the area bounded by Belmont avenue on the north, Cicero on the west, and 47th street on the south. Isolated spots exist in other parts of the city.

F. D. R.'S PURPOSE

In a speech at Cleveland last Nov. 2, three days before his re-election, President Roosevelt said:

"There is nothing secret about our foreign policy. . . . I have stated it many times before, not only in words, but in action. I now restate it.

"The first purpose of our foreign policy is to keep our country out of war. At the same time we seek to keep foreign conceptions of government out of the United States.

"The second purpose of this policy is to keep war as far away as possible from the shores of the entire western hemisphere."

CHICAGOANS SAVE MILLION YEARLY ON TOLL PHONES

Long distance telephone users in Chicago will save a million dollars a year, it was announced yesterday, as a result of rate reductions which became effective during the day. The reductions were reached by mutual agreement between the Federal Communications commission, the American Telephone and Telegraph company, and the 21 associated companies of the Bell system.

Charges for calls from 144 to 1,530 miles will be lower, minor charges involved in person to person calls are eliminated, and overtime rates for person to person calls are reduced to overtime rates for station to station calls.

RECORD SUPPLY OF FOODSTUFFS NEARS HARVEST

Huge Crops to Swell Present Stocks.

The United States has the largest supply of foodstuffs in its history on hand or in prospect, it was disclosed yesterday in the crop estimates of the department of agriculture. The department predicted bumper yields of grains, fruits, and vegetables.

Despite government crop control efforts, the department's figures indicated the nation would have 6,700 million bushels of grain—a record supply—for the coming winter.

It forecast this year's corn crop at 2,548,709,000 bushels and total wheat production at 923,613,000 bushels. Aggregate production of corn, wheat, oats, barley, and rye was estimated at 5,072 million bushels.

[Detailed crop forecast table is on page 26.]

Supply Already Vast.

The country already has more than 1,550 million bushels of grain from crops of other years available for consumption.

The carryover of wheat alone has been estimated by the department at close to 390 million bushels. When this year's production is added, it gives a total of 1,313 million bushels, the largest supply of the bread grain this country has ever had. The department raised its June 1 estimate of the wheat crop by more than 12 million bushels.

Barley and Rye Crops Large.

Oats production was forecast at 1,212,783,000 bushels, slightly below last year's crop, but well above trade expectations. A 338,397,000 bushel barley crop and a 48,579,000 bushel rye crop were predicted, both larger than yields last year and far above the average production of the last 10 years.

Production of rice, dry beans, sweet potatoes, sugar cane, peaches, and grapes was forecast as substantially larger than last year and, in most cases, higher than the 10 year average yields. Altho the yields of flaxseed, tame hay, potatoes, tobacco, sugar beets, hops, and pears will be smaller than last year, according to the department, production of most of these crops will be above average.

Corn Forecast by States.

	Indicated On July 1.	1940 Yield.	Average 1929-'38.

Chicago River Improvement Study Ordered

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—Representative Charles S. Dewey [R., Ill.] revealed today that pursuant to a resolution which he had the committee on rivers and harbors adopt on June 27, Col. Charles Keller, district engineer in Chicago, has been directed by the war department to make appropriate investigation and report on the advisability of improving the north branch of the Chicago river.

Dewey also stated that he asked the war department to give favorable consideration to improving this section of the river under terms of the act which authorizes the department to make improvements in navigable waters in the interest of national defense.

21 Foot Depth Provided.

Existing law provides for maintenance dredging by the war department to a depth of 21 feet of the main river to the junction of the north and south branches, the north branch canal, a north branch turning basin, and the north branch from the junction to North avenue.

Dewey noted that there are a number of shipbuilders on the north branch of the Chicago river who are unable to bid on navy contracts, except for very small craft, because of the shallowness of the channel, snags, and other obstructions.

Sub Chasers Built.

Pointing out that the Henry C. Grebe company has constructed several submarine chasers for the navy and is now building two minesweepers, and that the Thompson Boat and Engine company recently bid on 10 73 foot steel coast guard cutters, Dewey said: "These and other concerns on the north branch of the Chicago river could construct a great many larger craft if the river were improved."

Dewey said he had the coöperation of Representative George A. Paddock [R., Ill.] thru whose district a portion of the river flows.

FORM NATIONAL GROUP TO STUDY MILK DIVERSION

Dairymen from 21 states, meeting yesterday in the Stevens hotel to discuss the diversion of milk to England and other problems raised by the armament program, established a nation-wide dairy committee intended to assist the government.

Ralph Ammon of Madison, Wisconsin director of agriculture, was named head of the committee, which was instructed to meet within 20 days to consider the diversion of milk, the increasing threat of oleomargarine to the dairy industry, and army specifications for butter.

Robert Lindquist, director of public relations and personnel of the American National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, has been appointed instructor in banking at the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Banking. Lindquist is a director of the Financial Advertisers' association.

JOHNS-MANVILLE PENSIONS PLAN FILED WITH SEC

New York, July 10 (AP).—The Johns-Manville corporation has registered its employé pension plan with the Securities and Exchange commission because SEC officials considered the plan, in effect, an offering of securities, it was learned today.

Company sources said the plan was filed June 11 and became effective June 16. Retirement benefits cover all workers but participation is on a voluntary basis and the funds have been placed with a trustee for investment.

The decision that such pension funds be registered was said to be based on the reasoning that since participation was voluntary, the plan represented an offer of sale of securities.

[Another New York dispatch said that companies have been required to report their pension plans to the SEC since passage of the securities act of 1933 and that the new ruling requiring registration of the plans represented a step to obtain information for employés invited to subscribe under pension plans of their employers.]

Additional Tax Levies Hinted by Morgenthau

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—New taxes in addition to the 3.6 billions in new levies being shaped by the house ways and means committee were hinted today by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr.

Morgenthau told his press conference that the tax program may have to be reëxamined because of requests for additional army, navy, and lend-lease funds. The first of these requests, for a supplemental appropriation of 4.7 billions for the war department, went to capitol hill today.

Equal Original 7 Billion.

Reports are current that requests for lend-lease aid may equal at least the original 7 billion dollar appropriation voted last spring and scheduled to be exhausted by August thru actual expenditure or allocations.

Morgenthau said that the new requests "are so colossal as to warrant a close look at the whole fiscal picture," creating an entirely new situation.

He declined to say, however, whether the treasury already has any new taxes in mind in addition to those embodied in the revenue raising measures which are being put into legal form after a long, hard struggle within the committee.

Closer Study Awaited.

The treasury has not yet had an opportunity to study the possible impact of the new spending, Morgenthau said, altho he expressed the belief that no changes were in sight relative to the treasury's financing plans for the remainder of this calendar year.

Some reports place the total amount of new arms spending at 15 billion dollars, including lend-lease amounts. Up to now the arms program has totaled 43 billions. Officials predict a prospective outlay of 100 billions.

FRENCH REGAIN SHIPPING TRADE AT MARSEILLES

Port Busy with Ships Plying to Algiers.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MARSEILLES, France, July 10.—Marseilles has become the commercial capital of France as a result of postwar developments. It is the chief center of shipping and business of the unoccupied region and in recent months a large share of its former sea traffic has been regained.

Commerce now passes freely between Marseilles and the French colonies of Tunis, Algiers, and Morocco, and also, to a certain extent, to Dakar and French West Africa.

Shipping is prospering between Spain and Marseilles. Coastwise shipping between here and other ports along the French Mediterranean coast, such as Toulon, Nice, Port Vendre, and Sete, has been developed in substantial volume.

Harbor Clogged with Ships.

The big harbor at Marseilles is clogged with vessels of all sorts. Many of the vessels are bound for North Africa. Because Marseilles anticipates increasing traffic, a big project of enlarging the port equipment and extending the docks is under way.

Figures are not available on the exact amount of port traffic and local authorities, for various reasons, are reluctant to be precise.

However, all authorities agree that

Futures React in Sympathy with Cottonseed Oil.

Soy bean and lard futures went into a tailspin on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday in sympathy with a decline of about 1 cent a pound in cottonseed oil from the early high point. Selling was said to be based on reports that a ceiling of 11 cents a pound would be placed on cottonseed oil, or about 1 cent below its recent level.

Soy beans reacted about 6 cents from the early high point with July selling at $1.47¼ at one time or 7⅝ cents under the best price of the previous day. Closing net declines were 3⅝ to 3¾ cents a bushel, with July at $1.48¾. Lard futures, after advancing early with grains and hogs, finished at losses of 22½ to 30 cents per hundred pounds.

Grains Lose Early Rise.

The break in soy beans was blamed for a reaction of about 2 cents in wheat from the early high. Closing prices were unchanged as compared with Wednesday. Corn lost ⅛ to ½ cent, the latter on July. Price changes in oats and rye were narrow.

Part of the early strength in the markets was based on a report that there would be no attempt to curb prices of meats. The break followed a statement in Washington by a spokesman for the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply that the ceiling price on cottonseed oil would be announced in a few days.

Mills Reported Good Buyers.

Other wheat markets showed independent strength, Kansas City gaining ⅛ to ⅝ cent and Minneapolis ⅝ to ⅞ cent. Winnipeg advanced ¼ to ⅝ cent.

Brokers who frequently act for mills were good buyers of wheat futures in the early trading, which, traders said, appeared to be a reflection of flour sales.

Court Lets Road Sell Land to Daily News Printing Co.

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday authorized the trustees of the Milwaukee railroad to sell to the Chicago Daily News Printing company the railroad's interest in the property on which the Daily News building is situated. The road will receive $86,255 for its interest. The printing company proposes to acquire all the property it now leases from the Milwaukee and other owners at a total cost of $1,800,000. On two-thirds of the site it will acquire only air rights.

FRENCH REGAIN SHIPPING TRADE AT MARSEILLES

Port Busy With Ships Plying to Algiers.

shipping has been augmented considerably, particularly with respect to supplies of various kinds coming from North Africa, where a conference presided over by Gen. Maxime Weygand, French commander in North Africa, has just been held to consider what further measures may be taken in Algiers and Morocco to increase the provisioning of metropolitan France.

Port Quiet After Armistice.

Between the time of the armistice in June, 1940, and mid-August, Marseilles was a dead port. Not a single ship moved in or out. Then shipping was resumed between Corsica and North Africa and by October traffic had been restored on lines running to Syria, Portugal, Casablanca [Morocco], and Madagascar.

These ships took the chance, of course, of being held up by the British blockade. Some were stopped and directed to Gibraltar and their cargoes seized. Sometimes the ship itself was held. But the blockade has not been airtight and many got thru.

The fact that heavy demands have been made on the British navy elsewhere than in the western end of the Mediterranean has contributed to the development of the sea traffic.

Products from North Africa.

As early as last October, according to port officials, as many as 50 ships arrived in Marseilles weekly and that number has been more than doubled by unofficial estimates at this time. Once or twice monthly a cargo ship carrying a few passengers also leaves for the French islands in the Caribbean sea.

Not only is sea traffic increasing but good air service operates daily between France and North Africa as far south as Dakar. Any one with the proper authorization can reserve passage.

Chicago department store sales last week increased 21 per cent over the corresponding 1940 period and sales in the 7th reserve district, which includes all or parts of five states, rose 30 per cent, the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago reported yesterday. With the exception of the week which included Easter sales, the district's gain was the largest of the year.

The Independence day holiday curtailed volume by comparison with the preceding 1941 week, Chicago sales falling 17 per cent and district sales 16 per cent. For the four weeks ended July 5, district volume increased 20 per cent and Chicago volume 14 per cent over the corresponding 1940 period.

Gains over last year in sales of stores in the nation's 12 federal reserve districts were 28 per cent for the week and 19 per cent for the four weeks.

Plan Steel Expansion

Plans which failed to materialize for the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation in the depression which blocked its 1929 program, are to materialize if new negotiations are carried out successfully, steel interests reported yesterday.

The big Pittsburgh, Pa., steel producer, which had reportedly scheduled an expansion into the Chicago area 12 years ago, has revived its program with an offer to construct a vast steel plant in Hammond, Ind., near units of the Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube companies.

Jones and Laughlin for many years has had a warehouse and sales office in Chicago, but its production has been confined to the east. Responding to a request of the Office of Production Management for a general increase in steel production capacity, the company has offered to build a plant in Hammond, utilizing 1,200 acres of company property east of Calumet avenue and north of Gostlin street. Financing the construction would be undertaken by the government's Defense Plant corporation.

SEC Asks Income Reports from Chicago Brokers

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission today asked member firms of the Chicago, Los Angeles, and San Francisco Stock exchanges to file a summary of their income, expenses, and net profit or loss for the six months ended June 30. The material will be used in a study of commission rates. A similar request previously was made of members of the New York Stock exchange.

Top hogs pushed up 25 cents to a new four year peak of $11.50 per hundredweight yesterday, as meat packers, encouraged by rising dressed pork prices, bid actively for the fourth consecutive day this week.

The average for the session rose 15 cents to $10.90, or almost $2 above the $9 average which the government set as the goal for its program to stimulate hog production by buying pork and lard.

The new hog advances came in face of heavier selling by farmers who unloaded 63,000 hogs at the 11 principal markets during the day. This was an increase of 22,000 head over a week earlier.

EXTEND FEDERAL COPPER CONTROL TO AID REARMING

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—The government extended its control over copper supplies today to include copper-base alloys and fabricated products such as brass and bronze.

E. R. Stettinius Jr., defense director of priorities, said that the original copper order required that refiners, after setting aside a quantity for an emergency pool, were to distribute their remining copper so that each customer would receive an equal percentage of his orders.

"Because of the shortage in copper," Stettinius said, "the amendment removes this provision and stipulates that, after copper has been set aside for the pool, defense orders must be given preference over non-defense orders."

EXCESS RESERVE FUNDS OF BANKS CUT 150 MILLIONS

About 150 million dollars was pared from banks' excess reserves [idle lendable funds] in the week ended Wednesday, largely as a result of government borrowing, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. The cut left 5 billion 120 million dollars of excess reserves on hand.

The board said that banks and others paid 362 million dollars during the week for the new series of Reconstruction Finance corporation notes for which they subscribed two weeks ago.

The report showed that bank loans to business increased 8 million dollars during the week in Chicago and 14 million dollars in New York City.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC CUT BY HOLIDAY; TOPS A YEAR AGO

Revenue freight loadings by railroads during the week ended July 5 totaled 740,493 cars, a decrease of 168,171 cars, or 18.5 per cent, from the preceding week, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The more than normal drop was attributed to many firms closing for the entire week-end.

Despite the decline, the total was larger than for any corresponding week since 1931. It topped loadings in the 1940 holiday week by 103,324 cars, or 16.2 per cent.
